BATTLE OF TORREON ON; MADERO'S FATE AT STAKE

Orozco's Army Opens Fire on Besieged City and Cuts Federal Wires.

Rebel Leader Repudiates Newly-Selected Provisional President Gomez and Orders Him to Front at Once or Quit the Country—Rival Factions of Revolutionists at Swords' Points.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ESCALON (Mex.) May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Scouts and signal corps men of Gen. Orozco's advance guard cut all wires leading out of Torreon at 5 o'clock tonight, according to dispatches received here from the front. This message also reported Gen. Orozco had completely surrounded the Federal position, and firing upon the trenches began, a few minutes before dark. All lines of communication with Torreon, both wire and rail, are now believed to be controlled by Orozco, and the long expected decisive engagement which will almost surely settle the fate of the Madero government is on.

JUAREZ, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A bomb exploded in the insurrecto camp here today, when it was noised about that Gen. Orozco, the rebel leader in the field, had repudiated the Provisional Presidency of Emilio Vasquez Gomez and had demanded he at once come to the front for a conference or quit the revolutionary zone.

As a result of this news the rebel ranks here, military and non-commissioned, are split wide open tonight. Followers of Gomez, and he has all the old friends of the Diaz government behind him, and followers of Orozco, the latter the real fighters in the field, are looking with suspicion on one another and open anarchy and bloodshed threatens.

It is broadly hinted by Orozco's people that the letter calling Gomez from San Antonio, Tex., to Juarez to form a provisional government is a forgery. This letter was carried by Senor Francisco Pradillo and he returned to discuss the telegram from Gen. Orozco or his part in bringing Gomez here and setting him at the head of the civil "government."

Col. Pascual Orozco, father of the rebel leader, is as reticent as Pradillo. He was the prime factor in the Gomez incident and at once accepted a place in the Gomez cabinet when Gomez arrived here. He claimed the call to Gomez was made by and through the demands of his warlike son.

Gomez himself is silent, but his secretary issued a statement which he said was authorized by the Provisional President. In his telegram to Gomez it is intimated Gen Orozco said he would be glad to have Senor Gomez at the front to help in the direction of affairs, but he had not contemplated and could not continue establishment of provisional government along lines and in manner adopted by Gomez and Pradillo.

This means Orozco considers he is big enough to run the whole shooting match without his father, Pradillo

STRIKERS CLASH WITH OFFICERS.

MAJOR COMMANDING STATE POLICE TAKES CHARGE.

Idle Anthracite Miners Growing Restless and Disorders Are Serious. Arms Distributed at Collieries for Emergencies—The Foreigners Are Belligerent.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rioting and clashes with the mounted State police marked the day in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania and so serious were the disorders that Maj. John C. Groome, in charge of the fearless "Black Hat" brigade, with an added number of troopers, was ordered to take charge and preserve peace at all hazard. Maj. Groome expressed the opinion that with an added number of men, he would control the situation, although indications tonight were that the 170,000 miners, now idle, were growing restless and were ready for any emergency.

Coal companies, with rains flooding the collieries, prepared to take every precaution to protect their properties and the men were summoned to pump the water from the mines. At Palo Alto, two Reading crews were ordered to the mines to aid in the work and were pelted with stones.

Arms were distributed at the various collieries at Shamokin in event of the restless attempting to call the men to quit work. This action aroused the foreigners, and when a detachment of State police arrived, they drew revolvers and fired. The State police routed them once, but the men formed again, driving out the firemen and pump men, and drawing the fires. Once more the State police charged and this time the mob dispersed. Deputy sheriffs aided the "Black Hatters" and the men were held at bay.

Women led a mine mob at Scranton and clubbed four men. Later, they marched in a body to the City Hall and demanded that their husbands be given work, declaring that they were starving. In the fight, one woman cried: "Kill us if you will, we are starving!"

A child with its mother cried: "Don't arrest mamma, we haven't anything in the house to eat."

At Pine Grove, two men engaged in a shooting duel over the suspension of work, and one was fatally injured. His assailant surrendered.

Throughout the mining region, the presence of the determined State troops, who shoot if they see the necessity, and club when it means the breaking up of a mob, held the day. They preserved order, although they were fired on at times, and a cracking of heads was necessary to subdue the hostile foreigners.

At Mahoney City, one of the roughest in the State, the miners, at a mass meeting, agreed to allow the firemen, pump men and repair men to go back to work, if the State police were called away.

The situation is by no means cleared tonight, and further outbreaks in various sections are feared tomorrow, though peace and quiet have been counseled by the leaders in all the districts.

BAD FIRE IN IOWA CITY.

WATERLOO (Iowa) May 7.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The half-million dollar powerhouse of the Waterloo, Cedar Falls and Northern Railway, recently completed, is burning and may be a total loss. Street car services in the city, as well as interurban to Cedar Bluffs, Waverly and Denver, Iowa, is out of commission.

STRIKE OVER LIFEBOATS.

LONDON, May 7.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The demand of the national sailors and firemen until that at least two white seamen as well as a coxswain shall be carried for each lifeboat precipitated a strike today. The national Union of Ships, Cooks and Stewards has joined the sailors. The company has refused the men's demands.

SAYS ULSTER WILL FIGHT.

Spirited Debate of Irish Home Rule Bill Is Resumed in the British House of Commons.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, May 7.—Speaking today on the Irish home rule bill, the Right Hon. Herbert L. Samuel, Postmaster-General, defending the provisions granting financial aid to Ireland, said it was impossible to establish an Irish Parliament under circumstances that would compel an increase of taxation in Ireland by from 15 to 30 per cent.

Andrew L. Horner, an Ulster member, declared that the attitude of Ulster was: "Ulster will fight and Ulster will be right."

"We are taking steps," he added, "to perfect the Ministry, so that when the bill passes our provisional government will begin to carry out its trust. In two years passive resistance can be transformed into active resistance. The first shots fired in this conflict will not only rend the British empire, but the British army."

The home rule debate was resumed today in the House of Commons by Austen Chamberlain, who taunted the Ministers with the lack of conviction that the present bill would settle the Irish question. The financial schemes, he said, would most certainly break down, for England would not long tolerate subsidizing a semi-independent Parliament sitting in Dublin.

Mr. Chamberlain predicted that if the home rule bill passed and Ulster resisted, public opinion in England would not tolerate any attempt to dragoon the north of Ireland.

BREWERY MEN ON STRIKE.

Fourteen Hundred of Them Walk Out in Kansas City Because Companies Refuse Wage Advance.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) May 7.—Fourteen hundred brewery workers, constituting the union employees of all the breweries and brewery agencies in the city, went on strike today, following the failure of the brewery companies to grant demands for increased wages and a revised working schedule.

There was no violence at any of the breweries. Officials of the Kansas City Breweries Company announced that beer valued at $500,000 was in storage and that deliveries would be made as usual.

The chief contention is between the companies and the bottlers and drivers. They demand an increase of about 10 per cent. in wages, pay weekly instead of monthly, and an eight-hour day instead of a ten-hour day.

Engineers, firemen, electricians, brewers and maltsters in the employ of the companies had no direct grievance. They struck in sympathy.

A statement issued today on behalf of the workers, by Joseph Proebstle of Cincinnati, O., international secretary of the Brewery Workmen's Union, asserted that "brewers live in mansions and luxury, and have grown rich through the exploitation of their employees."

It adds that more beer is produced per man in the Kansas City breweries than in any other city in the United States.

COMPLIMENTS TAFT.

FRESNO, May 7.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] A fair-sized audience this evening heard William E. Smythe of San Diego speak in the interest of the La Follette candidacy. His address was an attack upon Roosevelt and Gov. Johnson, nearly all his references to President Taft being complimentary. Smythe declared that La Follette would carry California, for the people of California are really progressives, and not merely animated by a hope of winning ojce, as are those who put Roosevelt in the field after they had pledged themselves to La Follette.

WRECK IN FLORIDA.

COLUMBUS (S. C.) May 7.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] A score or more persons were hurt when train No. 31 on the Southern Railway, Washington to Jacksonville, Fla., was derailed near here today. Two sleeping cars turned over. Most of the passengers were able to proceed. The breaking of an engine axle caused the wreck.

STRIKE TIES UP FERRIES.

HAVANA, May 7.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] All ferry-boats and tugs were out of commission here today as the result of the strike of longshoremen and lightermen lifeboats are being used to transport passengers. The boatmen on the motor and sailing-boats have struck in sympathy.

Political.

TAFT-ROOSEVELT BATTLE ZONE IS MOVED TO OHIO.

Fight Between President and Third Termer Eliminates Talk of Dark Horse — Massachusetts Contest Will Seem Tame Compared to What Is Due to Be Held in Buckeye State.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BY SUMNER CURTIS.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Saved in Massachusetts, set back in Maryland; now depending on Ohio.

That, in a nutshell, is the situation affecting President Taft's chances of renomination. The lines are tightening every hour with respect to the unparalleled fight between the President of the United States and the only living ex-President. As the lines tighten the dark-horse phantom grows dimmer and dimmer.

The Taft leaders are proceeding on the assumption that the President will hold his entire strength, providing he shows a clear majority when the convention is called to order at Chicago. They are not alarmed over any detrimental "moral effect," due to the failure to carry Maryland, although they mourn the loss of the delegates they might have gathered in that State. Delegates now constitute the all-important factor. It is regarded as essential that President Taft shall have more than a bare majority in sight at the start in the convention and it is felt that if the President does not have a majority on the first ballot, he will be defeated.

On the Roosevelt side a valiant effort is being made to have it appear that Maryland "cooked Taft's goose"—that there will be nothing to it from now on to the nomination finish except a scramble to get aboard the colonel's bandwagon. Claims and declarations of this sort form a legitimate feature of a political campaign, as the game is played by the professionals.

FIGHT IS NOT OVER.

But the fight is not over by any means. There is no more real logic or substance in the victorious proclamations from the Roosevelt headquarters than there was in the recent statements from the Taft side, showing how Roosevelt would be a certain loser if either Taft or La Follette gained two more delegates.

But to prove his status—to give him an even chance when the flag drops at Chicago—the President must win in Ohio week after next. At least, that is the opinion at this writing of observers who view the situation without bias. Some of the Taft leaders contend, however, that even if Ohio goes "wrong" or partially wrong, there still will be a chance, providing a majority is in plain sight without the Buckeye votes. They point out that it will be no worse for Taft to lose his home State than it was for Roosevelt to lose New York.

Just the same, Ohio will cut some figure in the sympathetic line, and as the Massachusetts primaries came at the psychological time for checking the Roosevelt movement. Ohio will speak at a time equally important to the President's political future.

HOT FIGHT ANTICIPATED.

The fight that directed the attention of the country to Massachusetts will be tame in comparison with the embroilment that will prevail in Ohio when the two central figures of the campaign get into simultaneous action next week. Maryland has helped to make the Ohio result vital.

The close result in Maryland is calling forth much in the line of deduction and analysis. Also, it has set the rival campaign managers calling names and making charges in a manner heretofore unapproached—even on the stump. Early in the day the Taft bureau, admitting Roosevelt's control of the State by a narrow margin, issued a statement alleging the use of money in vast sums by the Roosevelt forces.

It was charged that the Roosevelt managers placed $10,000 in the city of Baltimore early yesterday morning. With this charge was coupled the insinuating statement that at least 90 per cent. of the negro vote in Baltimore was cast for Roosevelt, thus saving him the preference vote of the State. It also was alleged that a Roosevelt leader in Prince George county, where the negroes voted solidly for the colonel, came to Washington Sunday and went home with a roll of small bills.

A few hours after these charges were made public Chairman Dixon of the Roosevelt committee issued a statement over his signature, which closed in these words:

"Every one of these statements is a deliberate, willful lie. Every man connected with their concoction and circulation is a deliberate, willful liar. These lies are circulated for the purpose, and for the only purpose, for which liars always lie."

NOTORIOUS CONDITIONS.

It's the Taft's bureau's next move. The charges and counter-charges of spending money to control the colored vote in Maryland, however, are amusing to most persons who understand the politics in that State. It is a notorious fact that the average negro of Maryland would no more go to the polls on an election day for nothing than he would carry a trunk upstairs or shovel in a ton of coal for similar lack of remuneration.

The situation is the outgrowth of deplorable conditions. The Roosevelt folk charged before the primary that the Taft forces were using money to corrupt the negroes, and now the Taft leaders declare that somebody controlledd the negro vote.

There is a possibility that Taft may have four delegates from Maryland in spite of the State law which requires the delegation to vote as a unit. According to the returns received here, Taft carried the First and Fifth Congress districts, although the Congress district is not recognized in the make-up of the State Convention.

The call for the election of delegates in the Chicago convention, issued by the Republican National Committee, provided that delegates may be elected in conformity with State laws, if the State or Congressional Committee so direct. But it is specifically further provided in the call that in no State shall an election be so held as to prevent the delegates from any Congress district being selected by the Republican electors of that district.

NOVEL SITUATION.

If the spirit of this provision is observed it may result in the election of a few Taft delegates, as stated, or else there may be an interesting contest of a new kind before the National Committee at Chicago.

The possibility of a recount of the votes in Howard county, where Roosevelt won by about eighty votes on the face of the returns, is also suggested in a statement issued by the Taft managers tonight. The Roosevelt margin of control of the State convention is so narrow that a reversal in this county would change the entire situation, giving the Taft forces a bare majority of the delegates.

Still another interesting feature is presented in the fact that while the Roosevelt preference vote will control sixty-six of the delegates on the State convention against sixty-three for Taft as matters now stand, sixty-eight of the delegates are Taft supporters at heart, while only sixty-one personally favor Roosevelt.

The State convention on Thursday may be more than a merely per-

BRING TALE OF DEATH.

Flood Refugees Tell of Suffering.

Estimates of Loss of Life Vary Widely; Scores Are Trapped by Water.

Louisiana Authorities Investigate and Try to Stop Disease Epidemic.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Refugees brought from the flooded districts of Louisiana into New Roads, Baton Rouge, Opelousas, Lafayette and other camps today told the most harrowing stories yet recorded of suffering and death in the interior of the State. A number of men and women were crazed with fear and hardship, while many others were so ill they had to be hurried to hospitals or given such immediate temporary relief as surgeons on the rescue boats could supply.

There was no break of consequence in any levee today, but there was little real relief evidenced, as the rising river continues to exercise a constantly increasing strain upon the weakened walls of mud. There was no rain in the State today and that fact supplied almost the only real note of cheer.

The authorities are investigating the report that meningitis has broken out in several refugee camps. The disease two summers ago caused heavy life loss in Louisiana and East Texas and it is feared infected persons may have been brought in by the rescue boats.

Estimates of the actual life losses still vary widely, but it is admitted on all sides that scores must have been trapped and are unable to escape. Many persons picked up by the rescue boats were almost dead from hunger and tell of others of whom they knew who have been marooned for an equal length of time and who are absolutely without food.

PLIGHT GROWS WORSE DAILY.

Each day makes worse the plight of these people. Women with babes born since the flood swept down on their homes; men and women fainting from hunger; crazed survivors fighting rescuers; cattle dropping on the short drive from steamboat landings to pastures, these are some of the stories culled from the sad abundance of such incidents.

The Scott levee, the Morganza levee and others stretched near New Roads, were in less encouraging condition today than before. Baton Rouge still works with feverish anxiety to hold its main levee and to complete closing the protection levee with another company of militiamen on the scene. Next Plaquemine awoke to the fact that there was an extremely bad spot right in front of the town and repaired it.

Gov. Sanders telegraphed presidents of police juries and Mayors of towns all over the State asking aid and quick aid. It was reported that elaborate ceremonials at Gov. Hall's inauguration would be omitted and the funds used to aid sufferers.

Gov. Sanders declined to accept a banquet from his personal staff and the money for this banquet was forwarded to the relief committee.

Men were found to be speculating on the misfortunes of Pointe-Coupee farmers. They were buying livestock at $8 per head, rounding up the cattle, horses and mules and getting them out to market. For this reason the railroads now refuse to carry livestock free. Other farmers reported that cattle thieves were busy and that it was impossible to get a drove through to the hills intact.

DEVASTATION SPREADING.

The area of devastation is spreading steadily. In what is known as the third levee district, which includes a part of the northern section of the State and whose refugees go to Vicksburg, Miss., an official report issued today showed 3375 square miles flooded from crevasse water and 1575 inundated at a less depth from back water.

As an example of the number of homeless, in the section from Rosedale, Miss., to Natchez and from Arkansas City, Ark., to the Red River, 105,000 persons are shown to be absolutely dependent on the government for rations. These figures exclude the greatest flood center, which is that around Torras, where no effort yet has been made to compute the number of refugees or area of the flood.

So numerous are these refugees already that preparations are being made to house them in great cotton presses in New Orleans.

The Secretary of the Navy today ordered the gunboat Petrel, now in Vicksburg, to take an active hand in relief work, even to the extent of the giving out of rations so far as she can without endangering her own food supply. In this connection, cold hospitality has been extended along the upper river stretches to the battleships New Hampshire and Nebraska, which are steaming towards Memphis.

In No Hurry.

Pacific Mail Liner Brings Only Two Refugees.

Port Officer Thinks Buford Will Not Be Crowded.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Transportation at the expense of the government aboard the army transport Buford seems to have been sufficiently attractive for refugees who are ready to leave ports on the western coast of revolutionary-ridden Mexico to pass up the Pacific Mail steamer Peru, which carried her today from the lower coast.

It was expected that the Peru would be crowded with men, women and children, who, according to reports, have been clamoring to get out of Mexico, but such was not the case, as there were but two passengers from ports along the coast of the republic.

Although the Peru put in at Salina Cruz, Acapulco, Mazatlan and San Blas, no passengers came aboard, and the ship's officers and passengers from Central America, who went ashore, report that everything was quiet.

Charles A. Stephens, chief boarding officer of the port of San Francisco, who was a passenger on the Peru, returning from a tour of the canal zone and Central American republics, ventured the opinion that the Buford will not have a large list of refugees out of Mexican ports unless conditions change from what they appeared to be when the Peru came along a week ago.

Stephens qualified this opinion, however, by saying that it was possible that by the time the Buford is ready to leave Mexican ports refugees from the interior who are anxious to get out of the country, may hear of the free transportation and flock to the western coast ports and take advantage of the government's hospitality and free passage to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

R. W. Harrison of Oakland, who for the last six months has been in the State of Chiapas, tells a different story. He has been trying for the last six weeks to get out of Mexico, but he found that the railroads leading to the western coast towns had been put out of commission by the rebels and that traveling overland was very dangerous owing to the traveling bands of thieves and cut-throats.

Steaming up the coast, the Peru passed the transport Buford and tried to exchange wireless messages of inquiry, but the Buford wireless man declined to give any information.

The Peru's wireless operator picked up a message from the Navy Department at Washington to the gunboat Yorktown, directing the captain not to enter Mexican ports and advising him of the mission of the transport Buford.

The message to the Yorktown read: "Avoid entering Mexican ports unless absolutely necessary to coal. Proceed north and be on lookout for further orders."

Despite the reassuring news that everything is quiet in ports along the western coast of Mexico, the banks at Salina Cruz, Mazatlan and San Blas sent out a large shipment of gold on the Peru for safe keeping in San Francisco banks.

WASHINGTON DOUBTS WEST COAST DANGER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The plight of Americans on the West Coast of Mexico appears to have been exaggerated, according to the report received today at the War Department from Quartermaster Eltz, in command of the transport Buford, which was sent to that coast to pick up distressed foreigners.

In a telegram dated yesterday at Mochis, Sinaloa, via Nogales, the officer reports:

"Best information received is that less than one dozen Americans will embark there. The best of feeling shown toward the Buford. Took aboard one typhoid patient at Mazatlan. Am informed that about sixty-five Americans will embark at Mazatlan on our return."

The general staff again today entered a sweeping denial of the many stories of the receipt of orders from Washington for the entrainment of troops for the Mexican border. Gen. Wood said that no such orders had been given or were in contemplation. Some of the regiments returning from the Philippines will soon be due, and the first of them will go to Vancouver. The Second Cavalry, due in this country about June 15, will go to El Paso, and the Fourth Cavalry, which follows in a few weeks, is to be stationed at Ft. Huachuca. These dispositions were announced a long time ago.

BURN ZION'S WARNING.

Billboard Erected by Voliva for Benefit of "Stinkpots" Destroyed in a Jollification.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The handsome new warning to "Tobacco Stinkpots," which Overseer Voliva of Zion City had erected in the form of a big billboard opposite the Cook Electrical Company's shop was burned tonight. The Cook workers and others of the growing independant faction stood about it, celebrating the event with incense from their pipes and cigarettes and singing parodies on the anti-tobacco chants of the Zion band.

Meanwhile the rest of the independents were holding a rally and arranging for the dinner in honor of the Cook workers, who brought smoke to Zion after many years. It was a large night for the independents' faction.

or Gomez. And if he eliminates the latter he will surely lose the financial backing of former Diaz adherents, which he has been getting ever since he started the fight on Madero. Here is the statement of D'Moreno Canton, Gomez's secretary:

"Gen. Orozco has not received the official documents in this matter and will not receive them until tomorrow. They were mailed to him yesterday and left this morning for their destination.

"The statement of the things in all cases in the declarations which were made prior to the receipt of the official documents are falsely made through the intrigues of the revolution. But, when he has received the official document I have the assurance the truth will be made public.

"Senor Vasquez Gomez has come to establish the Provisional Presidency in response to the letter which he received from this same Gen. Orozco, which contains the authority given to the press and which all the public has seen.

"The provisional government is not established, but its formation is being studied for the approval of Gen. Orozco and on this point it is certainly the declaration of the military chief of the revolution.

"The provisional government is not formed, but only a sub-secretary of relations and a secretary of war have been named and Gen. Orozco will not know of these appointments until he receives the official documents tomorrow."

OROZCO SENDS GOMEZ PEREMPTORY MESSAGE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ESCALON (Mex.) May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Before boarding a special train here this morning to take him to the immediate vicinity of Torreon to personally direct the attack on the Federals, Gen. Orozco telegraphed Emilio Vasquez Gomez at Juarez to immediately come to the front or leave Mexico. In explanation of this action the rebel leader said he did not sanction the provisional Presidency or any civil government at this time. The general was exceedingly angry as he made this statement and added:

"My father acted too hastily."

He intimated he had not been consulted in the formation of the provisional "government" at Juarez. Hours after Gen. Orozco had left for the front, a telegram was received here from Gomez saying he would join Orozco in camp Wednesday. This is taken to mean he would leave Juarez for headquarters in the field Wednesday, as he could not possibly get here by tomorrow.

Orozco's refusal to recognize the Gomez "Cabinet" practically discredits its own author. When his attention was called to this, the rebel chief said with heat:

"This is no time to discuss peanut politics, as you call it. We are winning this revolution, but we must keep at it and not bother about office holding just yet. There will be time for that when we have whipped Madero at Torreon and elsewhere as we shall do.

"Senor Gomez is a good man and a scholar, but it seems to me he has been, what you call it, too fast. I will not talk about Senor Pradillo or my father till I talk to them. It may be it is all a mistake. How do I know? I can't be in Juarez, Chihuahua, here, everywhere; somebody got to fight this war."

HUERTA IS DYING OF TYPHOID SAYS REPORT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JIMENEZ (Mex.) May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Federal prisoners captured by Gen. Orozco's scouts east of Torreon this morning say Gen. Huerta, commander of the Federal troops besieged in Torreon, is dying of typhoid fever. Deserters to the rebel army three days ago said Gen. Huerta was in the hospital but the insurrecto officers did not credit their statements. The rebel leaders do not pin much faith to the deserters and none of them are allowed to join the rebel army.

Suspicions that they may be spies is the reason for this. The statements of the prisoners today, however, carry more weight with the rebel leaders and they are inclined now to believe Huerta's failure to carry the fight to Orozco may be due to illness.

TELEGRAPH IS CUT; REBELS ARE BLAMED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN ANTONIO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A few minutes after 5 o'clock tonight telegraphic communication between Monterey, State of Nuevo Leon, and Torreon suddenly broke off and railroad and commercial telegraph men here say the wires were undoubtedly cut by the rebels. Two wires were working to Monterey from Torreon all day. The last message from the operator at Torreon stated that the rebel army was reported surrounding the city. He said the remnant of Gen. Huerta's army was awaiting battle and the band was playing. His message ended abruptly and this is taken as evidence that the wires went down.

Mexican Consul Gen. Estova tonight said he was unable to communicate with Torreon by wire, but ascribed this fact to wire trouble.

Monterey is Madero's home city and Consul Estova, although knowing that telegraph men here were aware the telegraph wires are down, declined to admit that he has tried to get news from Monterey concerning the interruption to the Torreon wires.

BUSCH DENIES ENGAGEMENT.

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Adolphus Busch III., grandson of Adolphus Busch, multi-millionaire brewer and son of August A. Busch, denied tonight that he is engaged to Ethel Kelly, a sister of Mrs. Frank Gould, and an actress in the Winsome Widow Company. He says the report published here today that he is to marry the actress would be amusing if it were not so ridiculous.

SWEDES GIVE KING WARSHIP.

STOCKHOLM, May 7.—The sum of $3,360,000 subscribed by the public for construction of a battleship for the Swedish navy, was brought today to the King by a deputation representing the donors. King Gustave expressed his profound gratitude for the magnificent gift and for the demonstration of the Swedish generosity and patriotism.

TWO MINNESOTA COUNTIES VOTE.

ST. PAUL, May 7.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Returns received here indicate that Roosevelt swept everything before him in Pope and Aitkin counties in the county primaries yesterday to elect delegates to the State Republican Convention. In Pope county twenty precincts gave Roosevelt 301, La Follette 105, Taft 41, and Cummins 2. The vote in five precincts in Aitkin county gave Roosevelt 12 delegates, La Follette 5, and Taft none.

DAHLMAN AHEAD IN OMAHA.

OMAHA (Neb.) May 7.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The Bee (Republican) concedes that Mayor Dahlman (Democrat) will lead the entire ticket in the first city election held under the commission form. Early returns indicated that the entire ticket headed by the Mayor would be elected, with the possible exception of two candidates supported by the Citizens' Union "big seven."

WILSON CARRIES TEXAS; TAFT AND COLONEL CLOSE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DALLAS (Texas.) May 7.—Instructions given today by Democratic county conventions to delegates chosen to the State convention, assure a State delegation to the Baltimore convention instructed for Woodrow Wilson. Returns from 176 of the 250 counties in the State give the New Jersey executive 328 5-6 instructed votes, 16 in excess of the number necessary to control.

Gov. Harmon thus far has 109 2-3 instructed votes. Speaker Clark has 39 1-2. Up to midnight no county had reported an instruction for Oscar Underwood.

Reports have been received from 153 counties that held Republican conventions. Col. Roosevelt is leading with 63¼ votes, Mr. Taft has 36½; twelve contesting delegates will go to the convention and in seven counties that probably will be represented at the convention, no county conventions were held. Thirty-six counties are sending delegations uninstructed.

WILSON WINS TWELVE.

PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRATS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HARRISBURGH (Pa.) May 7.—In the same hall in which the regular Republican organization of Pennsylvania was overthrown last week, the regular Democratic State organization was swept out of power today by the "reorganization" faction after a fight lasting nearly two years.

The "reorganizers' " victory was complete and no resistance was made by the regulars after the vote on permanent chairman of the State convention showed that their opponents controlled the convention by 110 votes to 73. The party has been split more than a rear and two State committees have directed the destinies of Pennsylvania Democracy.

The "reorganizers," under the leadership of George W. Guthrie, former Mayor of Pittsburgh; Vance C. McCormick, former Mayor of Harrisburg, and Congressman Palmer, named a complete State ticket, elected 13 delegates-at-large and 12 alternates to Baltimore and gave them binding instructions to vote for Woodrow Wilson, "as long as his name remains before the convention;" adopted their own platform and ratified the selection of the "reorganizers" State committee in electing Mr. Guthrie State chairman.

The platform adopted, includes endorsement of the initiative and referendum, but ignores the recall of judges or of judicial decisions.

"Three great issues," the platform declares, "overshadow all others—representative government must be restored; the judiciary must be restricted to its proper sphere; the evils of the tariff system must be corrected.

"We share in the humiliation," one plank says, "which all feel at the spectacle of the chief magistrate of our country lowering the dignity of the office by indulging in a petty personal quarrel with his predecessor and withholding prosecution against corporate interests."

It declares "recent events furnish conclusive reasons for an amendment to the constitution, making a President ineligible to succeed himself, as well as for legislation which will prevent any executive from employing the great power of his office to fasten on the country a successor of his choosing."

BOARD OF TRADE TITANIC INQUIRY GETS SLUGGISH.

Attorney-General Conducting Case for British Government Not Versed in Details and Consumes Much Time—Brings Out that Boat Was Under Full Speed and that Sailors Did Not Know Stations.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, May 7.—Shipwreck experiences consumed the time of the Board of Trade inquiry into the Titanic disaster today. Only three witnesses were disposed of. No new light was shed on the sinking of the steamer beyond the facts elicited by the American Senatorial committee.

The examination was significant because it showed the government's determination to discover what steps were taken to get off the third-class passengers. The main points brought out in the general inquiry were that the ship was going at full speed; that no boat drills had been held; that some of the sailors did not know their stations; and that the boats were inadequately manned and directed and were not provided with lights, compasses, water or rations.

Whatever comparisons may be drawn by this "stately and well-ordered tribunal," as one of the weekly reviews predicted it would be, and the proceedings before Senator Smith's committee, the British court certainly is anything but expeditious.

Sir Rufus Isaacs, the Attorney-General, who is conducting the government's case, is not acquainted sufficently with the details to manage with any economy of time. The result is that he has to stop frequently to consult with his associates.

The number of counsel representing the various unions, who take a hand in the cross-examination, also tends to delay. The first reference to the American inquiry was when Sir Rufus Isaacs compared the statements of Quartermaster Hichens with those he made at Washington, but no material discrepancies were discovered.

The apathy of the British public, which has been one of the features thus far of the Board of Trade inquiry, was again demonstrated by the thin attendance when the commissioners, under the presidency of Lord Mersey, resumed their investigation today.

The first witness called today was George Beauchamp, a fireman of the Titanic, who testified:

"I did not know which was my boat station. I heard that a list had been put up that morning, but I did not see it. None had been put up before. I did not know where to go, so I went up to the boat deck and to lifeboat No. 13, on the starboard side, where I helped to put in the women and children. The lifeboat was full before we gave the order 'lower away.' There were between sixty and seventy in all in the boat."

Beauchamp testified that he had seen no boat drill on the Titanic. He had been ten years at sea, and on most of the liners on which he had been engaged their was a weekly boat drill.

Beauchamp said a stoker took charge of boat No. 13.

Thomas Scanlan, member of Parliament for North Sligo, who is appearing as counsel for the Seamens' and Firemens' Union, in cross-examination, asked Beauchamp:

"Have you ever before known of a stoker being placed in charge of a liner's lifeboat?"

Lord Mersey ruled that the question was not relevant.

Quartermaster Robert Hichens testified that he was on duty on the bridge of the Titanic at 8 o'clock. He heard Second Officer Lightoller through the telephone give an order to the men in the crow's nest to keep a sharp lookout for ice and growlers.

Hichens went on duty at the wheel at 10 o'clock. He testified that the log book showed the ship's speed to have been forty-five knots in two hours and that there was no change up to the time the Titanic struck the iceberg at 11:40.

While Hichens was attempting to get off a collapsible boat, an officer ordered him into a lifeboat. This carried two men as crew and forty-five passengers all of whom were women except Maj. Peuchen and a boy. The boat might have held five or six more persons. There was a barrel of water on board, but no compass, and he thought there were no biscuits. A lamp was served out to him before the boat was launched.

The boat proceeded toward the light of a ship for five miles. The ship was lying two points on the port bow, but her light gradually disappeared.

Hichens testified that the boat should have been manned with not less than five seamen in calm weather.

"Would the life boats have been of any use at all if there had been a rough sea?" asked Lord Mersey.

The quartermaster replied emphatically:

"I am sure they would not, my Lord."

There had been no instructions given to the crew in opening and working the collapsible boats, although they were more difficult to handle than lifeboats.

Promoting Suffrage.

MRS. BELMONT APPEALS TO MAN'S SENSE OF JUSTICE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WICHITA (Kan.) May 7.—Nearly 1000 women are attending the twenty-ninth annual convention of the Kansas Equal Suffrage Association, which formally opened here tonight.

Miss Jane Addams of Chicago and the Rev. Olympia Brown Willis, president of the Wisconsin Equal Suffrage Association, are guests of honor.

Mrs. Lucy B. Johnston, wife of the chief justice of the Supreme Court of Kansas, and president of the Kansas Equal Suffrage Association, who presided, read greetings from Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York, the Rev. Anna H. Shaw, president of the National Equal Suffrage Association and others.

The greetings from Mrs. Belmont follow:

"In this country I see three classes of women.

"First, the woman who starts in life with the inoculated idea that some man must support her.

"Secondly, the woman who finds out that she must do everything that a man does not want to do, and through force of necessity does it.

"Thirdly, a grand army of self-reliant, self-supporting women. Fulfilling all civic requirements. Strong in their own independence. Expecting no man to bear their burdens, asking for equal rights. Knowing their obligations as citizens and determined to meet these obligations.

"We appeal to man's sense of justice and of honor, for both these characteristics are the strong dominant traits of American men, or we would not have the nation we have. And we ask, are they just to the women?

"To their sons they give the right of citizenship—they make bondwomen of their daughters."

CONVICTED OF ROBBERY.

STOCKTON, May 7.—John C. Carroll, convicted of grand larceny, was this morning sentenced by Judge C. W. Norton to serve ten years at San Quentin. Carroll picked the pocket of a Japanese as the latter was boarding a train at Lathrop. As accessories to the crime, Walter Flavin and George Armstrong have been arrested and will be tried jointly on May 15. Carroll is believed to be the leader of a gang of pickpockets.

He was arrested several times on the charge, and in each instance forfeited a heavy bail. He is a painter and resides at Alameda, where he has a wife and five children.

Pacific and Great Western in a Furious Grapple.

One Seeks to Shut the Other Out of Its Field.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Formal application for a certificate of public convenience was made upon the State Railroad Commission today by the Great Western Power Company, which is the first step taken by that corporation to combat the recent petition of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, requesting that the commission issue an order preventing the Great Western Power Company from extending its system into towns, cities and territory now served by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and from supplying power and light to that territory which it was not supplying up to March 23, the date upon which the new public utilities act went into effect.

The petition of the Pacific company also requested that the Great Western company be compelled to desist from interfering with the operation of the Pacific company, and be made to show cause why it should be allowed to proceed with the extension of its system.

Action was taken by the Pacific company under a section of the utilities act, which states that no gas, electric or water corporation shall begin the construction of a plant, line, system or extension without first having obtained from the railroad commission a certificate of public convenience. This certificate is to the effect that present or future public convenience will require further construction or extension. It also provides for action by the commission in the event of the construction or extension of one corporation interfering with another.

The Great Western company, in its application, declares that it has entered into approximately 1200 contracts to supply electricity, light, heat and power in Solano, Sonoma and Napa counties. Many of these contracts were entered into, it is claimed, prior to March 23. It also calls attention to the possibility of the consumers in those counties being deprived of light, heat and power by breaking down of the only public service corporation now operating in those counties.

Then follows a long list, giving dates and places, where, at public bidding, the Great Western company secured franchises calling for light, heat and power and indicating the amount of extension work already under way, the right of way secured in Solano, Napa and Sonoma counties, and the steps that have already been taken in the extension of its lines. It also asks the approval of the commission of permits which have been granted and for franchises which have been bid upon, and which are to be bid upon later.

On Ground He Had Not Been Given a Fair Trial Man Convicted of Manslaughter Appeals.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—Ten cases were taken up today by the State Supreme Court, sitting en banc. A Sacramento case, that of Thomas Smith, convicted of manslaughter, was on the ground that the defendant had not been given a fair trial. The appeal came from the Third District Court of Appeal, the Supreme Court granting a hearing.

Another interesting case was that of the people versus Poolos Prandegas, appellant, a Greek, who shot several persons, including a policeman, in the Ferry building, San Francisco. His attorneys claimed he had not been given a fair trial. The case was submitted on briefs.

Other cases heard this forenoon were that of the people versus Dong Yip, convicted of assault in Contra Costa county, which was submitted; J. R. Fraser versus G. M. Sheldon, appellant, over the sale of a steamer, from Solano county; Marcus F. Purcell versus B. M. Richardson, Siskiyou county, in which Purcell sued a physician for $272, when a bill for $8 was presented for treating his eyes. He sued, alleging the medicine he took did more harm than good.

Seventy-five Arrive from Japan on Steamer and Are Welcomed by Their Intended Husbands.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Seventy-five Japanese women, most of them "picture brides," arrived here yesterday on the Shinyo Maru and were welcomed by several hundred local orientals. The greetings in many instances were unique.

One thoughtful swain hurried up the gangplank with a bundle of woman's wearing apparel of the American variety. His bride-elect hastened to don the garments without retiring to her stateroom. Another Japanese groom-to-be welcomed the future mistress of his home with a real oriental kiss, which caused the daughter of the Mikado considerable dismay.

According to immigration experts, Japanese women are coming to the United States at a rate of 4000 per year.

The appeal came from the Third District Court of Appeal, the Supreme Court granting a hearing.

Another interesting case was that of the people versus Pooios Prandegast, appellant, a Greek, who shot several persons, including a policeman, in the Ferry building, San Francisco. The attorneys claimed he had not been given a fair trial. The case was submitted on briefs.

Other cases heard this forenoon were that of the people versus Dong Toy Tin, convicted of assault in Contra Costa county, which was submitted; J. R. Fraser versus G. M. Mallett, appellant, over the sale of a thresher, from Solano county; Marcus W. Purcell versus B. M. Richardson, Sonoma county, in which Purcell, as a physician for $272, when a bill for $9 was presented for treating his son. He sued, alleging the medicine he took did more harm than good.

"PICTURE BRIDES" ARRIVE.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Seventy-five Japanese women, most of them "picture brides," arrived here today on the Shinyo Maru and were welcomed by several hundred fond orientals. The greetings in many instances were unique.

One thoughtful swain hurried up the gangplank with a bundle of women's wearing apparel of the American style. His bride-elect hastened to don the garments without retiring to the stateroom. Another Japanese bridegroom-to-be welcomed the future mistress of his home with a real occidental kiss, which caused the daughter of the Mikado considerable disquiet.

According to immigration experts, Japanese women are coming to the United States at a rate of 4000 per year.

Portland Police Ordered to Stop All Late Automobiles Containing Women in War Against Vice.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A motorcycle purring squad will be the latest novelty installed into the local police department, according to Capt. Keller, who has a group of officers of the second relief instructions today to patrol the city between midnight and 5 a. m., keeping a lookout for joy-riders, and to stop all cars that contain women.

Girls or drunken women are found the patrolmen have orders to take them to police headquarters.

Many complaints by parents have been filed with the police recently, saying that their daughters were missing from home when they should have been in bed. This method, according to Keller, has been adopted with considerable success in eastern cities, and will be followed rigidly by the police here, although in many instances it may annoy persons whom the police could have no motive for disturbing.

Widow of Palace Car Magnate Curtails Visit in Honolulu Because Her Pet Was Disinfected.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Angered and chagrined because the quarantine officers at Honolulu persisted in kicking her fancy-bred dog around, Mrs. George Pullman, widow of the Pullman palace car magnate, cut her visit in the islands very short and returned today on the Oceanic liner Sierra.

Mrs. Pullman explained that she had expected to spend another month in Honolulu and its environs, but that the quarantine officers took her pet spaniel away from her and gave it a course of spraying and disinfectants.

Then the Honolulu newspapers took the matter up and gave it publicity, which was very displeasing to Mrs. Pullman, and she decided to "cut" the paradise of the Pacific, and hastened to leave, bag and baggage. After many unsuccessful attempts to get her dog out of quarantine, she gave up in disgust, and arranged with an agent there to send the spaniel on the next steamer to San Francisco. It will be forwarded by express to Chicago.

STOCK BROKER SENTENCED.

OIL PROMOTER IS IN JAIL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sentence was pronounced today in W. H. Whiteaker, oil stock manipulator, who was found guilty by a jury last Friday of swindling Mrs. A. E. Smith of $8000 worth of Multnomah county real estate in exchange for worthless oil stock.

The sentence is from one to five years in the Oregon penitentiary. Whiteaker was surrendered to the Sheriff and was at once taken to the County Jail. He filed notice of appeal. Whiteaker traded to Mrs. Smith stocks in the Lake Oil and Gas Pipe Line Company, a corporation formed by Whiteaker and associates on the strength of filings on land in the California oil belt, to which they failed to obtain title.

TULLYS ARE RECONCILED.

Playwright and Wife, Eleanor Gates, Adjust Differences and Divorce Is Called Off.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The dove of peace has returned to the cote of Mr. and Mrs. "Dick" Tully, and they are congratulating themselves on the discovery that living apart was impossible, no matter what Eleanor Gates Tully had said or what Richard Tully had done.

The literary world was startled a month ago by the news that Eleanor Gates Tully, the clever authoress, had filed a suit for divorce against her playwright husband, Richard Tully, whose "Bird of Paradise" has been the success of the winter in New York.

The tragedy of the impending separation lay in the fact that their union had been ideal because of their congenial tastes and literary ambitions. By their intimates they were likened to the Brownings, because of their devotion to each other and their singleness of purpose in following the same literary ideals.

But with success came the masculine propensity for wayward diversions on the part of the husband and the exhausted patience on the part of the wife, who in despair finally decided on a divorce as the only solution that would bring the peace so necessary if either of them was to progress in their life's work.

Whether it is a case of Mrs. Tully having indulged in the feminine prerogative of changing her mind, or whether "Dick" Tully decided to usurp the privilege and change his, is not being told, but the facts are that there will be no divorce, because these two sensible young people care for each other infinitely more than they suspected, and they will leave shortly for New York together to continue the partners they have always been.

DIAMOND THEFT IS BROUGHT UP.

De Sabla Robbery Mentioned at Woman's Arrest.

She Denies Knowledge of the Missing Valuables.

Said to Know Maid Wanted by the Police.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mystery in which the missing $50,000 De Sabla jewels are mentioned, aside from the charge of grand larceny, under which she is being held at the city prison, surrounds the arrest of Mrs. Marjorie Smith, who was taken into custody in Oakland, on complaint of Mrs. Ethel Davis, who accuses Mrs. Smith of stealing a traveling bag worth $7 and $143 in cash, while Mrs. Smith was staying at the Davis residence overnight.

Mrs. Smith was employed as a maid in the Palace Hotel on the night of the Mardi Gras ball, February 21, marked by the disappearance of the pearl necklace and diamonds of Mrs. Eugene De Sabla under conditions that have baffled the local police completely.

To the detectives, Mrs. Smith absolutely denied the allegation, and stated further that she herself had been robbed on the same night. There is nothing to connect Mrs. Smith with the De Sabla necklace, but an effort is being made to learn from her everything she knew of another maid at the hotel, who has eluded the police, and who is badly wanted here. Mrs. Smith, it was said, was a friend of this other maid. The prisoner denied any knowledge of the person sought, and there is nothing that can connect her directly.

SAN JOSE, May 7.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] A Coroner's jury this afternoon found that a skeleton discovered yesterday evening dangling from a rope in a cypress tree near the Brokaw road was that of S. He had no relatives here and was despondent.

MOUNTAIN SCALERS STUCK.

From Altitude of Twelve Thousand Feet on Alaska Peak They Send Men for Fuel Alcohol.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CORDOVA (Alaska) May 7.—Three men of the Dora Keen Mount Blackburn expedition, returned to Kennecott today to obtain a new supply of alcohol and provisions, the party's stores having become exhausted. The alcohol is used for cooking. The main party is in camp in tents at an altitude of 12,000 feet on the mountain and when the three men left the climbers had been waiting ten days for the abatement of a frightful storm. The men with their fresh supplies will depart for the main camp tomorrow. They fear that the expedition will be unsuccessful, owing to the mild winter and the early opening of spring. Already many avalanches have dashed down the mountainside, making the ascent slow and perilous. All of the party are well. There is a feeling of disappointment, but all the members of the expedition share Miss Keen's determination to reach the summit if the feat is possible. Miss Keen, who is a member of a distinguished Philadelphia family, sailed from Seattle April 10 to undertake the conquest of the great Copper River peak, which is 16,140 feet high.

PASTOR'S HEALTH ALARMS WHITE TEMPLE BAPTISTS.

Fears Entertained that Head of Denomination's Leading Church in Portland May Have to Relinquish Part of His Work—Formerly of San Diego, He Succeeded Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Portland Baptists are greatly alarmed by reports that are being circulated as to the health of the Rev. W. B. Hinson, who succeeded Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher as pastor of the White Temple, the leading Baptist church here, and who was formerly at the head of a congregation in San Diego. It is said that Dr. Hinson will soon be compelled to give up the greater part of his work as the result of hardening of the veins, coupled with high blood pressure.

Dr. Hinson has called a meeting of the White Temple executive committee to be held tomorrow night and a meeting of his prudential committee for Friday night. It is known that up to late this afternoon Dr. Hinson had intended to resign his pastorate this week. Following a conference with H. W. Stone, of the executive committee, however, it was announced that he probably would not resign but that an assistant pastor would be chosen. It is believed that Dr. Hinson will remain at the head of the church, at least temporarily, but that the bulk of the work will be thrown on the shoulders of his assistant.

It is not known just how serious Dr. Hinson's condition may be. All in touch with the situation admit that he is suffering from overwork. He has been doing three men's work, one of the church officers declared. Dr. Hinson, himself, makes light of the situation. He declares he feels perfectly well. Outside of this he is not inclined to discuss the situation and many of those closely allied with Dr. Hinson are likewise reticent.

Dr. E. P. Shepherd, who was called by Dr. Hinson about a year ago to treat a severe cold, says he warned him that he must be careful not to overwork because of abnormal blood pressure which might lead to serious results. Fred Johnson, a member of the White Temple executive committee, admitted today that Dr. Hinson had said that his present physician had told him he had hardening of the veins. Medical men declare that unless greatest care is taken this malady, allied with the abnormal blood pressure, may lead to apoplexy.

Dr. Hinson and his friends all declare that at present he is apparently strong and able to do a strenuous day's work.

One member of the executive committee said he understood Dr. Hinson had not given up his intention to attend the northern Baptist convention in Des Moines, May 22-29.

WIRE TRUST MAN TELLS HOW UNCLE SAM PAYS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 7.—Mules on the Panama Canal work, and cavalry horses traveling the Mexican border alike, were sources of impartial tribute to the alleged "horseshoe trust," and so was every other United States government quadruped that went shod, according to evidence offered today in the government's suit whereby it hopes to dissolve the American Steel and Wire Company. In behalf of the company it was brought out that the government, even under pooled bids, was not charged so much as other purchasers.

The testimony was given by Samuel J. Bailey of the office of E. E. Jackson, "supervisor" of the wire pools, whose members were indicted and fined a year ago. Bailey acted as secretary of the Horseshoe Manufacturers' Association, one of the seven pools.

Bailey identified a copy of the rules and regulations of the horseshoe association. The rules fixed the prices at which the members of the association should sell the horseshoes, prices being charged when being necessary, the witness explained, at monthly meetings. Each member was allotted a certain percentage of the business, and in case his monthly sales exceeded his allotment he was to pay cash into the association equivalent to the amount of the excess. If they were less, the association was to make up the deficiency.

Bailey identified a number of letters written by Jackson, "per Samuel J. Bailey," to the Bryden Horseshoe Company, fixing the price on government contracts.

One, written in 1906, fixed the price the Bryden company was to bid on horse and mule shoes wanted by the Isthmian Canal Commission. The Bryden company's price on the horseshoes was to be $3.45 a keg, New Orleans delivery, but the American Steel and Wire Company, the letter stated, was to get the contract.

Another letter written November 15, 1907, gave notification that the quartermaster's department of the army needed 730 kegs of horseshoes, and 750 kegs of mule shoes.

"This business may come to you from jobbers at export prices," the letter read. "See that no export prices are quoted to the jobbers."

A letter concerning another government bid said: "The Diamond State Steel Company is authorized to bid the lowest. You will submit the price I have quoted you."

Cross-examined by David E. Reid, Bailey said that the pool was broken up in March, 1909, by the withdrawal of the American Steel and Wire Company.

FORMER SOLDIERS RESENT DESECRATION OF THE FLAG

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, May 7.—In today's session of the State encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans of California, resolutions were passed approving the action of the Roosevelt camp of Los Angeles in disapproving of the desecration of the Stars and Stripes and calling upon the national encampment, to be held in Atlantic City, next September, to communicate with representatives in Congress and attempt to induce the government to pass more stringent laws against the desecration of the United States flag.

The action of the Los Angeles camp is said to have been taken after a municipal election, in which certain political organizations circulated placards, bearing the red flag in one corner and the stars and stripes in the other, the latter flag having dollar marks printed on it. Officers were nominated as follows:

Department commander—B. A. Fosterer of San Francisco; senior vice-commander — L. T. Stephenson, Fresno.

Junior vice-commander—Harry T. Huber, Oakland, and Dr. Lewis C. Welbach, San Francisco.

Department inspector—F. G. Booth, San Bernardino.

Judge advocate—M. G. Gallaher, Fresno, and Milton A. Nathan, San Francisco.

Department chaplain—W. F. Phillips, San Francisco; and C. W. Holbrook, Venice.

Department surgeon—Dr. G. Parker Dillon, Sacramento.

Department marshal—C. F. Sperry, Vallejo.

The big list of nominations shows some merry fights in prospect.

KILLED BY BARTENDER.

Frank A. Gordon, a wealthy rancher of Madera, was shot and killed at 9 o'clock this morning by Jesse Webb, a bartender of Madera, in a room in the Oakland lodging-house in this city, as the culmination of a long-standing quarrel over Mrs. Margaret Crane, landlady of the house, who witnessed the shooting.

Mrs. Crane declares Gordon walked into a parlor occupied by Webb and Miss Crane, exclaiming:

"D—n you, I'll get you now. I'll get you both," and made a move as though to draw a weapon. Webb flashed his own revolver, and fired three times. The balls struck Gordon in the breast.

Webb declared he shot in self defense. He says he formerly worked for Gordon on the latter's ranch in Madera, where Miss Crane was cook. She later came to Fresno and he frequently visited her here, and was told by her that Gordon was jealous.

TESTIMONY TO BE IN PUBLIC.

The Archbold Hearing Will Begin Today.

Scranton Coal Dealer Is to Be First Witness.

Judge Not Summoned but Presence Is Permitted.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Public hearings on charges against Judge Robert W. Archbold of the Commerce Court, upon which may be based impeachment proceedings, were decided upon today by the House Judiciary Committee. Testimony in open session will begin tomorrow, after the committee has examined all the papers forwarded by Atty.-Gen. Wickersham.

Edward J. Williams, of Scranton, Pa., will be the first witness. He arrived in Washington today.

Williams, a coal dealer, who it is alleged negotiated with the Erie railroad for the purchase of culm bank property to be sold at a large profit, a transaction in which Judge Archbold is alleged to have been interested, would not discuss the charges, but denied that he attempted to flee to Europe.

Judge Archbold will not be summoned, but if he desires to attend the hearings, he will be welcomed by the committee, and probably will be accorded the right to cross-examine witnesses.

Chairman Clayton announced today that the following would be called as witnesses:

B. H. Meyer, Interstate Commerce Commissioner, who last February called President Taft's attention to the alleged attempt of Judge Archbold to purchase culm bank properties from the Erie railroad for $3000 to be sold to the Lackawanna and Wyoming company for $30,000.

W. P. Boland, president of the Marion Coal Company of Scranton, Pa., who made the original charges involving Judge Archbold's name.

C. J. Boland, of Scranton, another member of the Marion Coal Company firm.

Charles F. Cohn, vice-president of the Lackawanna and Wyoming Company.

Capt. W. Y. May, manager of the Erie railroad properties, with whom E. J. Williams is said to have negotiated for the culm bank properties.

G. E. Brownell, vice-president and general counsel of the Erie railroad.

George E. Watson of Scranton, Pa., an attorney said to have knowledge of the alleged transaction upon which are based the Archbold charges.

If the committee finds the charges sustained, the usual procedure would be to recommend to the House impeachment proceedings against Judge Archbold.

ADJOURNMENT IS OPPOSED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 7.—That neither early adjournment nor a recess of Congress during the national convention periods is among the probabilities was made clear in the Senate at the beginning of the discussion of the metal tariff bill today. Senator Cummins said he would do all he could to prevent either recess or adjournment until after the revision of the metal, the sugar, the wool and the cotton schedules. Senator Simmons said the Democrats would not permit a Senate adjournment or recess until the Senate passed every tariff bill sent in by the House.

WOMAN BADLY HURT.

Colliding Autos Hurl Her to Pavement and Fracture of Skull Is Feared—Her Child Is Uninjured.

Mrs. Emma Sheldon, wife of C. F. Sheldon, a printer, living at No. 917 West Second street, was painfully injured last night as the result of a collision between two automobiles, which occurred at the corner of Third and Figueroa streets while the Shriner parade was in progress and the downtown streets were filled with machines going to points of vantage.

Mrs. Sheldon, with her 3-year-old daughter, was riding in a machine driven by T. D. Smith of the Peck and Hill Furniture Company, and was crossing the intersection of the two streets when an automobile driven by E. Carlson of No. 622 Arbor street, collided with them.

Mrs. Sheldon and her child were thrown to the pavement and the former was picked up in an unconscious condition. At the Receiving Hospital it was stated that the victim had probably received a fracture of the skull, in addition to a number of bruises on the head and face.

By almost a miracle the child escaped serious injury.

San Diego.

POLICEMEN ATTACKED BY MEMBERS OF THE I.W.W.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From ambush Policeman H. C. Stevens and R. M. Hedden were murderously attacked by unknown men, believed to be members of the I.W.W. at Thirteenth and K streets tonight. Stevens was shot through the right arm and Hedden was struck over the right eye with an ax.

The attacks occurred about 9 o'clock and resulted in a general riot call. Citizens and militia were summoned for duty. Within an hour hundreds of men responded and the city was soon under martial law. The eighty-one I.W.W.'s being held in an old schoolhouse were immediately marched to the northern city limits and ordered to leave the county. An hour after attempts had been made on the lives of the officers, an unknown man with a bullet hole in his right hip, another in his left thigh, and a third in his head, was found in a lodging-house at Tenth and K streets in a dying condition.

When the officers broke into the place two women were dressing the wounds. They said the injured man had staggered into the room and asked for aid. The man was not able to talk and was taken to the Emergency Hospital, where the police surgeon said his wounds would prove fatal.

Nothing on his person by which he could be identified was found. His clothing was covered with blood and dirt, showing he had been engaged in the battle with the policemen at Thirteenth and K streets. Policeman Hedden recognized the dying man as the one who struck him with an ax. Hedden said that after he had been felled to the ground by a blow from an ax he pulled his weapon and began firing. Hedden's injury is not serious.

The bullet wound in Policeman Stevens's arm proved serious. He was removed to a hospital. It was found that the bones of the upper arms were shattered. According to the wounded policeman the trouble at Thirteenth and K streets broke out without warning. For days the officers had suspected a building at Thirteenth and K streets was the rendezvous of I.W.Ws. and the place was closely watched. While Stevens and Hedden were passing a dark place near that corner they were suddenly attacked. Two men appeared from the darkness of the building and began firing point blank. Stevens returned the fire. Hedden was then attacked with the axe. Both officers continued firing. The bloody axe was found near the scene of the battle.

In a dragnet raid the police later made two arrests at Fourth and E streets. The suspects gave the names A. C. Tombino and A. Cattalion. A search of rooms known as headquarters of local anarchists revealed a quantity of nitro-glycerine, a number of revolvers and other implements of warfare. At midnight armed guards were patrolling every part of the city and men keeping guard over the water-plants and other public property.

Y., equal suffrage organizer in the Kansas campaign, who, during the last six months, has visited every Congress district in the State and fifty-four counties, making public lectures, gave a glowing account of the work in her report to the State convention of the Kansas Equal Suffrage Association here today. COUNTY DOCTOR UNDER A CLOUD.

San Diego Physician Charged With Illegal Operation.

Young Woman Died from the Unlawful Act.

Selecting Jury for Trial of Alleged Perjurer.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That the operation resulting in septic poisoning which it is alleged caused the death of Mary Hart of Portland, Or., at Agnew Hospital Sunday, was performed by Dr. D. B. Northup, county physician, was told by Gracia Hart, sister of the deceased, to the Coroner's jury investigating the case this afternoon. Dr. Northup was represented by Senator L. A. Wright.

The witness said the statement was made by her sister before her death to her in the presence of Miss Rhodes, Miss Dupont and Miss Johnson, hospital nurses, at a date she could not remember, but at a time when she stated she was sent for because the nurses concluded her sister was dying.

The statement was made by the witness in answer to a request of Dist.-Atty. Utley that she tell everything. The witness said that the occasion of the statement by her sister was the first she knew of the deceased's condition. She said she asked her sister why she had had the operation performed and in reply she said she had to, that she did not wish to disgrace her father. Deceased also told her sister that Dr. Northup advised the operation and that she would be in the hospital only four or five days. The inquest was continued until 12:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to enable Miss Rhodes and Miss Dupont, nurses, to appear. They were not present today.

MORE BONDS.

With a small amount of money remaining in the highway fund and not all of the roads as planned under the boulevard system entirely completed the commissioners will ask the Board of Supervisors to consider a proposition to ask the people of the county to vote another bond issue, the amount to be reckoned on reports of the highway engineers of the amount of work yet to be done.

The roads of the county are in splendid condition, especially the main trunk lines, such as the coast road, the Inland road to the county line by way of Escondido and Fallbrook, and the Lakeside-Julian route. The commissioners hope to finish the Pala road and are now at work on the main highway to Imperial with seven camps in the field. Branch roads, according to a statement of a member of the commission, are badly needed in many localities and money must be raised to maintain them. In asking the Supervisors to submit another bond proposition, it is the aim of the commissioners to have the election held early next fall so that the money will be available for work during the winter rains when, according to Commissioner Richard Goodbody, a great deal more can be accomplished than at any other time.

The coast road requires working over in a number of localities. If the funds are provided the commission expects to cover sandy stretches with a suitable macadam. They also propose to level the humps and resurface the Murphy Canyon road, which just now is one of the worst stretches of the entire highway to Escondido. One of the finest pieces of road building is that of the Red Mountain grade between Fallbrook and the Riverside county line. This part of the highway between Bonsall and Riverside county is being kept in excellent repair by Supervisor G. F. Westfall.

KIRK ON TRIAL.

Selection of a jury to try Ernest E. Kirk on a charge of perjury was begun in Department One of Superior Court this morning. Examination of the jurors in behalf of Kirk is being conducted by Fred Moore, attorney for the I.W.W. The action against Kirk is on a grand jury indictment which asserts that by swearing to an affidavit of registration that he was born in Mississippi and was a citizen of the United States, Kirk committed perjury. The District Attorney claims to have evidence to show that Kirk was born in Canada and that he has never become a citizen of the United States. Kirk was identified in developing the free speech agitation which had its origin over the adoption by the City Council of an ordinance forbidding street speaking in a restricted business district.

SMALL VOTE.

With a light vote cast, San Diego voters today authorized the City Council to issue $680,000 bonds for municipal improvements. Voting on six separate propositions, the returns at 10 o'clock tonight insure the following propositions by safe majorities:

An issue of $80,000 for enlarging the fire department, $120,000 for extending the sewer system, $55,000 for street improvements, $340,000 for bettering the water system, $75,000 for public playgrounds and $10,000 for comfort stations. The total vote was about 3500.

San Diego.

EIGHTY-ONE VAGABONDS STEAL A FREIGHT TRAIN.

SAN DIEGO, May 7.—Charges of stealing a railroad train of engine and cars may be lodged at Santa Ana against eighty-one frowsy and illiterate members of the I.W.W., who at midnight last night overpowered the crew of a freight train and compelled them to bring the lawless horde to San Diego. Special officers in the service of the Santa Fe are now inquiring into the nature of the crime.

News that the mob had started for San Diego was telephoned the San Diego police at 3 o'clock this morning. At 7 o'clock the train guarded on both sides of the track by a special detail of twenty-three picked officers was flagged at Old Town, the lawbreakers were surrounded and taken into custody and are now being held prisoners in the old schoolhouse at Old Town. An investigation is already under way with the result that the Santa Fe Railroad will probably have the entire crowd prosecuted on felony charges for seizing a freight train.

In this event it will devolve upon Orange county to carry on the prosecutions. Edward Monacco, A. R. White and H. C. Adams are the three professed leaders of the crowd. J. Johnson, S. Gourley and Joseph S. Ebasta, a Reception Committee appointed by the I.W.W. in San Diego to guide the invaders into San Diego were arrested near where the train was stopped. Evidence found upon the invaders showed that these three would meet the crowd.

As soon as the eighty-one grimy vagabonds were dragged from the empty box car they were lined up two abreast near the railroad track. Bailiff Paul Connors then searched them for weapons.

Later they were marched to the old schoolhouse, and in groups of three they were again searched, and then carefully questioned. Stenographic reports of the examination of each of the eighty-one were taken. These will be used in an investigation to be made by the immigration officials with a view of deporting such of the foreigners as are illegally in the United States. In every instance the prisoners admitted they are members of the I.W.W., or plan to join the organization, that they have no respect for this government, and are coming here to take part in the agitation for alleged free speech.

In many instances the prisoners after close interrogation admit that possibly they are here to prepare for an invasion of Mexico. Several letters were found upon the prisoners, alleged to have been written by Jack Laffin, former insurrecto adjutant, now of San Diego, advising the lawbreakers regarding conditions in San Diego, and urging them to come here. From other evidence it was also found that Jack Whyte, now awaiting trial on a charge of conspiracy, had sent money to the invaders with which to purchase food and supplies. Many of the crowd arrested this morning came from as far north as Oakland. Not more than $10 in money was found among the entire crowd. The three members of the Reception Committee of the I.W.W., sent from here to meet the invaders, were found to be at liberty either on parole, or recently released from jail. The parole violators will be taken back to jail and forced to complete their sentences.

"It is one of the worst looking crowds of human beings I have ever seen," said Chief Wilson. The prisoners will be kept in custody at Old Town probably until tomorrow. By that time it will be decided just what action will be taken in their cases.

Nelson, superintendent of the San Joaquin Light and Power Company, is slightly injured, as the result of a forty-foot fall with an automobile from the grade in the Kern River Canyon.

Ludlow fell on a rock and was internally injured. He was brought to the city and died this evening. The machine rolled over again after its first fall and plunged down another hundred feet. The failure of the breaks to work as the automobile was being driven down a sharp incline was the cause of the accident. Ludlow leaves a wife in Berkeley, but no children.

Chicago Pressmen Are to Stand Alone After Today.

News Stands Reopened With Suffragettes in Charge.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chicago's newspaper strike is broken and crumbling. Indications tonight are that the stereotypers will be ordered back tomorrow, which will leave only the pressmen who violated their contract to continue the battle which is now thoroughly handled by the police.

James J. Freel, president of the International Stereotypers' Union, has arrived in the city and today asked the Publishers' Association for twenty-four hours' time in which to get his members back into line, a request this was granted.

The stereotypers violated their contract, signed a few days previously, when they joined the pressmen without any grievance whatever of their own. President Freel wired them from Newark, N. SAYS DOOMED IS SECRET

Woman Makes Affidavit Son Has for Years Been Dead Although Occupying Baptist Pulpit, Received His Orders as Minister.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, May 7.—Clarence V. T. Richeson, under sentence of death for the murder of Avis Linnell, has been a Mormon elder and secretly connected with the Mormon organization for several years, although preaching from a Baptist pulpit, according to a sworn statement just made before William A. Thibodeau, an attorney and justice of the peace.

The author of the affidavit, Mrs. Louie E. Brittain, claims to have been formerly connected with the Mormon church and to have been a celestial wife of a New York man, who is at the head of the Mormon organization in the East.

In the statement Mrs. Brittain says she has known Richeson several years, first meeting him three years ago at a Mormon conference on Staten Island, where she says the Baptist clergyman was recognized as one of the Mormon elders, and was particularly active in the affairs of the conference. She has seen him many times since in and about Boston, and has given him the Mormon signs, which were always answered, she claims.

She says she attended a Mormon conference at Providence, R. I., a little over a year ago, at which Richeson was present, and that she received commands from him as a Mormon elder at a Boston gathering of church leaders.

A short time ago Mrs. Brittain became converted from Mormonism, she says. According to Attorney Thibodeau, who gave out the affidavit tonight, Mrs. Brittain recently divulged to some of her close friends her knowledge of Richeson's alleged connection with the Mormon church, and was prevailed upon to make the facts known previous to the time set for his execution, as it was felt that the information, if withheld until after his death, would seem unfair.

ROOSEVELT HAS BY NARROW

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BALTIMORE (Md.) May 7.—The closeness of the struggle between President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt for control of Maryland's sixteen votes in the national convention was emphasized today when complete returns from yesterday's primaries showed the result depended on one county, which on the face of the returns gave Roosevelt a majority of eighty.

Putting this county (Howard) in the Roosevelt column, gave him sixty-six delegates to the State convention, one more than a majority. The three Howard county delegates counted for Taft would give him the primary victory by the same margin.

Complete unofficial returns received today by the State Roosevelt Committee and all the Baltimore newspapers agreed in giving Col. Roosevelt a majority in Howard county of eighty odd votes, but Taft leaders tonight were unwilling to concede that their opponents had won.

"It would be improper for me to concede anything at this time when Maryland's sixteen votes to the national convention hangs on less than 100 votes," said John B. Hanna, chairman of the Republican State Committee and leader of the Taft forces.

Another feature of the day was the development of the possibility that the individual delegates elected to the State convention would include a majority of Taft men, even though instructions by the county preference vote might bind them to vote for a Roosevelt delegation to the convention. The Taft leaders made this claim.

It was pointed out that President Taft's friends might control the con-

Chicago Pressmen Are to Be Alone After Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chicago's newspaper strike is broken and crumbling. Indications tonight are that the stereotypers will be ordered back tomorrow, which will leave only the pressmen, who violated their contract to conduct the battle which is now thoroughly handled by the police.

James J. Freel, president of the International Stereotypers' Union, has arrived in the city and today asked the Publishers' Association for twenty-four hours' time in which to get his members back into line, and this was granted.

The stereotypers violated their contract, signed a few days previously, when they joined the pressmen without any grievance whatever of their own. President Freel wired them from Newark, N. J., ordering them to return to work, but it is claimed that the telegrams were mislaid. Freel then hastened to Chicago to take personal charge of the situation.

In the event the local does not return to work its charter will be annulled and a new local formed, which will supply all the papers with competent stereotypers. The pressmen, stereotypers and striking wagon drivers have been trying for two days to call a mass meeting of all the allied unions on the newspapers to take action in the fight, but have been unable to interest the typographical and other unions, which are observing their contracts to the letter.

Thus the strike, illegal from the outset, is practically at an end. All the papers are supplied with men for every department and are coming out regularly with full-sized sheets, well printed.

The news stands reopened all over the city and attacks upon the dealers were sternly suppressed by the police. One feature of the day was the manning of many stands by militant suffragettes, who sold thousands of papers. The thugs who have been mauling small boys and solitary women news venders let the suffragettes severely alone.

The striking freight handlers continued their peaceful tactics and kept away from the railroad yards. Fewer pickets were around the freight houses and teamsters hauling freight were not molested in any way.

Some railroad managers say there will be no further concessions granted the freight men and that they expect to see many of them return to their posts in a few days.

A number of men from outlying freight centers were brought here and more are coming in with every train. The managers professed to be entirely satisfied with the situation and said there was no significance in the large number of teams standing around the freight houses, as that is a daily occurrence under normal conditions.

Patrick Cleary, 39 years old, a freight handler, committed suicide today by cutting his throat with a knife in the bathroom of his room at his home. He was despondent because of being thrown out of work by the strike.

SAYS DOOMED PREACHER IS SECRETLY A MORMON.

Woman Makes Affidavit that Clarence V. T. Richeson Has for Years Been Identified With that Church, Although Occupying Baptist Pulpit—Swears She Received His Orders as Mormon Elder.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, May 7.—Clarence V. T. Richeson, under sentence of death for the murder of Avis Linnell, has been a Mormon elder and secretly connected with the Mormon organization for several years, although preaching from a Baptist pulpit, according to a sworn statement just made before William A. Thibodeau, an attorney and justice of the peace.

The author of the affidavit, Mrs. Louie E. Brittain, claims to have been formerly connected with the Mormon church and to have been a celestial wife of a New York man, who is at the head of the Mormon organization in the East.

She says she attended a Mormon conference at Providence, R. I., a little over a year ago, at which Richeson was present, and that she received commands from him as a Mormon elder at a Boston gathering of church leaders.

A short time ago Mrs. Brittain became converted from Mormonism, she says. According to Attorney Thibodeau, who gave out the affidavit tonight, Mrs. Brittain recently divulged to some of her close friends her knowledge of Richeson's alleged connection with the Mormon church and was prevailed upon to make the facts known previous to the time set for his execution, as it was felt that the information, if withheld until after his death, would seem unfair.

Mrs. Brittain has become known during the last few years to evangelistic workers in and about Boston. In an interview tonight she said that to the best of her belief Richeson was converted to Mormonism while a student at William Jewell College in Liberty, Mo., from which he was expelled in 1889. At that time Richeson became attached to a young woman who now makes her home in Salt Lake City. To this young woman is due Richeson's trend toward Mormonism, Mrs. Brittain believes.

The affidavit, which was given out prior to the interview, described some of the meetings at which she said she had seen Richeson, and concluded as follows:

"I have always considered Elder Clarence V. T. Richeson a member of the Mormon organization.

"While it is not common, it is not unusual to find the more educated of the Mormon elders preaching in the pulpits of evangelical churches which baptize by immersion."

ROOSEVELT HAS MARYLAND BY NARROWEST MARGIN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BALTIMORE (Md.) May 7.—The closeness of the struggle between President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt for control of Maryland's sixteen votes in the national convention was emphasized today when complete returns from yesterday's primaries showed the result depended on one county, which on the face of the returns gave Roosevelt a majority of eighty.

Putting this county (Howard) in the Roosevelt column, gave him six-and-eight delegates to the State convention, one more than a majority. The three Howard county delegates counted for Taft would give him the primary victory by the same margin.

Complete unofficial returns received today by the State Roosevelt Committee and all the Baltimore newspapers agreed in giving Col. Roosevelt a majority in Howard county of eighty odd votes, but Taft leaders tonight were unwilling to concede that their opponents had won.

"It would be improper for me to concede anything at this time when Maryland's sixteen votes to the national convention hangs on less than 100 votes," said John B. Hanna, chairman of the Republican State Committee and leader of the Taft forces. "Another feature of the day was the development of the possibility that the individual delegates elected to the State convention would include a majority of Taft men, even though there instructions by the county preference vote might bind them to vote for a Roosevelt delegation to the convention. The Taft leaders made this claim.

It was pointed out that President Taft's friends might control the convention, force the adoption of a conservative platform and send a delegation to Chicago which would be ready to abandon Roosevelt as soon as they considered they had fulfilled their legal duties by voting for him on the first ballot.

A statement by Representative McKinley, manager of the Taft campaign, that the rules of the Republican National Committee entitled the people of the First and Fifth Congress districts to Taft delegates in the national convention since they had declared for the President in their preference vote, brought this reply from Col. E. Carrington, chairman of the Roosevelt Committee:

"The call of the national convention must be subject to the law of Maryland, which provides that a majority of votes in the State convention entitles the candidate having such majority to the entire sixteen delegates from Maryland."

No change developed in the Democratic situation, except to insure for Speaker Clark several delegates already counted for him on the strength of the indicated county majorities. The Clark men have enough votes to control the State convention. The county preferential vote bound eighty-one delegates to Clark, forty-four to Wilson and four to Harmon.

FINAL CHAPTER IN LOVE DRAMA.

Woman Slays Herself and Companion in Apartment.

Frequent Quarrels Indicate Woman Was Jealous.

Diamonds and Money Prove Motive Sentiment.

The final chapter in a drama of love was written last night, when the bodies of a man and woman wrapped in death were discovered in the Sheffield apartments, No. 727 West First street, under circumstances indicating murder and suicide.

That the woman fired the fatal shots is believed by the police to have been proven by the finding of a cheap revolver with two exploded chambers lying near her right hand, together with the fact that the pair were heard to quarrel on several occasions when the woman is said to have threatened to put an end to it all.

The records of the hotel show that the couple came there November 23 and registered as Peter Walker and wife. They claimed to be the owners of a large ranch and mining property in Arizona.

Several days ago, according to guests in the house, the pair began to quarrel and last Sunday night the tragedy is supposed to have been enacted, as nothing was heard of either the man or woman until last night, when the continued silence aroused suspicion on the part of the Misses Davis, the landladies, and led to an investigation.

Policeman O'Howell was called and upon failing to receive any answer to repeated knocks, burst in the door.

On a couch at one end of the room, dressed only in his underclothes, was found the body of the man, lying in a lake of blood.

A bullet through the left side of the head indicated that he had been shot while asleep and that death followed within a few minutes. Less than four feet away was the body of the woman, dressed only in a night robe, and at a point directly under her right hand was found the weapon which is believed to have done the deed. Although little blood had escaped from the wound in the woman's head, an examination showed that she, too, had been killed by a bullet fired in close proximity to her head.

Nothing else in the room had been disarranged, showing that no personal encounter had preceded the killing.

An examination of the couple's effects revealed the presence of, perhaps, $2000 in diamonds, in addition to bank notes and mortgages aggregating as much more.

A deposit made by the woman April 3 indicated that she was the possessor of $1500 in her own right which she had placed in the Central National Bank of this city after receiving a draft for the amount, presumably from a bank in Oklahoma City.

All of the letters and telegrams were addressed to the woman under the name of Mrs. Ann Dewey of Haskell, Okla., and there was nothing found to substantiate the fact that the pair had been legally married, although the police admit that this may have been the case.

The presence of a letter sent to the woman and signed "Vera" seemed to indicate that the affections of the man had been bestowed on another woman and for a time the police believed that a double murder might have been responsible for the two deaths. This theory was subsequently scouted when witnesses were found who had heard the couple quarrelling in their apartments.

An effort was made by the authorities to obtain further information concerning Walker, but beyond the fact that he was reputed to be well-to-do, the officers were unable to throw any further light on the tragedy.

The Coroner's office was notified and gave permission for the removal of the bodies to J. D. Button's undertaking rooms, where they will be held pending a complete investigation of the facts.

VISALIA IS "DRY."

VISALIA, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Visalia today, by a vote of 994 to 668, decided to remain without saloons. The ordinance providing licensing of saloons and the strict regulation submitted by the initiative was defeated by a majority of 336 votes. Women played an important part in the election, more than 700 voting. Today was the fourth "wet" and "dry" election held in Visalia in the past fifteen months, three of which were won by the "drys." The "wets" were once successful by seven votes. The decisive vote today will probably put an end to the saloon agitation in Visalia. The vote today was the largest in the history of the city.

Not Salts, Oil or Pills, But Cascarets

No Odds How Sick Your Stomach; How Hard Your Head Aches or How Bilious—Cascarets Make You Feel Great.

You men and women who somehow can't get feeling right—who have an almost daily headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oils? This is important.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

Southern Pacific Budget Is Now Under Scrutiny.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific Company, has been elected to the presidency of the Associated Oil Company, vice president William F. Herrin, resigned.

This change indicates that Sproule, as responsible head of all Southern Pacific interests on this coast, will take the presidency of the various companies included in these interests.

Herrin, it is understood, will remain on the board of directors and will continue on the board's executive committee. William S. Porter still retains his position as vice-president and general manager.

Sproule is on his way East today in response to an unexpected call last night from Chairman Robert S. Lovett of the executive board of the Harriman system.

It is believed that he will not return until the recommendations in the annual budget, this year amounting to $20,000,000, have been carefully gone over with Lovett and other Harriman officials. Sproule is taking with him a number of special recommendations.

DINUBA.

DINUBA, May 7.—At the election which was held here today to decide on the change in location of the new high school, the voters were almost unanimously in favor of constructing the new building on the old grammar school grounds. According to the plans which have been approved by the Board of Education and ratified by the voters today, the high school is to be given a central location in a campus of about twenty acres, and adjoining the water works and the water power park. It thus makes an ideal civic center for this city.

SHOT DOWN AT HIS OWN DESK.

Chief Clerk of Surveyor-General Is Murdered.

Murderer at Once Puts Ball Through Own Heart.

Tragedy Is on Ground Floor of Arizona Capitol.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At 11 o'clock this morning Malcolm T. Gillett, chief clerk in the office of the Surveyor-General of Arizona, was murdered at his desk by Finley Coffman, who immediately thereafter put a bullet through his own heart.

The Surveyor-General's offices are on the ground floor of the State capital, immediately below the Governor's suite. On the third floor both houses of the Legislature were in session, but adjourned at once, the members joining the dense throng that surged down to the ground floor.

A short time ago Coffman purchased of Gillette a ten-acre tract, for which he paid $1500. The purchaser gained the impression that the title was not clear and he demanded that Gillette return his money, though a local abstract company offered to guarantee the title. Apparently becoming insane through brooding over the matter, Coffman deliberately made all preparations for the murder and suicide. He walked through the office of Surveyor-General Ingalls and, without a word, opened fire upon Gillette, who had his desk in a corner of the second room, wherein two other clerks saw nothing till the firing began. Coffman used a Savage automatic pistol with such accurate aim that four bullets passed through Gillette's body as he staggered forward, before he fell to the floor dead. Coffman then walked back through the front office into the corridor, opposite the main capital entrance, and fired one fatal shot through his own body. The weapon again exploded as it struck the cement floor.

From the inside coat pocket of the assassin a number of letters were taken. One of them, unsealed and unaddressed, gave directions that his father, Benjamin H. Coffman, be notified at Bremen, Ky., and that his body be embalmed and shipped home. The other letters were stamped ready for mailing and were addressed to local friends, to his father and to Miss Nannie Coffman, Sacramento, Cal. Coffman was a consumptive, about 30 years old, slight and weak. He came here about two years ago from Kentucky, hoping for benefit from the climate. Here he worked for nurserymen.

Gillette, who was about 34 years old, had lived in Phoenix the greater part of his life. He was a man of the highest character, of charming manner and of large popularity. His father is a local business man. About two years ago Gillette was married to Miss Gladys Vinson of Texas. Prior to entering the Surveyor-General's office he was a traveling representative of the United States Land Office, in that capacity passing upon many of the questions known in the settlement of the Imperial Valley of California.

GOTHAM BROKER RELEASED.

Man Arrested at San Francisco Given Liberty Following Proceedings in Habeas Corpus.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A writ of habeas corpus for the release from police custody of Hector A Zayas, broker, of New York and London, England, arrested here four days ago on telegraphic advices from New York, where he is said to be wanted for an alleged fraudulent stock deal, was argued this afternoon before Judge E. P. Mogan in the Superior Court and the defendant was released on payment of $3000 bail.

Mrs. Anna Belle Zayas, wife of the broker, was the petitioner. She alleged in the affidavit filed with the court that her husband is being illegally detained by the police and that no criminal charge or warrant for arrest had been entered against him.

More than three days, she claimed, had elapsed since his incarceration, without his being charged, all of which she sets up as entitling him to release.

Zayas, his wife and daughter, arrived at the home of his wife's mother on Martle street, Oakland, ten days ago. They were en route to Japan to spend the summer.

The best information the local police have been able to get is that he is accused by a New York physician of selling him worthless Nevada mining stock in 1910.

TRIMS PRISON EXPENSES.

Not Resting With Discharge of Superintendent, Oregon Governor Also Lets Others Go.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALEM (Or.) May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following the discharge of Superintendent C. W. James and other officers of the State penitentiary, Gov. West announced today that he had also dispensed with the services of Dr. R. D. Boyd, prison, physician, who was drawing a salary of $100 a month. This was another step in pruning expenses at the prison to prevent threatened deficiency in the maintenance fund. The official ax is expected to fall on other employees before the clean-up is completed. The Governor stated today that physicians from the asylum would serve at the penitentiary.

YOUNG DATE PALMS COMING.

Thousand of Them From the Sahara Consigned to California Arrive in New York City.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One thousand young date palms from the Sahara desert, formed part of the cargo of the Hamburg-American steamer Pretoria, which arrived today. They will be shipped at once to Coachella Valley in Southern California, there to be divided between three corporations engaged in growing dates for the American market.

The shipment consists of only one variety, the Deglet Noor, or "Date of the Light," the most famous of all North African varieties, and so nearly transparent that when it is held up to the light the seed can clearly be seen in its outline.

HOLDS WOMAN IN CONTEMPT.

Court Remands Her to Jail Until She Produces Children She Is Accused of Kidnaping.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LA CROSSE (Wis.) May 7.—Mrs. Ruth Miles of Tomah has been sentenced to remain in jail for contempt of court until she produces two of her children, who are now in Idaho and whom she is accused of having kidnaped.

Mrs. Miles was married ten years ago to George Alingham of Tomah and later obtained a divorce. Pending the decision of the court the mother was given custody of the two children with the provision that they must not be removed from the jurisdiction of the court. Mrs. Miles immediately went to Idaho and when the husband was granted a divorce and the custody of the children, she refused to give them up.

A year ago she removed to Los Angeles, where she was married to William W. Miles of Chicago. Returning to her old home in Tomah, on account of the serious illness of her mother, she immediately was arrested on the charge of kidnaping, the charge later being changed to that of contempt of court. Although her mother is at the point of death, Judge Higbee has ordered the woman confined in jail until the children are produced.

TITANIC ROBS REASON.

Discussion of the Disaster and Recollection of His Own Previous Wreck Make Man Insane.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) May 7.—Continual discussion of the Titanic disaster, together with recollections of a wreck in which he nearly lost his life eighteen years ago, has driven Dr. A. H. Mahib insane, according to friends here. He is under medical care pending an investigation by alienists.

Dr. Mahib was wrecked off the coast of Africa in 1894 and floated about in an open boat for two weeks, most of the time without food or water. When picked up he was unconscious and did not recover his faculties for weeks.

MRS. EDDY'S WILL UPHELD.

New Hampshire Supreme Court Rules That Clause in Controversy Creates a Valid Trust.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CONCORD (N. H.) May 7.—The clause of the will of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science Church, bequeathing the residue of her estate, valued at about $2,000,000, to the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, creates a "valid trust," in the opinion of the Supreme Court of New Hampshire, announced today. The court holds that the "residuary clause is not a gift to a church, but a gift for religious purposes sustainable as a charitable trust."

The court's decision was given in the bill in equity brought by George W. Glover of Enid, S. D., Mrs. Eddy's son, in the Merrimack county Superior Court to have the residuary clause declared invalid on the ground that it violated a New Hampshire statute, limiting the amount which can be bequeathed to any single church.

In its opinion the court holds that the sole request of the plaintiff is for advices as to his rights.

An amendment may be filed by the plaintiffs, according to the decision, since, should they be able to show that the bequest is for the pecuniary private profit of the church, the trust would be voided.

INDICTED, SHE COLLAPSES.

Georgia Woman Accused of Shooting Her Husbandd Said by Doctors to Be in Serious State.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ATLANTA, May 7.—Mrs. Daisy Opie Grace, who was indicted by the grand jury yesterday on a charge of having shot her husband, Eugene Grace, collapsed in her cell at an early hour this morning. The county physician said she was in a serious nervous condition.

A morning paper asserted today that Mrs. Grace stated after the grand jury indictment was returned against her that she was to become a mother.

The husband of Mrs. Grace is at the home of his mother at Newman, Ga., still in a dangerous condition, according to physicians, as the result of the bullet wound which he declares was inflicted by his wife.

ARTIST MILLET HONORED.

Trustees of American Academy in Rome Will Establish Chair of Fine Arts in His Memory.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 7.—The Board of Trustees of the American Academy in Rome has voted to establish a chair of fine arts in memory of Francis Davis Millet, who lost his life in the Titanic disaster.

To perpetuate this chair it is proposed to raise a trust fund of at least $100,000.

Mr. Millett was chief administrative officer of the academy.

NEW TRIAL ORDERED.

In the action brought by W. J. Horne against Ida Hughes, to recover $675 paid by the plaintiff to the woman for a piece of property in Wilmington, the District Court of Appeal yesterday reversed the opinion of Judge Hutton in favor of the defendant, and remanded the case to the lower court for another trial. When Horne purchased the property, the defendant executed a bargain and sale to him, but it was afterward discovered that the original deed to the defendant was illegal.

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'MILLE.

A simple home treatment that makes the hair long, wavy and lustrous is to dry shampoo frequently with a mixture of four ounces of orris root and an original package of therox. Sprinkle a tablespoonful on the head; then brush thoroughly through the hair. All dirt, dust and dandruff will be removed, the scalp refreshed and the hair made clean, light and glossy.

A lovely, soft and youthful complexion will be yours if you use a solution made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in eight ounces of witch hasel. Gently rub over the face, neck and arms night and morning, and the skin will be clear, smooth, fair and pliant.

To stop headache, or ache in back or joints, reduce swelling, allay inflammation, relieve pain in any part of the body, apply Mother's Salve. The world never saw its equal as a pain killer.

Any woman can easily and quickly remove wild hairs from face or forearms. Just mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the hairs; apply and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone.

THERE is a certain school of philosophy which teaches, in effect, this doctrine:- "Whatsoever a man desireth, that shall he have, provided only that he desire it hard enough." Now the more we think it over, the surer we are that these philosophers are not very far off the track.

We dare say that there isn't one man in five, who, if he really set his mind to it, and put all his effort into it, couldn't approximate the record of Edison, of Rockefeller, of Peary, of Darwin, of Shakespeare, or of anyone else whom he determined to equal or surpass.

Grit, gumption, get-there, will put a man at the top tip top of any line of endeavor.

You can, if you will. The man who says "I will if I can," starts whith the admission of defeat and usually gets his.

All of which is merely a preamble to the very important fact that if there's an ambition in your life which money would fill, you have it in your power to fill it.

Save, man, save! What if you do make a few sacrifices. Aren't they worth while if they get you to the goal of your ambition?

Tell us how much you need to carry out your desires. Maybe we can help you to think of a plan whereby your ideals may be sooner realized.

Buy a Lot and Let Us Build You a Bungalow Home the "Commonwealth Way"

When you buy a home you want the best place your money can buy. Here is where you intend to settle down for many years to come—even for life, therefore the buying of a home is a more serious transaction than most families realize until after it is all over.

There are many things to be considered—the location—the neighborhood—the people that live there—the kind of houses that are and will be built—the restrictions—the soil—for everyone wants a little garden, the drainage, the nearness to town—transportation—educational facilities, the view, etc. You will find Dartmouth the ideal location.

The Land--Not the House

Increases in value. Therefore select the best lots—the choicest locations in the best tract located in the most rapidly growing residential section—where there are restrictions that assure the erection of first-class homes. The lot that is bought right will grow in value right along.

Dartmouth Square gives greater promise of rapid, continuous increase in values than any other land between the mountains and the sea. It is located in the Southwestern section of Los Angeles, where more first-class homes have been built and are going up every day than in any other section of the city. It is on three car lines (five-cent fare) and direct beach connections, near the Manual Arts High School, a good Grammar School and Exposition Park. Good garden soil, perfect drainage, and fine view.

How to Get There

Take the University car line via Spring, Vermont, Santa Barbara and Dalton. Get off at 41st Place and Dalton avenue, where tract office is located, or call at our main office, 212 Union Oil Building and we will take you out.

Without cost or obligation to myself please mail map and information on Dartmouth Square and Co-operative Home Building.

FOR SALE — I AM AN EXCEEDINGLY homely but thrifty young man, became engaged to very beautiful young lady; bought lot 40x120, in Highland Park, within two blocks of both street car lines, adjoining the new location of Arroyo Seco Park. This lot with several fine oak trees is located on a verdant sloping hillside, and has thereon a romantic picturesquely elevated, level spot upon which I built by day's work an artistically planned bungalow, and had everything spick and span for the reception of my bride; she went back on me and married a strikingly handsome but worthless fellow. This left me lonely and mad as a March hare, with this house for which I have now no use. I will sacrifice $500 thereon, and sell for $2500, only $100 to $250 cash, and $25 month. See my agents, 6160 PASADENA AVE.

FOR SALE—

IT IS SO DIFFERENT.

If for no other reason, you should investigate the Verdugo Home Buyer's Club because it stands distinct and alone, separate from the ordinary real estate proposition.

The homemaker shares in the subdivision profits.

The small investor gets in on the ground floor, where usually only heavy investors are allowed.

You receive back the value you bring to adjoining land through your improving and settling there.

You can absolutely earn a home site free. And this is not an experiment. It's our tenth successful project.

Investigate now, and do it quick. The amount of bonus stock (by which you share in the profits of the entire subdivision) will be decreased after this next Friday night (May 10.)

You might as well get the maximum profits.

One acre on high ground, southwest with south front, on established and graded streets. Can be gotten right now for $900 on very attractive terms. Nice homes close by and on adjoining properties. Very low price insures big investment return in next few years. It can be cut into lots or will make an ideal home site as a whole as it overlooks miles of that most promising district toward San Pedro and Redondo. Remember it's high ground that brings the price for homes. This is less than 1-3 the price asked for acreage nearby. This is less per acre than the price of many lots within a short distance. Artesian water is piped and streets graded. It's between Vermont and Western avenue, a few miles north of Gardena, 3 miles south of Manchester and just a little west of Athens, on the Hill. $100 cash will handle it, and a monthly payment with 6 per cent. on balance. Act quick. It's undervalue and will be snapped up soon as a wise one sees it. Let me show you. Call and see me. WARREN F. McGRATH, 147 South Broadway, with Strong & Dickinson.

COLONIZATION LANDS.

LET US TALK WITH YOU ABOUT THEM.

We have five tracts which are excellent for colonizing and out of which much money can be made. There are $90, $900, $600, $200 and $400 acres, respectively. Large good tracts of land where conditions are suited to colonization are very scarce, and after a careful examination of the different ones, we can recommend only the above tracts and they are good. Price per acre ranges from $25 to $60 per acre, according to land, location and water conditions. If interested let us talk with you about them.

I have a large space centrally located on Broadway with three large display windows which I desire to lease.
The rooms are completely furnished at a cost to me of about $1500. There will be no furniture or fixtures necessary unless you desire to put show cases in.
One-half the large reception room will be given over to you, together with the 3 show windows and a good space in my large, well lighted work room.
I have a large trade in ladies' made-to-order suits and whoever rents this half of my space will be able to sell hats or corsets to practically every one of my customers.
As I handle nothing less than $50 suits, my trade is all of the very best class who demand, and are willing to pay for the very best quality.
The rental is only $50 a month and the opportunity is so remarkable that if you desire to consider it you are strongly urged to see me immediately.

STOCKS AND BONDS—

6 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS—
These Bonds are sold in denominations of $100. They are First Mortgage Bonds; draw 6 per cent. and you are also given a stock bonus which will give you your pro rata of the profits made by the increase in value. Therefore, besides having an investment in which your principal is absolutely safe and drawing 6 per cent. by your bonds, you will also earn quite a little additional from the increase in value in the property. This will be all the more rapid because of all the improvements we are putting on the tract.

Let me explain this more in detail to you. If you can't call soon, use the coupon and I'll mail details to you. Prefer though, to have you call. The amount of stock bonus given with each investment will be decreased after Friday night (May 10th.) Investigate now and get maximum profits.

Beauty's Victory.

PRETTY IRISH LASS IS THE ELECTED MONROVIA QUEEN.

MONROVIA, May 7.—Voting for the carnival queen who will rule over holiday Monrovia, May 16, 17 and 18, closed at 1 o'clock today and Miss Kelly is elected her majesty by popular choice and is the premier toast at the banquet of the Merchants' Association tonight. Over 10,000 ballots were cast for the five candidates for festal royalty and so close was the contest that the victor won by a majority of only a few votes.

Today's election eliminated the last element of uncertainty in plans for the annual fete, and for the next ten days all efforts will ceter on successful execution of the carefully-devised programme. The Merchants' Association, as the directing power, is meeting with the hearty co-operation of all kindred organizations and of the body politic. The greater scope of the year's celebration, as compared with its predecessors, demands proportionately the greater measure of enthusiasm which is accorded it.

The carnival will begin May 16, when the aggregation of amusements, curiosities and industrial exhibits will have transformed the business section to a congress of all nations, bent on having a good time. In the evening the queen, surrounded by her gaily-caparisoned court, will be formally invested with the crown and scepter amidst the tropic luxuriance of Library Park. On May 17, Monrovia's natal anniversary, only places of recreation will be open. All business places except those necessary for the entertainment of guests will be closed and the city given over joyously to the stranger within the gates. While numerous reception committees have been appointed, residents have resolved themselves into a "glad-hand" committee to greet the city's guests.

On the third day a special business display will be made with the view of entering into closer relations with the large districts of recently-developed country which are commercially tributary to Monrovia.

A large attendance is expected on all three days and reduced rates from neighboring cities have been granted by the Pacific Electric company.

COMMITTEES NAMED.

The Board of Trustees opened business for the month of May last evening by appointing F. A. Slick to fill the chair vacated by H. S. McKee. This completed the board's membership and Mayor Dorland made the usual assignment of committees. The important position of chairman of the Water Committee was assigned to H. Russel Greaves, his assistants being Messrs. Mullonkopf and Slick. The Finance Committee was headed by Mr. Tifal; Streets, Mr. Mullonkopf; Police, Mr. Slick, and Ordinance, Mr. Greaves. George C. King was appointed chief of the fire department. The matter of entering into a new contract with the Edison company for lighting the city was discussed, but no action taken.

Mayor Dorland seemed to be of the opinion that the company asked an excessive rate for the tungsten lights. In view of the fact that the company would be under the necessity of installing a new system to meet the demands for extensions, and that the tungsten system was cheaper to maintain, he thought the rate should be lowered instead of raised, as the Edison people proposed. Fully 100 additional lights would be required to meet the demands of new resident districts and at present the plant is carrying a heavy overload.

The appointment of a new health board was carried over until the next regular meeting, as was also the fixing of duties and salaries of appointed officers. A motion was passed requiring all members of the police force to wear regular uniforms.

GETS TEN YEAR SENTENCE.

Failing to Convince Jury That He Was Insane, Percy Stock Accepts Sentence to San Quentin.

SANTA ANA, May 6.—Failing to convince an insanity commission that he was insane, Percy R. Stock this afternoon stood up and was sentenced to ten years in San Quentin for passing a $500 no-fund check on the First National Bank of Los Angeles. Stock's examination produced nothing that indicated to Drs. C. D. Ball and J. I. Clark that he is insane. It did bring out, however, the story of a fruitless journey to Porterville in search of a cache of $2800, said by Stock to be located on the roof of the Glenwood lodging-house of Porterville.

Attorney W. E. Ferguson said that Stock told him that he had hidden the money on the hotel when he was hard pressed by officers. Stock also said that bank officials estimated that Stock had swindled Pacific Coast banks out of $11,000. Stock told Ferguson it was $19,000. On Ferguson's request, Lon Wells of Huntington Beach went to Porterville and found no money. The roof and chimney of the place were not arranged as described by Stock.

The allegation of insanity was on the ground that Stock had hallucinations as to wealth. It was shown that one of his stories, that he has an interest in an English estate, is true. Stock said he has $2000 hidden in Arizona and $1000 in a tobacco box at the foot of three pine trees in a canyon near Ukiah. Attorney Ferguson said he concluded Stock was a falsifier, and after the failure of the Porterville expedition, Ferguson hunted no further.

Stock was represented by Attorney Dick Harding. Before Stock was sentenced, Judge West received from the District Attorney records showing that Stock was paroled from the penitentiary at Walla Walla, Wash., where he was sent for passing a no-fund check. Stock said he was 27 years old, was raised in Los Angeles, and refused to say whether or not he had ever served a sentence in prison.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Today trial was begun of the action of M. P. Westcott, representing the claims of thirty-two orange growers, totaling $8778, against E. L. Gilman of Orange and the Edmund-Peycke Company of Los Angeles. Gilman, a packer, received oranges from the growers. When Gilman went bankrupt a year ago, the growers sued the Los Angeles concern on the ground that it was a partner with Gilman. Today a contract showing that the two defendants were to share in the profits was put in evidence.

With every indication that Santa Ana's assessment will be greatly increased over last year, City Assessor E. L. Vegely and his deputies, J. W. T. Kimball and P. B. Glover, began their work today. New structures alone will add materially to the assessment.

Citizenship papers were given today to Gustav Riecken of Orange and Frank J. Vilelle of Newport Beach.

Marriage licenses: Lawrence C. Sheffield, 19, and Florence R. Tumber, 18, both of Santa Ana; Arthur W. Fullerton, 31, and Ellen Carlson, 22, both of Orange.

REPUDIATING ROOSEVELT.

Remarkable Reversal of Public Sentiment Is Noted at Watts Where Third-Termer Is Reprobated.

WATTS, May 7.—A remarkable turning away from Roosevelt has been noticed among Republican voters in this section during the past week. Until recently Roosevelt was a favorite on all sides, but this cannot be said to be true now. Some of those who were his warmest supporters have turned either to Taft or to La Follette, and those who are keeping tab on the situation seem to be of the opinion that Taft will lead Roosevelt in this city by a large vote.

NEWS BRIEFS.

At this time a revival meeting is being conducted at the Baptist Church, and within a few days another revival will begin under the auspices of the Christian Church.

A baccalaureate sermon for the graduates of the local grammar school will be preached next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the school auditorium. There will be thirty-one graduates this year, the largest class that has ever graduated from the Watts schools.

C. G. Phelps of Long Beach, a former resident, who owns considerable property in Watts, was in town today, looking after his interests. Mr. Phelps reports that he had some of his holdings here on the market, but after an inspection of conditions has decided to hold it, and will await an advance in prices, which he says is sure to come soon.

AVALON NOTES.

AVALON, May 7.—For the benefit of visiting Shriners, Frank Shaffer has announced his intentions to fly to Catalina, from Long Beach, and, if possible, return the same day to his starting point. The flight is to take place Thursday, instead of Saturday. Shaffer plans to leave Long Beach at 10 o'clock Thursday, and fly over San Pedro before starting on his flight across the channel, a distance of twenty-seven miles. Government pontoons will be attached to the biplane used, to prevent serious accidents should the machine fail to operate. Several fast motorboats will be in readiness, and will leave if the machine is missed from the course. A powerful telescope used by the Tuna Club can locate minute objects on the mainland from the island. Shaffer expects to make the trip in thirty-five minutes.

Despite the inclement weather, 200 Shriners arrived on the island today. Nearly one-half inch of rain fell here last evening. The total precipitation for the season is 10.67 inches.

START BRYAN STAMPEDE IN A STATE CONVENTION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WALLA WALLA (Wash.) May 7.—When the delegates to the Democratic State convention were called upon this afternoon to express their preference, a desperate attempt was made to stampede the convention for Bryan. With the roll call of counties nearly completed, Pend d'Oreille county cast its solid vote for Bryan. In an instant the convention hall was in an uproar. Delegates threw their hats in the air and cheered for several minutes while a picture was carried to the front of the platform.

Delegation after delegation which had cast votes for Wilson changed to Bryan, but the Clark men stood firm and as the secretary called frantically to keep up with the changed alignments, and the first surprise was overcome, a half dozen Wilson delegations switched their votes to Clark.

A dozen Clark men were on their feet charging that the demonstration was being engineered by disgruntled Wilson delegates. The staunchness of the Clark adherents was evident, and quiet soon was restored. When the vote finally was tabulated it showed 455 for Clark, 135½ for Bryan, 106 for Wilson and 1½ for Harmon.

The platform adopted by the convention not only advocated Presidential preference primaries, the initiative, referendum and recall, publicity of campaign contributions before election, and the limiting of campaign expenditures, but advocated a non-partisan election law applying to all county and city officers, a direct primary for all State officers and the selection of United States Senators by the Oregon plan.

The platform also advocated the publicity of the ownership of newspapers, and a resolution was adopted favoring giving a Territorial Legislature to Alaska.

The purely State measures advocated by the platform included an effective weights and measures law, a graduated income tax law, the amendment of the usury laws to make them apply equally to all classes, a law for the better protection of employees in mills, mines and factories; an amendment to the workmen's compensation law giving more prompt aid and fairer compensation, government aid in the cultivation of the logged-off and arid lands and simpler methods in the courts.

The convention adopted a resolution felicitating the State on the granting of suffrage to women.

PROMOTE TAFT CANDIDACY WITH FLOOD OF ORATORY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—"One week from tonight and we'll know how California has gone," the political leaders were saying this afternoon; and so saying, they put on more steam.

"About 150 meetings will be held to promote the candidacy of the President between now and the Presidential primary," announced Taft headquarters tonight. "The whole State will be flooded with oratory."

Senator La Follette's headquarters through the lips of Ray W. Rider, secretary of the La Follette Campaign Committee, preached on "desertion," with the withdrawal of George A. Knight from alignment with the Taft forces as a text.

George Knight is a Republican national committeeman from California and made the chief nomination speech for Taft in 1908. It was announced today that he had come out for Roosevelt in a telegram to Gov. Johnson, in which he wrote: "I firmly believe he (Roosevelt) will be nominated and elected."

The Taft camp, in reply, pointed to their new circuit, Thomas R. Bard of Ventura, former United States Senator and the man, they said, "who laid the foundation of the present so-called progressive movement in California."

In a letter to a friend at Riverside, Mr. Bard wrote: "If the people shall elect Taft, it will mean that the form of government established by our fathers shall continue; if the people elect Roosevelt they will have brought about a revolution more serious than if the rebellion of the Southern States had been successful."

As between the two changes in front, Rider of the La Follette camp chose to criticise Knight's. "Afflicted by the same band wagon itch," he said, "to which Gov. Johnson and the State administration succumbed, Knight sought congenial company where the horns are braying loudest. Unable to lie in bed with Charles Mifflin Hammond, he rushed to the embrace of Hiram Johnson.

"The reports state that Johnson, in receiving news that Knight in a windy burst of rhetoric had announced himself for Roosevelt, wired 'Thanks.'

"There is just one cause that will gain by this latest desertion. That is the cause of Robert La Follette in California, the progressive cause and the only progressive cause."

SECRETARY KNOX GETS OVATION.

IS RECEIVED AND BANQUETED AT SAN FRANCISCO.

In Address He Calls the Panama Canal the "Isthmian Golden Gate." Reference to Politics Avoided. Welcomed by Members of Consular Corps in the City.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—"The Isthmian Golden Gate" was the name Secretary of State Knox gave to the Panama Canal in speaking here tonight at the banquet given in his honor by the Panama-Pacific International Exposition and the California Development Board jointly.

On his arrival from Santa Barbara, the Secretary was greeted by Mayor Rolph for the city, President Moore for the exposition, and former Gov. Gillette for the development board. Mounted police, United States cavalry and the California Grays on foot escorted him to his hotel.

After an informal luncheon, there was an official welcome from the members of the consulars corps and then the party spent the afternoon in viewing the harbor from the United States lighthouse tender Sequoia. A reception and the banquet followed.

In his speech, the Secretary carefully avoided any reference to national or State politics.

BRINGS OUT PARTY STRENGTH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary of State Knox, Premier of the Cabinet, and representative of the administration of President Taft, acted today as a magnet to attract and assemble the full strength of the Republican party's popularity in California. Visiting this city upon a mission absolutely divorced from politics and carefully refraining from utterance of a word about current campaign events until he had delivered his message to the people of California, Secretary Knox proved to the satisfaction of thousands of observant citizens that there are times when political ambitions may be relegated to second place and that there are men in the Taft organization who are broad enough to put the country's affairs above the interests of any candidate.

The cheering in the streets, the crowds at the receptions, and the attendance of hundreds of men, who were present at tonight's banquet were due to the fact that the people of California are strongly inclined to the Republican party as it exists. Secretary Knox is well known to be so full of the business of his department that his personal popularity remains a quality uncultivated. Nevertheless, he was accorded a most gratifying reception, and the record of the administration's achievements in neighboring countries telling of Taft's activities as a diplomat and peacemaker was in itself an eloquent argument for renomination.

As far as could be judged in a hurried survey of the banquet hall, more than three-fourths of the men in attendance were open and stalwart supporters of President Taft. Prominent in the gathering were such Republicans as James N. Gillett, E. H. Tryon and James McNab of San Francisco; Capt. I. N. Hibberd and W. E. Dennison of Alameda; Frank H. Short and W. W. Phillips of Fresno; Arthur E. Miller of Sacramento and P. I. Lancaster of Willits.

The Taft organization in the State was represented by Col. Charles M. Hammond, chairman; Philip S. Teller, vice-chairman, and Robert A. Ross, secretary.

functory affair in view of all the circumstances.

In its latest statement tonight the national Taft bureau gives what purports to be an analysis of the vote of Baltimore city on Monday. It declares "that out of 41,000 registered Republicans in that city only between 19,000 and 20,000 voters, or less than half, voted. Of the number voting about 12,000 were colored. As between the races, about 66 per cent. of the colored Republicans cast their votes of whom about 90 per cent. voted for Roosevelt, and only 30 per cent. of the white voters cast their ballots, of whom about 90 per cent. voted for Taft."

ON RECORD AGAINST RECALL.

Illinois State Bar Association Registers Its Disapproval of System by Popular Vote.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Members of the Illinois State Bar Association by popular vote have expressed their disapproval of the recall system. Sample ballots were mailed to members of the association throughout the State, and today the returns showed the members were about five to one against both the recall of judges and decisions involving constitutional questions by popular vote.

The vote on these two questions was the result of a meeting of the association April 32, at the Hotel La Salle. The Executive Committee adopted a resolution calling for a popular vote by its members on these questions to learn the sentiment of the lawyers and judges throughout the State. The returns when counted today at the association's headquarters, gave the following results:

Against the recall of judges in Illinois, 546; for the recall of judges in Illinois, 109; against the recall of decisions involving constitutional questions, 515; for recall by popular vote of decisions involving constitutional questions, 142.

PLACES STAMP OF APPROVAL.

Pasadena Council Declares for Colorado Street Bridge.

Will Provide Direct Line to the Pacific Ocean.

Man Loses Pocketbook Containing Fortune.

[Office of The Times, 31 N. Fair Oaks avenue.]

PASADENA, May 8.—The City Council yesterday placed its final stamp of approval on the contract for the building of the Colorado-street bridge across the Arroyo Seco, and the Mercereau Bridge and Construction Company of Los Angeles, which is to do the work, is planning to begin operations at once.

Although the contract admits of a year's time, the builders think they can have the bridge done and ready for traffic within ten months.

There was some discussion at yesterday's session of the Council over what form the dedication exercises shall take; whether the exercises shall be held when work is commenced, or deferred until the completion of the bridge.

This bridge, when opened, will afford a direct route from Pasadena to the ocean without necessity of passing through Los Angeles, and its use is enthusiastically awaited by automobilists of the city. It is to be approximately a $200,000 improvement, to be paid for jointly by Pasadena and Los Angeles county.

Yesterday's session of the Council was a busy one. The wind-up of the South Orange Grove-avenue pavement hearing, however, was postponed until 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night, at the request of several of the property owners. Some of the residents of this boulevard held a conference last night and there will probably be other meetings in the meantime.

The proposed establishment of a tuberculosis sanatorium near the Washington-street school, which is objected to by residents in this part of the city, was ruled against yesterday by City Attorney Carr. In an opinion handed the Council he holds that such a move is prohibited by the Penal Code of the State.

Several property owners on Markham street yesterday asked that proceedings for the improvement of that thoroughfare be abandoned. The Council granted their request.

FOR BETTER CONDITIONS.

Pasadena club women will take an active part in the proceedings at both the California State Federation of Women's Clubs meeting, which opens in Paso Robles on the 23rd inst., and the eleventh biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which convenes in San Francisco June 25. Delegates to both of the conferences have been appointed and are making arrangements to attend.

The State meeting is looked forward to with greater interest than the national meeting by the Pasadena women, as they are enthusiastic over several reform movements which they hope will result successfully.

One of these is the proposed law relating to school children who cannot be compelled to attend school, as the law provides they shall, because their services are necessary for the support of the family.

The State Federation of Women's Clubs has in the past accomplished something in this way by aiding the parents in such cases, and the members are now working for legislation whereby the State will take upon itself such reasonabilities. The bill which they desire to see passed came before the State Legislature at the last session, but was not signed by Gov. Johnson.

LOSES HIS POCKETBOOK.

Henry A. Coffen of Sheridan, Wyo., when he attended the Shriners' meeting at Tournament Park last Monday, lost his pocketbook, which contained a return railroad ticket and $12,000 in notes, on a Los Robles-avenue and Washington-street car.

The pocketbook was picked up by Conductor John Birandenburg and taken to the car barns here. It had not been called for last night.

ROSES ARE NEEDED.

Twenty-five thousand roses will go into the making of the float that the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association will enter in the Shriners' parade in Los Angeles, next Friday. The organization has issued a request that patriotic Pasadenans who have roses to spare contribute for the occasion. These roses will be got together at the rooms of the Board of Trade, tomorrow.

The float was designed by Le Roy D. Ely, principal of the Pasadena High School, and will probably be one of the most attractive in the parade.

BOOKS ARE IN DEMAND.

Pasadenans were heavy readers last month. Reports of the Public Librarian, Miss N. M. Russ, show that all figures for circulation were broken. The total number of books circulated by the public library during the month was 26,323. This is an increase of 2580 over the number circulated in April, a year ago.

OHIOANS GETTING READY.

An enjoyable programme has been planned for the annual meeting of the Ohio Society of Pasadena, which will take the form of a banquet at the Young Men's Christian Association building, next Tuesday night. J. J. Steadman will make the principal address. Others who will take part in the programme are William A. Sprill and Frank Forbes of Los Angeles.

Capt. C. E. Elliott,

First assistant surgeon at Soldiers' Home, who died yesterday after a brief illness.

SURGEON AT HOME PASSES.

Popular Official at Veterans' Quarters Dies After a Brief Illness—Funeral Arrangements Not Planned.

SOLDIERS' HOME, May 7.—The death of First Assistant Surgeon Captain C. E. Elliott, which took place here following a brief illness, today, has cast a gloom over the entire camp, where for the past five years his services among veterans has proved of inestimable value, while his gentle bearing and manner had endeared him to everyone.

Between his social relations and professional duties, there was no distinction in his bearing. The veteran patient was greeted with the same pleasant smile accorded to closest friends at the more exclusive social gatherings. He possessed that quality—so rare when natural—of personal magnetism that compelled the love and respect of everyone who knew him.

Dr. Elliott was born in Erie, Pa., thirty-three years ago. His parents later moving to Cleveland, O., young Elliott entered the Western Reserve University in that city. On graduating therefrom, he came to Los Angeles and took a course in the medical department of the University of Southern California; was appointed an assistant surgeon in the hospital at this place in 1907, and promoted to first assistant upon the death of Dr. T. V. Parker in 1909. He is survived by his father and mother and a brother, all residing in Cleveland, O.

Awaiting telegrams sent to the latter, nothing is yet determined regarding the funeral and burial.

MISSIONARY MEETING.

The ninth annual convention of the Pasadena district of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society opened this forenoon in the First Methodist Church, Mrs. J. B. Ulrich, district president, presiding. A devotional service was led by Mrs. John Oliver and Mrs. Belle T. Anderson spoke on foreign missions optimistically; Mrs. M. V. McQuigg discussed the aims of the missionary society for the year; Mrs. F. P. Firey, "The Claims of the Juniors." Miss Carrie Leas had for her subject: "What Shall We Read?" This afternoon Mrs. H. H. Taylor, district superintendent, gave her annual report of progress during the year. There were talks by Mrs. Z. L. Parmelee, Miss Lily D. Wood, Miss Helen Dyar and Mmes. George Haffen, L. F. Shriners are happy at Coronado.

Long Beach.

TO ENTERTAIN MANY NOBLES.

Long Beach Will Surpass Its Previous Performance.

Balls, Baths and Beauty to Be the Features.

Board of Education Reorganizes; Few Changes.

LONG BEACH, May 7.—The "queen of beaches" is ready for the invasion of Shriners tomorrow, which is officially designated as Long Beach Day. The neat souvenirs distributed yesterday and today of a bell with attached rope, and which, when pulled, showed an invitation to come to Long Beach, seems to have proved a taking card and the local Shriners' club is arranging to care for 30,000 people.

Final electrical arrangements were completed today and Pine and Ocean avenues will tomorrow be a riot of bewildering colors by day and twinkling incandescents at night, the latter topped by a huge electrical welcome sign on the pier representing a fez and scimeter studded with colored globes. The auditorium has also been gaily decorated for the Shrine ball tomorrow night.

Along the south walk of Pacific Park a row of stalls has been constructed in which crowds of Shriners will be herded for loading into automobiles, 150 of which are available. These parties will be taken over a route covering practically all parts of the city and will be returned to the auditorium and Virginia, where box luncheon and tea will be served during the afternoon. All the launches have also been chartered and every Shriner who cares to will be given a trip to the breakwater. Special privileges will prevail on the Pike and at the local bath-house.

In the evening there will be two grand balls—one at Hotel Virginia, the other at the auditorium, admission to either being by card only. A feature of the auditorium ball will be a drill by the patrol from Medinah Temple.

Long Beach made a hit with the Shriners five years ago, but expects to surpass it tomorrow.

BOARD ORGANIZES.

The Board of Education, at a special meeting today, re-elected Herbert M. Haskell, president; Ed H. Wallace, vice-president, and Albert Johnson, secretary. They also accepted the report of the Teachers' Committee on the selection of teachers for the next year, practically the entire number being re-elected, excepting those who have heard the voice of the little blind god.

There are some changes in the principals, vice-principals being advanced to new buildings which will be ready for occupancy in September. The election of a new Superintendent of Schools was not taken up, the members of the board being still engaged in examining the records and qualifications of a dozen applicants.

AIR FLIGHT.

Efforts were made today by the Pike Association to advance the Shafer airship flight to Catalina from Saturday to Thursday in order to give the Shriners a chance to see the exhibition, as most of them will be en route home Saturday. The Catalina guarantors of the fund were willing, but it was found that one set of hydroplanes sent from San Diego are in bad shape and cannot be repaired in time for Thursday. The flight therefore will be as originally announced at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in the Elton biplane, which was returned from Venice today by Clifford Turpin. Shafer in his flight will carry United States mail, establishing a new record in ocean mail.

WILL AID NEGRO.

Repsonding to an appeal by the Associated Charities and Ebell the council has agreed to allow $10 a week for the care of Sam Thomas, the negro paralyzed by a policeman's bullet April 22, when Thomas attempted to run while being quizzed as a suspect.

BOAT REMOVED.

The Craig Ship Company having failed to secure the release of the Cage submarine from the replevin order issued two weeks ago, the unfinished boat was today removed from the shipyard to a site on the harbor which has been leased by the submarine company and where the vessel will be completed under supervision of Robert Foster, who is said to be a practical constructor of this class of boat building.

PLEADS GUILTY.

Joseph Foulkes, a drug clerk, under charges of violating the liquor ordinance pleaded guilty this morning and explaining that he acted under a misapprehension of the law, was given the minimum fine of $100. Foulkes sold liquor to a woman, refilling a prescription. Holmes, arrested the same day for running a blind pig, had his demurrer overruled today by Judge Hart and must stand trial.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The City Council has instructed the Board of Public Works to make application to the government for permission to construct a temporary bridge over Cerritos slough at Seventh street to give access to manufacturing plants which have sites between channels two and three. The bridge will be a temporary structure subject to removal on orders from the government.

Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, who is touring the High Schools of the State, visited the Polytechnic High School this morning and gave a forceful talk to the student body. He was afterwards shown the buildings and grounds by Superintendent Graham.

Ebell delegates to the eleventh annual convention of the State Federation of Women's Clubs at Paso Robles May 22-24, are Mmes. F. A. Green, Harry Aylesworth, P. S. McNie and John M. Edgar.

THE MILD mellow quality of Lewis' single binder cigar is what the smokers want.

AZUSA.

AZUSA, May 7.—A large number of friends gathered this morning at the residence to pay their last tribute to the memory of Mrs. A. P. Griffith.

The services were conducted by Rev. Robert Smith, pastor of the Baptist Church, to which Mrs. Griffith belonged, assisted by Rev. Charles F. Richardson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. The theme of all the addresses was the devotion of the deceased to the work of the church. She was particularly interested in young girls, and her Sunday-school class of girls were lovingly loyal to her. Many years ago she gave up "society," with its duties and pleasures, that she might devote herself more untiringly to the work in which her heart centered. Even when the family, about a year ago, moved into a beautiful new home, the idea of the church was ever uppermost in the mind of its mistress, and it was chiefly the members of her Sunday-school class, and of the choir, that she entertained.

The choir, to which Mrs. Griffith had belonged for many years, felt that they could not sing, and the music was furnished by George Fuhr, who sang "Face to Face," and "The Singing in God's Acre."

The Peevish Child Needs a Laxative

It is natural for a child to laugh and play and when it sulks drowsily or cries you may depend on it something physical is the matter. If you see no evidences of a serious ailment you will not be wrong if you quietly give it a dose of mild laxative that evening on putting it to bed.

The remedy most generally recommended for this purpose is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which mothers throughout the country have been giving their children for a quarter of a century. Today thousands of families are using it where hundreds used it then, and there must be good reason for this word of mouth recommendation.

It is admittedly the perfect laxative for children, women, old people and all others who need a gentle bowel stimulant and not a violent salt, cathartic pill or doctored water. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will act gently, and when taken before retiring will bring complete satisfaction in the morning. After a short use of this remedy all forms of outside aid can be dispensed with and nature will again act alone.

All classes of good American people keep it in the home for ills of the stomach, liver and bowels. It has saved many a person from a serious illness.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

LOSS OF HAIR IS ACCEPTED AS THE FIRST INDICATION OF OLD AGE

Don't Look Older Than You Are

Although frequently accepted as such, thin, wispy hair does not necessarily indicate approaching old age. Instead it is more often traceable to the hair destroying effect of dandruff and hence becomes a matter of mere personal neglect.

Loss of hair and approaching baldness are not considered by the majority of people with sufficient seriousness. Both are looked upon as inevitable when as a matter of fact they are unnecessary. There is no more need of becoming bald or having thin scraggy locks at sixty than there is at sixteen.

Proper and intelligent care of the hair is all there is to it. For the removal of dandruff, to check hair loss and stop the itching, Newbro's Herpicide is the logical remedy. Its use is attended with remarkable results and much personal satisfaction.

The hair becomes light, fluffy and luxuriant and has a natural sheen and luster that may be acquired in no other way. The germ that causes dandruff is destroyed absolutely and the scalp left sweet, clean and sanitary.

The odor of Herpicide is a delight to all. Your dealer knows the merit of this wonderful scalp prophylactic and will guarantee it to do as claimed or return your money. It is sold everywhere in 50-cent and $1.00 size bottles.

Applications may be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

The Herpicide Co., Dept. S, Detroit, Mich., will send a trial bottle of Herpicide and booklet telling all about the hair to any address upon receipt of ten cents in postage or silver to cover the cost of packing and mailing.

DESERT MAY BECOME RICH

San Bernardino Men W Experiment With Beets.

Ousting a Miner Proves Dangerous Game.

Strange Fatality Seems t Pursue Three Brothers.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 7.—A rich section of the Mojave desert may yet become one big field of sugar beets. Over 100 acres have been planted to sugar beets on the Rancho Verde, under the direction of Reginald Frost, manager of the ranch. If the experiment proves successful, and the beets are found to contain the required amount of sugar 500 acres will be planted to beets next year.

Thomas J. Starke, who has just visited the experimental tract, states that the young beets are now up and flourishing. A crew of Mexicans under Leandro Velarde is now engaged in thinning the beets. Velarde will clear a big acreage for the ranch company before he returns to this city.

Should the experiment succeed a beet sugar factory will be erected at Victorville. There is a vast amount of vacant land in the Mojave basin, within reach of the Mojave River which will be found adapted to beets, it is believed.

FILLED WITH LEAD.

S. Schrader, leading a gang of men to oust B. S. Skidmore from a desert mining property, had his jaws actually filled with lead, from a bullet which knocked his teeth out. Schrader had been employed by men who had bought the mining property of a man said to have jumped the group.

He found Skidmore in possession. Skidmore ordered him and his men away, and when they refused he opened fire. The first bullet fired struck Schrader in the mouth. It knocked several lower teeth out, two teeth being embedded in the roof of his tongue, and the lead from the bullet plastered in the space from which the teeth had been knocked.

Schrader was hurried to a surgeon, who extracted the teeth from under his tongue, and then directed that he go to a dentist to have the lead fillings removed from his jaw. He escaped any great injury, though the experience was sufficient to cause him to surrender his contract as guardian of the mining claims.

STRANGE FATALITY.

That a strange fatality pursued the three McConnell brothers, John, Daniel and Hardy, is brought sharply home to the relatives by the tragic death of Hardy McConnell in Imperial Valley. He and his brothers were formerly residents of this city. Fourteen years ago Hardy and John McConnell were in a runaway accident while driving down the mountains. John was killed. Seven years drifted along and Daniel McConnell was thrown over an embankment during a runaway, and falling twenty-eight feet, was killed. Now the last of the three brothers, seven years after Daniel's death, is killed in a runaway near Imperial. Not only did the period of seven play an uncanny part in their lives, but by a strange decree of fate each came to his death as a result of the same kind of tragedy.

ESCAPED FROM ASYLUM.

The household of the Rev. and Mrs. S. G. Lamb of Highland, was aroused at 1 o'clock last night by a strange woman knocking for admittance, and requesting the use of the telephone. She talked to Los Angeles and afterward appealed for permission to pass the night on a lounge. Suspecting that their strange visitor was an escape from the Patton Asylum, Mrs. Lamb slipped out of the house, and going to a neighbor's telephoned to the hospital. It was found that the patient had climbed from a window, made a perilous descent to the ground, and easily eluded the guards. She was returned to the institution.

Imperial Valley.

LIVESTOCK INDUS NOW GROWIN

EL CENTRO, May 7.—That the livestock industry in the Imperial Valley is growing is shown by the fact that there are now about 200,000 head in the irrigated area between Calexico on the north and Calexico on the south. About one-half of this number are sheep. In round numbers, there are 20,000 beef cattle, 15,000 dairy cows, 50,000 hogs and 15,000 horses and mules in the valley. The alfalfa acreage is steadily increasing to keep pace with the growth of the stock-raising industry. For this reason, and because of the increasing high price of feed, the farmers are making preparations for planting more corn this summer than ever before.

TREE PLANTING.

Tree planting at Dixieland, the new town on the west side of the valley, is to begin this week. It is the intention of the promoters of the town to plant trees along the streets on the entire four sides of the townsite, but the shade as parks will probably not be used until early in the fall. These will be set to date and fan palms, paper and eucalyptus trees.

TO PROTECT BRIDGES.

The Supervisors are debating on the problem of protecting the county bridges from heavily loaded auto trucks. Several bridges have gone down under heavy loads. The District Attorney today advised the board that they could adopt an ordinance limiting the weight of any load seeking to cross a county bridge. The Supervisors hesitate to adopt such a law, fearing that it might be taken as equivalent to a guarantee that a bridge will sustain the legal weight, and should a bridge go down under such a load suit for damages would be likely.

City Attorney of Huntington Beach Declares Allegations Verbal Are Not to Be Considered—News Briefs.

NEWPORT BEACH, May 7.—The City Hall was crowded last night at the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees in anticipation of a decision by City Attorney Clyde Bishop on the right of Lee Collins to hold his place on the board. Collins has for the greater part of the time the past year resided on Balboa Island, just outside the city limits and it was claimed that by so doing he has forfeited his right to hold his seat on the board. Collins, however, claims that he moved to the island for the benefit of his wife's health and has doctor's certificates to prove that his former home on Palm street was too shady for Mrs. Collins. City Attorney Bishop disappointed the crowd by declaring that he would render no decision on verbal testimony, but that all argument in opposition to Mr. Collins must be submitted to him in writing as had the claims in his favor already been done.

The Trustees decided to postpone all action on the contemplated election for light and power bonds until after June 6, the bonds having been defeated by one vote on that date last year.

Tomorrow morning Aviator Glenn Martin will attempt to fly from the surf in front of the Newport Beach Bath-house to Catalina and return. The flight will be made in the presence of government representatives who are interested in Martin's new aero-hydroplane with which the flight will be made.

The City Attorney has been instructed to draft a permit for the Santa Ana sugar factory to run a pipe line through the west end of the city into the Pacific Ocean as an outfall for their sewage. The permit is to be made in such a shape that it will be revokable at any time that the offal from the sugar factory becomes offensive and provision is made that it shall not be leased to the city of Santa Ana for a general outfall sewer the reported establishment of which recently aroused so much indignation here.

James McFadden, formerly owner of the railroad between here and Santa Ana, has rented a house at East Newport and paid this city his first extended visit since selling his railroad to the Southern Pacific.

William B. Morton of Yucaipa and Miss Evelyn A. Jumper of East Newport and Charles A. Ogden and Miss Nellie A. Boyd of Newport Heights were married today.

Miss Fannie Peabody, who conducted a general store in this city for several years with her brother, was married in Calexico Saturday evening to J. E. Barker. The couple had planned to be married in the summer but Mr. Barker recently became dangerously ill with pneumonia and Miss Peabody hurried to his bedside from this city and his recovery was followed by the marriage.

Shriners go to Coronado.

STANTON.

STANTON, May 7.—The Board of Trustees of the City of Stanton held regular meeting last evening. L. McMains was elected to fill the vacancy on the board caused by the resignation of E. K. Mueller. The board authorized Trustee Hill to purchase a few sample cars of road oil for the purpose of starting immediate work upon the city streets now ready for oiling.

The Edison Electric Company made inquiry regarding the erection of pole lines along the alleys in the city of Stanton. The city has no ordinance that would prevent the establishment of pole lines along the alleys for power purposes and it is generally understood that the Edison company will commence the construction of lines within a few days.

FOUR THOUSAND GOING.

Eddie's Maier's Ranch to Be the Mecca of Fez-Adorned Masons Next Saturday—News Briefs.

OXNARD, May 7.—Four thousand Shriners are to be entertained at the Eddie Maier ranch at Simi, on Saturday next, according to plans being laid here in which many of his friends are active. The plan is to have representatives, if not the entire patrols, present and Mr. Maier has arranged to have special trains, at his expense, in which to bring the big party to this vicinity.

Upon the arrival at the ranch the throng of visitors are to be served an elaborate barbecue dinner, at which Maier will be host, and, in addition other features will be introduced. It is planned to have an outing that will cost the host in the neighborhood of $7500.

AGED RESIDENT DIES.

Mrs. Claudie Partillo, for more than half a century a California resident and member of an old Spanish family, passed away in this city today. She had made Oxnard her home since the town had its start. Death came after a year of illness.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL PICNIC.

A union Sunday-school picnic, which will be attended by about 500 people of this section, is to be held on Saturday next at Foster Park. Another big picnic is to be that of the Fraternal Brotherhood, for which the date of June 22 has been set.

WILL FILED.

The will of James A. Donlon, president of the First National Bank, who passed away recently, was filed in the Superior Court today and by it, his entire estate is bequeathed to his wife, Mrs. Ellen Donlon. According to it, the entire estate amounts to $73,344.

The survey of the site of the proposed Sisters' hospital was commenced today by City Engineer Bennett, on the Maulhardt property, donated by John Borchard.

As soon as the location of the building has been staked out, work is to be commenced on a temporary building.

The entire city has been aroused by a series of dog poisonings. Today, when two very valuable dogs were found dead from eating poison, a thorough investigation was started, which is expected to result in an arrest within the next few days.

WOULD STOP SUNDAY BASEBALL.

Ontario Residents Start Movement to Do Away With the Great American Game on the Sabbath.

ONTARIO, May 7.—A move is on foot to put a stop to Sunday baseball in Ontario. Last night a resolution from the Ontario-Upland-Chino Sunday-school Association was presented to the City Council, calling attention to the fact that Sunday games are interfering with Sunday worship and urging the Council to take action in suppressing it.

Councilman J. V. Caldwell strongly favored suppressing the Sunday games, but Mayor W. A. Freemire was of the opinion that resolution was not so worded as to warrant the board in taking any action and the communication was ordered filed for future reference.

Caldwell suggested that the people opposing the Sunday games present a petition to the Council and this will probably be done. Ontario fans, however, it is said, will fight any ruling against Sunday sport to a finish. Ontario has a good team this year and it has been victorious in almost every contest so far this season.

OFFICIAL CLEAN-UP.

The City Council last night set Friday, May 17, for official clean-up day in the city of Ontario. This followed several complaints that weeds and rubbish in certain vacant lots in the city are becoming a menace to adjoining property.

The clean-up day was also strongly urged by Fire Chief Bert Cleveland, who called attention to the fact that several of the alleys in the business section are in very bad condition. On the day following the clean-up day the city wagons will make their rounds and collect the rubbish.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Charles Latimer was last night appointed to a place on the City Board of Park Commissioners, to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of P. W. Tonneson, formerly its president. The appointment was made by the City Council upon recommendation of the Park Commission.

Nearly fifty carloads of oranges are leaving Ontario daily for the East at the present time. The number per day varies, but the average is something like forty-five cars daily. This is an excellent testimony of Ontario's choice citrus location.

FREAK STORM.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A freak thunder storm swept the valley this afternoon. The rain came down in a perfect sheet, the precipitation reaching .33 inches within twenty minutes.

Lightning was a terrifying feature. In the Stiles ranch, east of town, a thunderbolt struck a big cottonwood, ripping the tree and blasting every limb. The lightning leaped to a wire fence, and, running along the wires, shattered forty posts and burned up the wire. No other damage is reported. The precipitation for the season is 13.58.

Imperial Valley.

LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY IS NOW GROWING RAPIDLY.

EL CENTRO, May 7.—That the livestock industry in the Imperial Valley is growing is shown by the fact that there are now about 200,000 head in the irrigated area between Brawley on the north and Calexico on the south. About one-half of this number are sheep. In round numbers there are 20,000 beef cattle, 15,000 dairy cows, 10,000 hogs and 15,000 horses and mules in the valley.

The alfalfa acreage is steadily increasing to keep pace with the growth of the stock-raising industry. For this reason, and because of the present high price of feed, the farmers are making preparations for planting more corn this summer than ever before.

TREE PLANTING.

Tree planting at Dixieland, the new town on the west side of the valley, is to begin this week. It is the intention of the promoters of the town to plant trees along the streets on the entire west side of the townsite, but the large blocks which have been arranged as parks will probably not be planted until early in the fall. These are to be set to date and fan palms, pepper and eucalyptus trees.

TO IMPROVE CANAL.

The work of building a substantial bulkhead to control the flow of water in the canal above Sharp's heading, is progressing satisfactorily. This is the bulkhead, which is to replace the old brush weir at this point, will be one of the largest wood structures in the canal system.

PROHIBITION LAW.

A stringent prohibition ordinance, passed by the County Board of Supervisors early in April, went into effect yesterday.

The new law, which takes the place of the prohibition ordinance which has been in force since the county was organized, provides, among other things, that alcoholic liquors can be sold only by a licensed druggist on the prescription of a licensed physician; that the druggist shall keep these prescriptions on separate file, open to the inspection of the Sheriff, District Attorney, or any constable, and their deputies; that railroad and express companies shall not receive or carry intoxicating liquors unless the contents of the boxes or barrels are disclosed in the shipping bill and unless the true name of the one to whom the liquor is consigned is stated.

Proprietors of pool halls who are found guilty of violating the ordinance will forfeit their right to conduct a pool hall in the county for a period of two years. Any violation of the ordinance, it is provided, will be punishable by a fine of not less than $150, and by imprisonment in the County Jail for not less than thirty days, or by a fine of not more than $500 and by imprisonment for not more than six months.

WHERE DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Green's Health—Her Own Statement.

Covington, Mo.—"Your medicine has done me more good than all the doctor's medicines. At every monthly period I had to stay in bed four days because of hemorrhages, and my back was so weak I could hardly walk. I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I can stay up and do my work. I think it is the best medicine on earth for women."—Mrs. JENNIE GREEN, Covington, Mo.

How Mrs. Cline Avoided Operation.

Brownsville, Ind.—"I can say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me more good than anything else. One doctor said I must be operated upon for a serious female trouble and that nothing could help me but an operation.

"I had hemorrhages and at times could not get any medicine to stop them. I got in such a weak condition that I would have died if I had not got relief soon.

"Several women who had taken your Compound, told me to try it and I did and found it to be the right medicine to build up the system and overcome female troubles.

"I am now in great deal better health than I ever expected to be, so I think I ought to thank you for it."—Mrs. O. M. CLINE, S. Main St., Brownsville, Ind.

Audubon Society Meeting.

The Audubon Society meeting scheduled for Friday will be held Saturday of this week, instead, on account of the fiesta. The gathering will be in Sycamore Grove at 2 p.m. and all interested in bird study will be welcome.

School of Expression Graduates.

The graduation exercises of the Y. W.C.A. School of Expression were held last night, under the direction of Miss Gertrude Henshall, during which readings were given by the two graduates, Miss Ella Bizzard and Miss Isabel Smith. There was also an entertaining musical programme.

Electric Railway Men Depart.

The officers of the American Electric Railway Association and of the American Electric Railway Manufacturers' Association, having held a conference with the various civic associations of the city on Monday, and having taken a look over the city yesterday forenoon, went north to Santa Barbara late in the day.

On Battery Charge.

Thomas Kase, an attorney, will be arraigned in Police Judge Rose's court this morning on a charge of battery. The complaint alleges that he struck a messenger boy, Charles Aen, employed by a local badge manufacturing company. O. Lipman, president of the concern, will probably appear against Kase. A box containing 2500 political buttons is said to be at the bottom of the trouble.

To Sue for Salaries.

Strenuous efforts were made to file a suit to test the ability of the county to pay the compensation of the registration clerks before the County Clerk's office closed yesterday afternoon, but when 5 o'clock came it was still in process of preparation. The complainant is A. Koehler, a clerk, who asks the court to issue a writ of mandamus compelling County Auditor Lewis, County Clerk Lelande and the Board of Supervisors to issue the warrants. There are ninety-three demands involved, the amounts ranging from 63 cents to $90. These demands now aggregate $4975.35, and there is on hand to meet them $747.91. Attorney Gesner Williams is handling the case.

That Railroad Purchase.

The Good Government Organization's pet plan for the city to purchase the street railways bobbed up again yesterday in the Council's session. A special committee composed of Councilmen Lusk, Reed and Topham was increased by the appointment of two citizens to act with them. S. C. Graham and R. D. Wade of the Municipal League were the men selected.

Councilman McKenzie objected that the present seemed an inopportune time to undertake the move proposed, as the city has under consideration a regulating ordinance and he believed it should go ahead with this and let the purchasing project alone. Councilman Reed and Andrews supported the project and urged that immediate action should be begun.

Spiritualists Want Hearing.

C. A. Buss, president of the California State Spiritualists' Association, appeared before the City Council yesterday as a representative of the association, to ask that his organization be heard before the proposed ordinance prohibiting the issuance of permits to mediums is passed. He declared that as an association the body he represents is in favor of an absolutely prohibitive ordinance except for regularly ordained spiritualist mediums representing religious organizations. "We claim the privilege of religious right," said the speaker, "and have always condemned the license policy."

Goes To Welfare Committee.

The City Council yesterday referred to the Public Welfare Committee the communication of City Attorney Shenk suggesting that the city adopt a policy of operating under the employers' liability act. The subject developed a lively protest from Councilman Andrews when Councilman Reed tried to get the communication before the Industrial Problems Committee, of which Reed is a member. Andrews objected to the policy of shifting matters around instead of sending them where they belonged, and he won the point that the subject should be handled by the Public Welfare committee.

Voters Must Decide.

City Attorney Shenk yesterday presented to the City Council an ordinance submitting to the voters at the special election to be held on May 28 the proposition of the city exchanging with the United States government a tract of 9.75 acres of land on the west channel of the outer harbor at San Pedro for a tract of similar area on the west side of Dead Man's Island, to complete the desired lines for the Huntington Fill. The City Attorney notified the Council that in accordance with the provisions of the charter no submerged lands can be granted by the city without a two-thirds affirmative vote of the people at a public election. The proposition was ordered placed upon the ballot.

Message is Referred.

The City Council yesterday referred to the Harbor Commission a message from the Mayor relative to the city indorsing legislation requiring the advertisement in steamship tickets of the life-saving facilities, and similar information. The Harbor Commission has in course of preparation an ordinance to provide for the use of ample safety appliances for passengers for every vessel clearing from this port.

Adopts Health Ordinances.

The City Council yesterday adopted a series of ordinances proposed by Health Commissioner Powers, and covering the same general grounds as those heretofore in force, but changing the phraseology wherever the term of Health Officer is used, so that the new official title of Health Commissioner may take its place, and fixing a maximum penalty on all of these ordinances.

Like Los Angeles? Of course they do. Like the climate and the city itself and the girls. Why, say, we believe, honestly, that Los Angeles girls are going to pull a thousand Shriners, at least, out here; who will bring their families with them. Saw enough during the Tuesday parades to convince us of that. 1000 new Shriners! That means 1000 more Men-Who-Know; 1000 more wearers of Brauer suits, coming back year after year, to the big tailor shop, for more good clothes at $20 to $30—made to order.
Keep it up, girls; keep it up! The Shriners like the dessert. And you're it!

Baby's Voice
Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is usually a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

THROUGH FIVE-MILE LANES OF DEEPLY-MASSED HUMANITY COURSES GREATEST PAGEANT LOS ANGELES HAS EVER SEEN.

Crowning Effort of the Mystic Shrines of All the World Staged in Two Perfect Parts Each Requiring More Than Two Hours to Pass a Given Point---Electrical Display Wondrous in Its Scintillant Beauty and Embodying Lesson of Triumphant Progress---Parade of Nobles, Patrols and Bands of a Hundred Temples Completes Spectacle of Surpassing Beauty.

Masterpiece of the electrical pageant last night, the imposing Shrine Emblem, an oriental classic that was cheered all along the line of march.

THROUGH living lanes of massed humanity a hundred feet wide and more than five miles long, sparkling in a myriad of colors reflected from millions of incandescent lights above and ablaze with other millions that were part of itself, there passed last night the most gorgeous and spectacular pageant ever witnessed in this city. In two perfect parts, each requiring more than two hours to pass a given point, the crowning effort of the Mystic Shrines of the world was staged in the business thoroughfares of Los Angeles.

Wondrous in its scintillant beauty and to the last degree impressive in the mighty lesson of triumphant progress it embodied, the electrical parade was magnificent and all-surpassing. Including in itself the cream's cream of a hundreds temples whose membership spans more than half the globe, the parade of Nobles, patrols and bands was an ultima thule of the spectacular. The ensemble was well nigh beyond description.

At 8:30 o'clock last night the city's streets, jammed to the last inch of possible standing room, were so stilled in expectant hush that the raucous blare of a parade marshal's horn echoed through them as from blank walls. Between the packed walls of men, women and children the space was clear and brilliantly illuminated. The asphalt shone under countless lights, and only the olive-uniformed traffic officers were to be seen moving slowly up and down as they stopped a threatened rush here, or a surge there, as the impatient spectators swayed back and forth.

Suddenly the throng on Broadway, peering down that great causeway, saw the flashing lamps of a great motor swing from Ninth street into Broadway and come rushing madly down the center of the street. Lieut. Butler, in charge of that thoroughfare, was leaning from the steps of the motor and calling to the traffic officers stationed at every hundred feet:

"They are coming. Keep the crowd in place."

Then around the corner of Ninth to the crash of martial music, came the vanguard of the great parade of almost 10,000 Shriners.

In the lead was Grand Marshal Henry F. Niedringhaus and his aides, followed by an automobile carrying Imperial Potentate Treat.

The first glimpse of the real parade came with the sweeping march of Lu Lu Temple of Philadelphia, its beautiful white horses drawing a chariot and an exact replica of the Liberty Bell hanging from a great gun carriage.

CHEER THEIR COMING.

A mighty cheer went up as the vanguard came into view. It rippled and eddied from hundreds of thousands of throats up Broadway and down Spring and up Main and all along the route of the parade. At each turn of the streets the same mighty shout went up. From the brilliantly-lighted windows of towering skyscrapers leaned far out other thousands who cried almost hysterically as they saw some familiar patrol come swinging by with the exact tread of seasoned soldiers.

It was the nobility of North America passing in review before the greatest throng that has ever witnessed a Shrine parade in the history of that organization.

Like a serpent came the weaving of the parade into Broadway, and as the bands reached it they burst into music, and the patrols began their evolutions.

The long stretch of gorgeously-colored street with its canopy of red Japanese lanterns, under which the Greatest Night Crowd Los Angeles Ever Saw Jams Curbs, Streets, Windows, Stairways and Rooftops to Witness Shrinedom's Most Magnificent Effort—Jam of Humanity Is Joyous but Orderly.

IT WAS a mighty throng that swarmed the streets and filled the buildings along the route of the parade last night, a gathering of all sorts and conditions of men, women and children, massed together under scintillating electric lights, twisted and turned into myriad of shapes. Even a slight drizzle at the start could not dim the brilliance of the scene, as the greatest crowd that has ever gathered in this city, jostled and pushed, merrily squabbling for a place in front.

Sidewalks could not hold the vast mob and it surged over the guide lines and out into the street itself, while policemen shouted themselves hoarse and perspired freely in an effort to keep the army of jolly, joshing, chaffing spectators in their places. All the high buildings and the lower ones, too, had every window filled, even up to the seventh and eighth stories, and from 6 o'clock on, the curbings furnished seats for the earlier comers. Comparatively few appreciated what a jam was to come later on, but comparatively few in a throng of what is estimated to have been at least 250,000, meant a gigantic crush in itself, and those who arrived after 7 o'clock, furnished customers for a small rabble of boys who sold seats of all sorts, from apple boxes to piano cases.

On the stairways of structures that afforded such a chance, women

The City Council yesterday arranged for a conference to be held this morning between representatives of various boards on the question of a new water supply for San Pedro.

The Public Service Board yesterday authorized the payment of $41,-100 on the Olive-street lot held for the site of a building for all bureaus of the water department.

The City Council yesterday decided to ask the people to indorse at the special election on the 28th. inst. a proposition to trade certain lands to the government for land needed to complete the lines of the Huntington fill.

A young man who is to be tried in the Superior Court charged with having uttered a check without sufficient funds to meet it, will tell a remarkable story in his own defense, asserting he is the victim of a clever swindler.

VOTES HIMSELF INTO FAT JOB.

HENDERSON CASTS DECIDING BALLOT THAT WAY.

The Mayor's Programme Carried Through Without a Hitch—Former Private Secretary Made President of Public Service Commission—Up to City Attorney.

Frank G. Henderson, who has been secretary to Mayor Alexander since his first election, has a new job—one that will pay him $3000 a year—but he had to vote for himself to get it. He is now president of the Public Service Board, having cast the deciding ballot in his own favor, yesterday afternoon.

Commissioner Graham nominated Henderson, and Commissioner Davidson nominated Del Valle. Davidson voted for Del Valle. The latter voted for Davidson. Commissioner Graham voted for Henderson, and then Henderson's own name was called.

Henderson turned to Commissioner Davidson and asked him if the decision indicated by his vote was a settled one, and received a reply that Davidson's vote indicated his judgment on the subject. Then Henderson asked Commissioner Del Valle the same question and received an answer in substance the same.

"Then," said Henderson, "in order to break the deadlock existing I shall vote for myself."

Commissioner Wellborn's ballot followed for Henderson.

Before Acting President Del Valle could announce the election of Henderson to the presidency of the board, Commissioner Davidson arose to move that the opinion of the City Attorney be secured as to whether a member of a commission has the right to vote himself into a salaried position. The motion was carried, and then Commissioner Del Valle announced that Henderson was elected to the presidency, and retired from the chair. Henderson promptly appropriated the place that he had won by his own vote, and presided for the remaining few moments of the session.

CONFERANCE CALLED.

WILL DISCUSS WATER PLANS.

At 9 o'clock this morning there will be a conference at the City Hall on the water situation at San Pedro. In this conference will be the members of the City Council, the Public Service Board, the Board of Public Works, the Board of Harbor Commissioners, the City Attorney and Chief Engineer Mulholland of the Los Angeles aqueduct. San Pedro wants a new water system, and wants the city to supply it.

The subject was discussed at yesterday's session of the public service board. Chief Engineer Mulholland summarized the situation by stating that San Pedro tied its hand by granting a thirty-year franchise to a private water system, before becoming a part of Los Angeles, and made the provision in the franchise that the city would not enter into competition with the private company for a period of thirty years, but that scarcely had the seaport town come into the city's fold before it began to ask that this contract be broken. Mulholland said that in order to give the proper service to San Pedro it would be necessary to establish an independent water system and he estimated that such a system would cost about $450,-000. This is the gist of the problem that will face the city officials at the conference today.

AUTHORIZES PAYMENT

ON OLIVE-STREET LOT.

The Public Service Commission yesterday authorized the payment of $40,000 on the principal and $1100 interest on the lot on Olive street that was secured for a site for the water department building, which is to contain offices for all the officers and departments of the water service of the city. This $40,000 payment was due last November, but was deferred so that the funds could be used for another purpose. Another similar payment will be due next November.

Electrolysis Referees.

The Pacific Electric company and the public service board have come to an agreement for the appointment of an arbitration committee for the purpose of determining the damage done to the city water pipes by electrolysis where electric lines cross pipe lines on Sunset boulevard. The railway company yesterday named George A. Damon as its representative and the public service board named Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood for the city. The third man is to be selected by these two, but the public service board will recommend that he be a water-works engineer. The city and the Pacific Electric company are each to pay one-half the expenses of this arbitration. The pipe known to be damaged will be exposed and an estimate will be made from the conditions that are found to exist there.

VICTIM JAILED, ROGUE FREE?

REMARKABLE DEFENSE WILL BE MADE BY YOUTH.

Charged With Having Uttered Check When He Hadn't Sufficient Funds to Meet It, He Will Plead Money Was Put in Bank for Him and He Was Robbed.

As strange a story ever told a lawyer is the defense of William H. Campbell, who will be prosecuted in Judge McCormick's court on the 21st. inst. for having uttered a check without sufficient funds to meet it.

Shortly after his arrival in this city, Campbell met one Williams in a saloon. He paid for the drinks and invited Williams to his room. Soon they became fast friends.

Campbell fell in love with a chambermaid and wrote frequently to her. According to Attorney Shelton, who represents him, Campbell observed Williams writing his (Campbell's) signature. The explanation was that Williams was writing to a girl in Campbell's name. This tickled the vanity of the youth, and the incident passed off unchallenged.

In his confession to Shelton, Campbell said that he frequented several gambling places, and with the luck of a beginner, won about $200. At the suggestion of Williams, Campbell turned the money over to Williams to deposit in a bank.

Williams gave Campbell the pass-book. But to the consternation of Campbell, when he drew checks on the deposit, his signature was not honored. The bank officials told him his signature was bogus, for they had on file Campbell's signature, which Williams is alleged to have made, and the checks Williams drew.

Campbell was arrested and lodged in jail. He told conflicting tales which only served to fasten guilt upon him. Finally, Shelton gave him the third-degree, and Campbell told what Shelton says he believes is the true story. Shelton is trying to find Williams.

SOBS DISTURB COURT.

BEGS WOMAN TO DESIST.

The testimony of Mrs. Hattie L. McGue in her divorce proceedings in Judge Monroe's court yesterday offered the contrast of a woman accustomed to the best society in Michigan, meeting and marrying a man whose acts and manners were far from polished.

The court asked her if she had not observed the evidences of a lack of refinement. Mrs. McGue admitted she had, but she said they did not offend until after she had married him.

McGue is a capitalist living in Hollywood. He is charged with cruelty. One of the counts is a blank check she said he gave her to pay for goods, but which was not used, as she had cash. He placed the chick in her trunk, but later it was not to be found. McGue, according to her testimony, charged her with holding the check with the intention of filling it out for a large amount and leaving him.

In another phase of Attorney Gray's examination, Mrs. McGue said she is living in a ten-room house. An auto for her use was in question. Judge Monroe interrupted to say that a woman living separated from her husband could not expect to be maintained in the style which prevailed when her husband was with her. A ten-room house is too big for any woman in such circumstances, he declared.

A burst of tears from Mrs. McGue brought the remark from the court that they had no effect on him. He said he endeavored to decide fairly and he begged her to desist.

"I can't help it," sobbed Mrs. McGue.

Mrs. McGue, it appears from her testimony, was divorced from her first husband. McGue met her on a railroad train. When she reached Los Angeles she was compelled to support herself and obtained employment in a department store.

The case was not concluded yesterday afternoon, to the discomfort of several society women from Hollywood, who had been sitting in the corridor all day, waiting to be called as witnesses.

ESTATE DWINDLES.

EXPENSES DEVOUR IT.

The allegation that George J. Davis, executor of the estate of Mrs. Emma M. Scholl, late proprietor of the Hotel Marlboro, has squandered the moneys of the estate, is charged in the petition of Jay Ransch, Mrs. Scholl's son and one-time famous jockey, objecting to the first and final account filed by Davis.

The matter will come before Judge Rives in the Probate Court tomorrow, and according to Attorneys Dehm and Dominguez, who represent Ransch, out of a total of $23,728.33 charged against the executor, there only remains $1571.31. A judgment for $18,-259.50, obtained by Ransch against his mother for money advanced to her, remains unsatisfied. This judgment has been filed as a claim against the estate.

Objection will be made to the petition of Woodruff and McClure for extraordinary services, and expenses and fees incurred by Davis as executor, which Ransch alleges are not properly chargeable to the estate. Among other items in the account is $2012.50, pay for Davis's services as proprietor of the Marlboro, and $900 for the care and custody of Mrs. Scholl's adopted daughter, Kissie Young Ransch. Davis says he is prepared to make a vigorous fight for the legitimacy of his account.

SAVE TIME AND MONEY.

REFEREES TO HANDLE SUIT.

Three referees to be appointed by Judge Bordwell will sit at the City Hall, San Pedro, and take testimony in the suit of the City of Los Angeles against John W. Buckley for the condemnation of the opening of Harbor boulevard, San Pedro.

A motion was granted several weeks ago to have separate trials of that part of the case which has reference to the proposed boulevard leading into San Pedro. The defendants owning the land from Fourth street north appeared in Judge Bordwell's court yesterday and waived the request they had made for a jury, and by consent of the city and the defendants, the case was referred to three referees to fix the compensation.

About fifty pieces of property are involved in the condemnation, the claims running from $6000 to $80,-000, the latter figures being asked by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, which owns two blocks. The total length of the proposed boulevard involved in the suit is 3500 feet, with a width of 135 feet.

Senator Hewitt, who is handling the suit for the city, says that by referring it to referees the matter will not only be expedited, but that it will prove less expensive.

HEIRS RECEIVE CASH.

COURT ORDERS DISTRIBUTION.

A partial distribution of the Guillermo Andrade estate was ordered by Judge Rives yesterday. This distribution was held up by a restraining order, but later it was set aside when the case was decided in favor of the Andrade heirs by Judge Wilbur.

The amount involved in the distribution yesterday was $48,000 and interest amounting to $10,000. Of this amount, Andrade's widow, now Guadalupe Blinn, receives approximately $9000, and proportionate sums will go to the Talt minors, Mrs. Eloisa Talt, the mother; Miss Mercedes Andrade, a deaf mute; Albert and Edward Andrade, and Carmen de Bancroft of Spain.

Attorney Kase, representing Mrs. Blinn, will file a petition today asking the court to dissolve the trust provision of Andrade's will, which stated that if his widow did not survive until she was 36, her share of the estate should be distributed to other heirs. Mrs. Blinn has now reached that age.

The Andrade estate is more than $2,000,000, including lands in Mexico fixed at 200,000 acres. The value of the estate within the jurisdiction of this court is $200,000.

CUPID PLAYS TRICK.

AN UNCONSCIOUS BIGAMIST.

A happy marriage consummated at Chico last October was clouded when a friend recently informed Dr. Henry B. Macauley that his first wife, whom he had not seen for fifteen years or heard from since 1901, was living in Paris. He had unintentionally become a bigamist, and much distressed he appeared in Judge Willis Court yesterday to ask an annulment of his second marriage. The decree was granted.

Dr. Macauley met and married his first wife in London in 1894. They lived in London and Paris for three years when Dr. Macauley came to America to practice. Mrs. Macauley declined to leave Europe and after a time she ceased to correspond with him.

His efforts to locate her failed and he looked upon her as dead and felt perfectly safe in contracting another marriage.

He was represented in the suit for annulment by Attorney Weil, who was not able to state what steps Dr. Macauley will take to obtain a divorce, owing to the length of time and the death and removal of witnesses.

DOCTOR EXAMINES PRISONER.

Ray Nettle, a youth who assisted in holding up a Stephenson avenue car on March 15 last, the net result of which was $2, was pronounced wholly responsible for his acts by Supt. Riley of the State Asylum for the Insane at Patton, yesterday.

The examination was made at the request of Judge Hutton, who is putting into practice his theory that criminals should be treated as insane who show mental deficiency.

Nettle appeared before Judge Hutton for sentence after the examination, and on the application of Attorney Fisher, his counsel, who desired to introduce evidence that the youth is an epileptic and that he will be cared for by his father, the court continued the case until this morning.

SECURITY

WITH all of the steady, rapid, upward growth of this institution it has never deviated from its carefully conceived plan of conservative operation.

For twenty-three years it has progressed remarkably under practically the same management.

One of its cardinal principles of conservative operation is that it does not under any circumstances, lend funds to its officers, directors or employees.

Funds received here are accepted by this bank as the trust funds of depositors, and for this reason the policy outlined above is carefully followed out.

This is only one of the many reasons why you should do your banking business in a progressive, but thoroughly conservative, institution.

Gasser Proves a Failure.

The great gas well of the Stand Oil Company, section 16, 32-24, whi when it broke loose some time a delivered some sixty odd millions cubic gas a day, has, according the latest field report, proved a disappointment. The product cannot used and the gasser will be killed.

The great volume of gas was as to be due to the large hole of eig en inches. When the well was capp and the production concentrated do to a four-inch pipe, the pressure b came useless for all practical pu poses. The pressure amounts to on twenty-four pounds to the squar inch. As an average the Initial pres sure from wells of the California Natural Gas Company, the gas dis tributor for the Standard, is over 30 pounds. The well on section 16 ca not be made a gas producer and will therefore be drilled deeper, th gas stratum to be cemented off, in the hope of reaching a good oil sand

K. T. & O. Completes Well.

The K. T. & O. has just complete well No. 122 on the Buena Vista lease section 12, 29-21. The well was fin ished with 8¼ inch casing at a depth of 1205 feet. The well will be equipped with a patent screen, as will also well No. 49, which was finished at 1100 feet. Both wells will be put on the beam at once. It is estimated that each of these wells will pump an average of 150 barrels a day. Rigs are being erected for two wells on the Davis lease, section 13, 29-21. F. N. Smith of the Maricopa district has taken charge of the property at McKittrick.

Brooks No. 2 Steadies Down.

A report from Santa Maria is that the Brooks, in Cat Canyon, has its well No. 2 in the best condition of its career. The well is now producing over 500 barrels of fourteen gravity oil daily, with the aid of an air compressor, and is gradually clearing itself of the heaving sands which have been the cause of much trouble.

The well was drilled over two years ago and has been an occasional producer ever since. In that time it has acted lively once in a while, but never did any real producing except when under air pressure.

New Company to Start.

The Panama Oil Company is the name of a new concern organized by the Whittier-Campbell people for the purpose of taking over the Midnight and Daybreak oil companies and the Kelly lease.

The properties all adjoin, are located on fractional section 30, 12-34. Drilling is now in progress in two wells and reports from the field are that they are within a few feet of the oil sands and now stand cemented. It is the announcement of the Panama company that it will keep two strings of tools working steadily.

Oil Notes and Personals.

The register of the land office at Visalia has received orders from Washington withdrawing from public entry certain valuable parts of township 26, south, range 22 east.

Well No. 1 on the Rex property has encountered a shell at 3285 feet, after passing through several feet of brown shale with streaks of oil sands. The gas pressure in the well is strong and several days ago blew the water in the hole up into the derrick.

After several months of painstaking work the Mays Consolidated has overcome the trouble in its well on section 25, 31-23, due to collapsed casing. The well is now flowing at the rate of 2200 barrels a day of 27 gravity oil.

The old gusher of the Mays company on section 30 is now making 150 barrels a day. The company's other two wells on this section are poor producers, making between thirty and sixty barrels a day each.

H. H. Hillman of Los Angeles, assistant manager of the California National Well Supply Company, is making a tour through the West Side fields and is the guest on the trip of Charles Frazier, one of the local managers of the company.

President Buick of the Buick Oil Company, Fred Van Orman and several other men interested in that company have just completed a tour of inspection of that property and other East Side leases. They also paid a visit to the North McKittrick front.

L. C. Roberts of McKittrick has been re-appointed manager of the water department of the Associated Oil Company. Several months ago Roberts was elected Marshal of McKittrick and resigned his place with the Associated.

TUFTS CASE.

Additional testimony against Gorham Tufts, Jr., was introduced yesterday afternoon before the grand jury for the purpose of having on file the evidence of a person who is about to leave the State. Chief Trial Deputy Horton said the testimony would tend to aid the case against Tufts, which is scheduled to be tried the 7th inst. in one of the departments of the Superior Court.

The well is now producing over 500 barrels of fourteen gravity oil daily, with the aid of an air compressor, and is gradually clearing itself of the heaving sands which have been the cause of much trouble.

The well was drilled over two years ago and has been an occasional producer ever since. In that time it has acted lively once in a while, but never did any real producing except when under air pressure.

New Company to Start.

The Panama Oil Company is the name of a new concern organized by the Whittier-Campbell people for the purpose of taking over the Midnight and Daybreak oil companies and the Kelly lease.

The properties all adjoin, are located on fractional section 30, 12-34. Drilling is now in progress in two wells and reports from the field are that they are within a few feet of the oil sands and now stand cemented. It is the announcement of the Panama company that it will keep two strings of tools working steadily.

Oil Notes and Personals.

The register of the land office at Visalia has received orders from Washington withdrawing from public entry certain valuable parts of township 18, south, range 22 east.

Well No. 1 on the Rex property has encountered a shell at 3285 feet, after passing through several feet of brown shale with streaks of oil sands. The gas pressure in the well is strong and several days ago blew the water in the hole up into the derrick.

After several months of painstaking work the Mays Consolidated has overcome the trouble in its well on section 28, 31-22, due to collapsed casing. The well is now flowing at the rate of 2300 barrels a day of 22 gravity oil.

The old gusher of the Mays company on section 30 is now making 150 barrels a day. The company's other wells on this section are poor producers, making between forty and sixty barrels a day each.

R. H. Hillman of Los Angeles, assistant manager of the California National Well Supply Company, is making a tour through the West with Eddie and is the guest on the yacht of Charles Frazier, one of the managers of the company.

President Buick of the Buick Oil Company, Fred Van Orman and several other men interested in that company have just completed a tour of inspection of that property and other Kern side leases. They also paid a visit to the North McKittrick front.

T. C. Roberts of McKittrick has been re-appointed manager of the water department of the Associated Oil Company. Several months ago Roberts was elected Marshal of McKittrick and resigned his place with the Associated.

TUFTS CASE.

Additional testimony against Gorham Tufts, Jr., was introduced yesterday afternoon before the grand jury for the purpose of having on hand the evidence of a person who is about to leave the State. Chief Trial Deputy Horton said the testimony would tend to aid the case against Tufts, which is scheduled to be tried on the 7th inst. in one of the departments of the Superior Court.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Open Letter to George A. Knight from Senator Cole.

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—Dear Mr. Knight: I saw in yesterday's paper your telegram to Hiram Johnson, informing that worthy of your purpose to support Roosevelt. That was indeed a surprise. I was the first national committeeman of the Republican party for California, you are the last; but you are the first one to go back on your party, your administration, your President and I trust you will be the last to do so, without any reason, except that you believe, as you say, that Roosevelt "will be nominated and elected." You know, as does every intelligent man, that Roosevelt, a man of remarkable attainments as well as experience, is ungrateful, unjust, and wildly ambitious, and that he is not a Republican in any sense of the word. He believes that "governmental power should be concentrated in the hands of a very few men," which is precisely the belief of all monarchists and oligarchies the world over. He is not speaking of the administration of government, which may be in the hands of a few men, as the representatives of the people, but he speaks of the power of government, and this belief of his is shown in very many of his utterances. For political ends he acknowledges the "right of the people to rule," a right, alas! which finds but little recognition throughout the world, and none whatever where "governmental power is concentrated in the hands of a very few men."

All who have read Roosevelt's books are aware of the disparaging, if not contemptuous manner of his speaking of most of his predecessors in the Presidential chair and of his discredit of the founders of this republic. We see in the daily press renewed evidence of his discredit of the Declaration of Independence and of the Constitution of the United States.

But what is most astonishing is that you should, without other cause than a supposed popular impulse, desert so good, so just, so able and so successful a President as Mr. Taft to follow the fortunes of so unscrupulous a traitor to his party as is Theodore Roosevelt. But there are many examples in history of inexcusable treason. Among them is that waged against President Lincoln, which, however, was certainly not more flagrant than that now waged against President Taft.

HOW TO ADVERTISE.

Witty Speakers at Ad Men's Luncheon Tell Ways and Means to Get the Punch Into It.

Every weekly luncheon of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles is a little better than the one before, and yesterday's programme at Levy's Cafe filled the noon hour for 200 busy writer men with the germs of countless ideas. Good copy as seen by Charles A. Elder, good advertising as viewed by Robert E. Rinehart, and good advertisers in the opinion of Charles F. Lummis, were the subjects of the hour. Ernest Ingold acted as chairman.

Elder said that good copy comprehends the strong point of the business advertisers and hammers away at it until everybody else knows it. Elder came to Los Angeles thirty-two years ago with a two months lease on one badly impaired life and a fully paid in capital stock of $5 in tenderfoot money, which was borrowed. Organizing the Los Angeles Investment Company, he was his own advertising manager for thirty years and it is generally conceded that he got his copy over.

Rinehart suggested that good newspapers should not take any bad advertisements any more than they would take bad money and that from the ad writer's standpoint, his copy should be clean, his type arrangement telling, and that his output should always ring with sincerity.

Lummis put it that the stupid ad has no chance today and that some of the best literature produced these times is advertising. It is not sob stuff, he said, but the sort of writing that has cleverness, twist and bite in it. Perhaps Lummis never made a wittier speech. He congratulated Rinehart that the city's municipal advertising is still pure and said that he looked forward toward having read to him such ads as these:

For Sale: One City Hall at twice its value. Contains finest collection of rat holes in the city.

Found: One harbor. Owner can have same on making needed improvements and paying the charges.

Lost: Three days between elections. Finder will please return and no questions asked.

The speaker is sure that advertising has helped many men to bulging success, because he could now stand on his Arroyo Seco property and pot more millionaires with his old Buffalo rifle than were at large in the whole United States twenty years ago.

He spoke of a recent visitor from East Aurora as that shrinking violet who addressed the public on his greatness at the Auditorium last week, and he spoke of another big self-advertiser as having teeth which nobody yet has been able to pull.

At an executive session following the luncheon, the following delegates to the national convention at Dallas, were named: Douglas White, E. K. Hoak, C. W. Hibbard, Ernest Ingold, Garner Curran, H. S. Carroll, John Renfrew, W. G. Adams, A. H. Wilkins and A. C. Smith.

Other members going are, O. W. Leonard, R. E. Webb, C. K. Gentry, E. C. Thomas, T. E. McDevitt, Shirley Hunter, D. H. Schuhmann, Victor Hect and E. A. Berg.

Woman Notifies Police She Killed Husband—Says He Came at Her With Knife and She Shot.

Mrs. Marie Reynolds surrendered herself to the police by telephone, yesterday.

"This is Mrs. Marie Scott, wife of Frank Scott, No. 222 North Vignes street," she announced. "I've just shot and killed my husband and I want you to come here and get me."

Motorcycle Patrolman Williams was sent to investigate, the woman's statement being considered more of a joke than a serious assertion.

"It's a murder, all right," Williams reported. "He's dead."

Detectives Beaumont and Roberts were detailed on the case. They found that a number of colored men and women had been carousing at No. 222 North Vignes street. During the drinking bout, Mrs. Reynolds, who asserts she was Scott's common-law wife, they having lived together for almost four years, had some words in a room, where they were by themselves. Mrs. Reynolds declared Scott rushed at her with an open knife, and she protected herself with a revolver, which she grabbed from a dresser drawer as she ran around the room.

The first shot missed Scott. The second hit him in the head, and he fell to the floor. The third, fired as he lay on his back, pierced the heart. When Detectives Beaumont and Roberts reached the house, they found a knife lying near Scott's right hand.

Mrs. Reynolds was locked up at the Central Police Station, without bail, pending an investigation by the Coroner.

CAUGHT WITH THE CLOTHES.

I.W.W. Agitator Arrested Wearing Suit Stolen From Grading Camp. Has Bad Record, Police Say.

There will be one less I.W.W. agitator orator at First and Los Angeles streets, for the weekly harrangue next Sunday, for Gus Ray is in the City Jail. He is an ex-convict, and was arrested yesterday by Detectives Dixon and Fitzgerald for the robbery of a grading camp at No. 2540 George street. He will be arraigned in the Police Court this morning.

"This man has been an I.W.W. speaker at First and Los Angeles streets for a long time," said Detective Fitzgerald yesterday. He is wanted in many of the Southern States for burglary. He has done time for burglary."

Ray, who lived on Los Angeles street, not far from the scene of his Sunday oratorical efforts, stole several hundred dolairs' worth of clothing from the camp. When arrested he was wearing one of the stolen suits of clothes. He is about 35 years old.

RAISING SINEWS OF WAR.

State Optometrists Create Handsome Fund for Prosecution of the Interests of the Association.

The State Optometrists Association devoted a large part of its sessions yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce to creating a fund for the use of the Ways and Means Committee. The enthusiasm was such that it appeared to be real fun giving away their money, as the members, one after another, announced their subscriptions, which run from $5 to $20 each. The fund raised reached several hundred dollars, and the good work will be continued until all the members who were not present yesterday have an opportunity to contribute to the sinews of war.

President Fuller, Treasurer Forsyth and others made stirring addresses upon the benefits of the organization to the profession, which helped to swell the subscriptions.

No session was held last night, and the convention will resume its work again this morning, when new officers will be elected. This afternoon will be devoted to a pleasure ride through the parks, and a visit to Pasadena.

HALL OF RECORDS AGAIN.

The grand jury yesterday morning resumed its investigation into the alleged breach of contract in the interior furnishings of the Hall of Records. It is not believed that anything more will result from the inquiry than a report of the jury, with some recommendation as to what sum should be paid to subcontractors.

RELEASED ON BAIL.

G. P. Green, former treasurer of the Examiner, who was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of embezzlement from the newspaper company, has been released on bail, pending some disposition of his case. The District Attorney intimated yesterday that if Green pleads guilty to one indictment, the other two may be dismissed, and he may be allowed to go on probation.

MYSTERIOUS INSTRUCTIONS.

Until Miss Millie E. Wolf shall have been found, Pierce Bros. will not bury W. Mitchell, a machinist, who committed suicide Monday by hanging himself to the foot of his bed at No. 503 Ceres avenue. He left a note addressed to his wife, who lives on Ninety-second street, Brooklyn. She telegraphed the undertakers to communicate with Miss Wolf relative to a final disposal of the body. Who Miss Wolf is, where she lives and what the connection is between her and the dead man, the police are trying to find out.

ROBBERS BEAT VICTIM.

In a dazed condition as a result of the severe beating administered to him by highwaymen, George Mitchell, No. 814 Fifth street, was taken to the Receiving Hospital yesterday morning for surgical treatment. He said he had been robbed of $150 in bills and a 17-jewel gold watch by two men who held him up at the entrance to the alley on East Fifth between Main and Los Angeles streets. Mitchell could not give the police a good description of the men.

AUTO INJURIES FATAL.

Patrick Crampton, address unknown, who was run over by an auto truck at Fourth and Spring streets Sunday evening, died at the County Hospital yesterday morning following an operation to remove a portion of his liver. The body was removed to the Cunningham & O'Connor morgue. The truck belonged to the Pacific Coast Box Company, and was driven by F. J. Dearing. The police exonerated Dearing. Crampton was a laborer.

The Buford has been ordered to take aboard Britons and Spaniards as well as Americans who would like to leave Mexico. The War Department must have mistaken the Buford for a combined navy and line of passenger steamers.

CONSISTENT.

Burglars looted a house in San Francisco while the family was at a funeral. Naturally the public shudders at this lack of delicacy on the part of the robbers. Sentiment, however, is not a burglar's specialty. If he had fine feelings which always took funerals and other conditions into consideration he would not be a burglar.

IN WHOLESALE LOTS.

While his honors endure Orosco is helping himself to the sugar barrel. He is now commander-in-chief of the rebel army, Minister of War to the provisional government and has had his secretary appointed treasurer of the insurrection. For Orosco's sake we sincerely hope that an early writer was mistaken in the presumption that "pride goeth before destruction."

THE WRONG DRAFT.

A 2-year-old girl baby ate a draft for $200 which was to have been used to pay the expenses of a wedding. There can be no objection to a little girl wanting to get all there is out of a $200 draft, but if she made a practice of swallowing only those drafts intended to be used for divorce proceedings instead of those to be expended on marriages the habit would be more becoming.

PAID IN FULL.

Weep no more and worry never again over the mortgage you cannot meet. A lady befriended a wayward boy a few years ago. This week he called upon her and paid the mortgage which was hanging over her head. Go to your bank at once, mortgage your home for eleven-tenths of its value, unless you already have it plastered for a sum handsomely in excess of its value, then hand a beggar a dollar and leave it to him. This bread cast upon the waters is a great thing when the system does not miss fire.

UNFAIR.

Col. John Jacob Astor was a hero in dying, but in putting that joker in his will depriving his widowed bride of her small share in his vast fortune if she marries again he was selfish and unfair. She took him "for better or for worse" on the old divine plan. She gave him her youth and her heart went with it. She braved gossip and opposition in storms which shook society and the church of which the Astors are adherents. In the face of such devotion what hand has the right to stretch from the grave to regulate or deny the living? Such conditions are unnatural and they put a premium on evasion of the law's letter.

IT CAN'T BE DONE.

A Los Angeles youth wants to serve the sentence of his father in a Texas prison. Usually such relations are reversed, and while parents are not allowed to go to prison for their children, they shield them from their rightful share of the responsibilities of life in every possible way at sacrifices which are always pitiful and sometimes tragic. If people could only realize that everything entering a life is for its discipline and development and that the most extravagant experiences are lessons in the great school by which the individual is forced to square his own accounts with the universe our hearts and minds would be more at rest about those we love. There must be an inherent justice safeguarding us all.

BRIDGE BUILDING.

It would be comforting to believe that the vast distances between the known and the unknown and the seen and the unseen are spanned in every age and in each generation by a few wise and loving persons who go about upon this planet doing good. Those persons who tiptoe the misty mountaintops of inspiration and joy can never contact the valleys at their feet without building the bridges of thought and feeling over which the multitude may pass in safety and peace. The joy of possession is its giving. The joy of knowledge is spreading its light. Every man whose breadth of mentality and nobility of spirit have caused the white sails of this soul to dip a little beyond his fellows in the infinity of being is a bridge builder. He prepares the way and after him nations follow.

SENTIMENT PLACED.

The possession of sentiment and due regard for its beauties does not imply weakness or neglect in practice. The man who hurries on an important mission is not less practical because his eye notes in passing a florist's window that the first forget-me-nots of the season are here. In every line of endeavor people are like a man who stands upon a mountaintop intently regarding a house at a distance. He sees the house, never forgetting it as the objective point of his vision, but his eye also rests upon the cattle in the green fields and the sweet grasses upon which they feed; upon inviting roadways and gleaming trails; upon fences hedged with trees and flowers, and orchards upon which the sunlight rests. It does not imply inattention if our vision is broad enough to include other objects than the specific and present bent of the will.

LOS ANGELES' WELCOME.

Los Angeles welcomes not merely the individuals who compose the membership of the Masonic order of Shriners. She welcomes the spirit, the power and the presence of the order itself. Only those who have a right to wear as an emblem the compasses crossed on the square can fully comprehend the universality and the antiquity of Masonry. There are lodges near the icy glint of lakes which lie far beyond the northern confines of the republic. There are lodges shadowed by the forests which circle the base of Orizaba. In Europe, in Asia, in Africa, in the Americas, in the islands of the sea, wherever civilization erects her altars, there the brethren of the mystic tie may be found.

The origin of present Masonry is understood to date from the building of King Solomon's Temple. But there are found signs which indicate that Masonry existed among the lost races who have passed away and who left the imprints of a prehistoric civilization upon the casas grandes of New Mexico, the ancient fortifications of the Mississippi Valley, the sculptured monoliths of Copan, the ancient aqueducts of Arizona and the pyramids of Northern Mexico; races whose carvings in stone and whose ornaments in pottery, in metal, in shells and obsidian and porphyry are often unearthed all the way from Lake Superior to the Belize; races whose temples are crumbled, whose gods are vanished and whose records exist only in the undecipherable hieroglyphs of a language lost and gone.

The Shriners are members of an order whose chief object is brotherhood and charity; an order which accomplishes its benign purposes through the love that comes from knowledge of each other and the strength that is born of association and cohesion.

In the beginning, when the morning stars sang together, the spirit of Masonry came with man upon the earth. A new and swinging world, plucked out of the stilly and starless unknown, her brooks filtrated from the mists of chaotic wastes, her fields unblown, her first-born forests yet succulent with nature's milk, her airs warm with wooing motion, and her freshly-tinted skies painting the crest of creation upon newmade lake and river. Suns unshorn of a virgin beam, and moons propelled along unplowed paths, and stars yet untaught in sentinel duty, over all this songless world shone ever. It was but a dewdrop hanging from the finger of the Great Author. And yet it was a world set apart for the uses of mortal man and dedicated in the presence of angels to the universal brotherhood.

Masonry never brought evil to mankind. Its organization still retains the master idea of the ages. It has ever been a stronghold of rectitude and justice, catching glints (even through the quagmires of the superstitions of heathen nations, or the jungles of obscure faiths) of that celestial light which must endure forever.

The walls of the Shriners' lodges have never echoed a sentiment that is not kindly, and their doors have never opened for a deed of injury to any human being.

We welcome you, brethren of the mystic tie. When next you visit us a million souls will dwell between our hills and our ocean shore. Our temples of art and industry, of science and religion and benevolence will be doubled. The ships of the world will unload upon our wharves the trophies of a conquest which commerce shall achieve over two hemispheres. And still, even as Yosemite, in the presence of awe-struck tourists, tosses her soft, white lace of falling waters to the air, as simply and as purely as in the days when she was alone with the forests and the meadows, so will the maxims and the deeds and the life of your noble order bear themselves serene amid the din of human industry and the selfishness of human struggle.

PRE-PRIMARY ORATORY.

One of the ravines through which the waters of Owens River run retains to this day the name that the pioneers gave it—"Jawbone Canyon." This was probably because the old settlers had an oversupply of spellbinders among them. A gift of oratory is often derided by those who do not possess it. The French characterize it as the "flux de bouche." Doctor Johnson once said that "a man who would make a pun would pick a pocket" and the saying has been treasured by those who cannot make puns. Fluency of speech, which is often mistaken for eloquence—by the speaker, not hearer—can be acquired by practice. But it is often a fluency of emptiness. There is no self-complacency equal to the complacency of ignorance. Men sometimes think that they are making a speech when they are only making a noise. Thinking on one's feet and thinking consecutively is an art which few possess, but which many think they possess.

The Presidential primary has given us this year a triple dose of orators. Usually no "stumping" is done until after the nominations. This year the speechmaking has preceded the primaries instead of following them. President Taft has been crucified between La Follette on the right and Roosevelt—the impertinent one—on the left. But he will "resurrect and come in on the home stretch," as an enthusiastic spellbinders who mixed his metaphors remarked.

The orators who kept their mouths shut were wise guys. If Taft should be nominated then those who have perambulated the State shouting aloud that he was a Nero, a Caligula, a robber of widows and orphans and a doormat for the pedoneums of big business will not feel like explaining to audiences that they were once enthusiastic liars, but have now resigned from the Ananias Club. If Roosevelt should be nominated—oh, Lord, have mercy upon us—then the spellbinders who have felt it to be their duty to expose his manifold iniquities and inconsistencies can only retire into their holes and pull the holes in after them.

"For never did the Cyclop's hammer fall
On Mars's armor forged thunderproof,
With less remorse than Johnson's loud-voiced yawp
Will fall on Shortridge."

Nor will the Democratic leaders be altogether exempt from the consequences of pre-primary utterances. Woodrow Wilson, if successful, will have to explain why he wanted to expel Bryan from the Democratic party, and Marse Henry will have to explain why he called Woodrow a liar. If Champ Clark wins—as seems probable—he will have to take back a lot that he said about Woodrow and Harmon. If Harmon should win he would illustrate the proverb that "it is the still pig that drinks the swill."

Whether in Republican or in Democratic ranks the quarrel is, as Sir Lucius O'Trigger remarked, "A very pretty quarrel as it stands."

PARIS AND THE BABIES.

Since last year's terrible floods Paris finds herself in urgent need of repairs, so the sum of $125,000,000 has been voted towards that end. It is known as the Paris Improvement Scheme, and much beautifying is contemplated.

But the most important of the plans is that to build a large number of apartment houses for the working classes in the very heart of the city so that the laborers may walk to their work.

These are to take the form of highly-modern and convenient flats of from two to five rooms, and the rents are to be fixed at an irreducible minimum which may possibly cover expenses, but could never show any profit.

The most subtle part of the scheme, however, is the pronounced encouragement to large families. The more children a couple have the less rent they pay, so that a family of six will get a comfortable flat for about a dollar a week! The lone bachelor will pay about $4 for the same accommodation.

As in many other large cities, Paris has been suffering severely from the "no-children" landlord and it has become increasingly difficult for a family with children to find accommodation. Even Los Angeles is not free from this difficulty, although it has not become a grievance here, owing to the large number of nearby suburbs. But in Paris it amounts to a scandal, and much the same may be said of London. This scheme of the municipal apartment house is therefore the most generous boon the city could conceive, as well as one of the wisest.

ARE OUR SCHOOLBOYS EFFEMINATE?

Dr. George Kerschensteiner, the great German educator, is publishing an able treatise on our American school system. After paying tribute to the general efficiency of our methods, and laying especial stress on the cultural advantages enjoyed by young America, he adds a drop of vinegar to the honey by concluding that the excessive use of women teachers in this country tends to produce "effeminacy and flabbiness" in our schoolboys.

We are disposed to join issue with the great German in this last contention. It is true that in no other country has the training of male youth been entrusted so generally to women as it has in America. That this would develop the feminine rather than the masculine qualities in those so educated is a natural conclusion to arrive at. But experience has proven that in America such has not been the case. We are still producing college athletes who can hold their own with those of any other country. Boxing—which is certainly not a flabby or effeminate sport—is finding its most able exponents among our young Americans. Our soldiers and bluejackets attain a higher average physique than those of any other nation. In any field where manly qualities are essential to success the American can always give a good account of himself.

If our boys had been rendered effeminate by too much petticoat government—as the German doctor claims—the same qualities would be found among our matured men. And they certainly are not. Foreign critics at many times have found many faults with us, but the most hostile have never been able to pretend that the American nation has ever shown any sign of flabbiness.

The reason is not far to seek. A greater thinker than Dr. Kerschensteiner, Frederick Nietzsche, has pointed out that in no one individual does any one sex absolutely predominate. Every man has in a more or less degree something of the woman in his composition; every woman possesses to a greater or smaller extent some male attributes. In fact, though physically we are divided into two clearly defined sexes, temperamentally and psychologically every individual is really bi-sexual.

Therefore a woman teacher in whom the masculine-feminine was strongly marked will develop the manly side of a boy more thoroughly than a male teacher in whom the feminine-masculine predominates. American women, through their greater freedom and their more active part in business life, have reached a high standard in resourcefulness and self-reliance, far beyond that of the women in any other country. The resolution, the courage, the endurance supposed to be masculine qualities have become leading traits in the womanhood of America. This is particularly true of the American school teacher. These qualities they naturally instill in the pupils who come under their influence. This, if you like, may be making the nation feminine—according to the high plane to which that adjective may be exalted; but it is not making our boys or our men effeminate; it is developing a race that is the very antithesis of flabby.

Instead of pointing out a flaw in our educational system, it seems to us that Dr. Kerschensteiner has unconsciously paid a more graceful compliment to the American woman than interested flattery could possibly have devised.

A RIGHT TO DEMAND.

Before casting a vote for Theodore Roosevelt at the May primary every fruit grower in California and every farmer has a right to demand a plain statement from the insurgent leader as to his exact attitude toward the vital policy of protection. No citrus or deciduous fruit grower, no grower of sugar beets, no one interested in the dried fruit or canning industries who values his own interests or those of his State will be content with any vague or unsatisfactory waiving aside of this one paramount and all-important issue.

Up to the present time Roosevelt has skillfully dodged giving any reliable guarantee with reference to this—the cardinal doctrine of every true Republican. After hedging on so many other questions of public policy, in his scrambling efforts to catch all the little political fish in his dragnet, we are justified in believing that he intends to tinker with the tariff, too; we have a right to the conviction that he will cast this safeguard of prosperity into his all-consuming melting-pot.

Gov. Johnson, while stumping the State, has also refrained from giving any pledges as to the soundness of his views on the question of protection. Even if all the extravagant claims he is making for his lord and master were true, even if the third-termer were really the friend of the plain people and the only true champion of progressive policies, unless he stands as firmly as a rock of granite in support of a protective tariff he is a menace and a danger to the people of California. Without a distinct and an unequivocal pledge that, in spite of his other changes of front, he still remains true to the policy of protection, every man or woman directly or indirectly connected with our citrus, dried-fruit, sugar or canning industries who casts a vote for Theodore Roosevelt at the State primary is voting against himself, his people, his party and his State.

What's the Answer?

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

At this season man's afflicted with a score of grievous ills, and he's frequently addicted to the use of costly pills; or he buys some bottled liquor made of barks and buds and leaves, and it makes him all the sicker, till his soul within him grieves. There's a cure for human creatures, there's a balm to heal them all; let them sit upon the bleachers, sit, and watch the boys play ball. Pity him who whines and wheezes over every little ill; if we brood o'er our diseases, they will grow until they kill; let our ailments be forgotten while we scratch for fun or fame, and they'll find their job so rotten they will often jump the game. No one thinks about his liver, no one thinks about his gall, while he makes the welkin quiver, looking at a game of ball. Uncle Henry was complaining of the aches that racked his form; rheumatism, in him reigning, made his language blue and warm; and he blew himself for potions till he stood without a cent; and he soaked himself in oceans of ill-smelling liniment. Then he went to see a battle 'twixt the Pirates and the Blues, and he made the welkin rattle with his cockadoodledoos. Now there's not a better feeler underneath the spangled frame; every day he whips a peeler after witnessing the game.

CLXII.

The Leopard Changes His Spots.

Just about this time, having some troubles of our own, the vagaries of our friends the enemy do not claim much of our attention. Nevertheless, the actions of the Democratic party are always interesting as a cage of monkeys. The mind is riveted upon the busy activity which seems to get nowhere. You forget what it did last, not so much in the rapt contemplation of what it is seemingly doing at present, but with the bewildering anticipation of what it may do next.

Two prominent men—one is almost tempted to say statesmen—well, let us say statesmen; we often say it of other men. Two prominent statesmen, then, have presented themselves before the Democratic party as candidates for its nomination for election to the Presidential office. This, of course, without prejudice to the regular quadrennial candidate. One of these statesmen is a Missouri Democrat—one of the kind that shows the other fellow.

"Champ."

Champ Clark is a Kentuckian, since adopted by West Virginia and Missouri. His baptismal name was chosen with rare prescience, to prevent its being supplanted, after the affectionate custom of the warm-hearted South, by a pseudonym indicative of love and esteem. He was baptized to the purple; he was given a name of love and admiration—the petting that transformed His Excellency Robert Taylor, Governor of Tennessee, into plain "Bob;" incorruptible "Bob;" truest of nicknames, which spells the same name both ways; a perfect anagram of a name.

When the Fates, who are a little hard of hearing sometimes, stood beside the font at his christening, Lachesis whispered,

"What did they name the baby?"

And Clotho, the lady with the distaff, answered, "Champ."

Then Lachesis, the sister who assigns man to his fate, said promptly and decisively,

"That settles it. He shall be a Democrat, a Presidential candidate, and he will——"

But at this, the most interesting of her prophesy, Atropos, the girl with the scissors, cut her off.

Woodrow.

The other candidate for such Presidential honors as the Democratic party had to give, which are rare indeed, is another man insured against a nickname at his christening, Woodrow Wilson of Virginia, Ph. D. (Johns Hopkins) LL. D. (Wake Forest) Johns Hopkins, Rutgers, Brown, U. of Pa. Dartmouth and Harvard. Litt D. (Yale) professor of history and political economy, and professor of jurisprudence and politics, and president of Princeton University and Governor of New Jersey, and member of all the learned societies in the Blue Book. He is pitted against Champ Clark and the two went into the glorious old commonwealth of Massachusetts where they spell Africar with a final r and Harvard with none. What chance had Champ Clark against such a candidate in the old Bay State?

In Emersonland.

Champ walked away from the Virginian backward, leaving him tied to the starting post, looking the other way. That's all. Called upon to decide between Champ and Woodrow, Massachusetts, whose proudest encomium is herself, and mother of philosophies and an inventor of cerebration and nurse of ideas, simply said, icily and with decisive finality,

"Champ!"

With the "a" so flat it wouldn't rhyme with anything but a slapstick.

What do you know about that?

"Remember the Alamo."

But only yesterday they went down into Texas, wild, woolly and wonderful. Texas, the empire of the long-horned herds; Texas of the Alamo and the Ranger; old Sam Houston's Texas; Texas of Bowie and Travis and Davy Crockett, immortal heroes of the American Thermopylae; Texas, where the fiery, untamed Bailey rides the dictionary like a Valkyrie—bully old Texas, where Champ rhymes with camp and ramp and stamp—all with the flattest of "a's."

And the Lone Star State rose up in the majesty of its prehistoric democracy and cried with one voice and several intonations,

"Give us Woodrow Wilson of Virginia, Ph. D., LL. D., Litt. D., professor of history and political economy, professor of jurisprudence and politics, president of Princeton University and Governor of New Jersey, author of the "Elements of Historical and Practical Politics." As for this man "Champ," his name has a strange, uncouth, discultured sound in Texas ears, and we wot not what has become of him.

That's Democracy in Massachusetts and in Texas.

Disturbing the Peace.

The recent dispatches tell us of a sad occurrence at a funeral in Montreal a week ago. The dead man was looking as natural and a great deal cleaner than life in the casket, the room was hushed and darkened, the sympathizing neighbors were waiting for the quartette to sing the opening hymn, everything was decorous and orderly, and the undertaker was teetering about in the rear of the room, noiseless, finding seats for the late-comers, when suddenly the corpse lifted itself to a sitting posture and asked for a drink of water. Immediately the solemnity of the impressive scene was destroyed. Confusion and terror reigned. Shrieks of consternation arose and the mourners stampeded for the door or emerged from the sides of the room with window sashes hanging round their necks. And the next day the man died again and nobody would come to the funeral. People do so hate to be fooled by a corpse.

Interuption of Business.

There are yet a great many men waiting for burial in the United States. The men themselves are not very impatient about it, but the rest of us are. And we will never get through disposing of the men who ought to have died long ago, if the ones we do bury keep coming to life again, like Doc Cook and Harry Thaw and Parson Richeson and men of that class. When the public brand a man "D.O." for "Dead One," to all intents and purposes he is dead, and he ought to lie down.

poise, the reserve, the subtle scene-building as well as artistic phrasing of this gentleman of the French stage. As to the adaptability of "L'Africaine" to the average hurry-in and-rush-out bargain day audience, there is much less to be said. In fact, it is the personality and the finished singing of Affre which holds, and not the really tiresome scene by Meyerbeer. "O Paradise," as delivered by Affre, is a gem, but after that there are many saline eddies in the sweet flow of melody.

Mme. Richardson, though by no means such an exponent of lyric drama as Affre, is nevertheless a handsome American woman, and her soprano is brilliant, sure and possesses that which Affre's voice lacks—the spid of youth.

Though Affre overshadows every one else at Pantages this week, there is nevertheless an excellent programme, furnished by as varied a cluster of entertainers as one often meets.

Ernest Carr and his company are seen in "The Grafter," a sketch utilizing three characters.

The Lancaster Septette presents "Voices in Gyperland."

Berry and Wilhelmi volunteer comedy, song and impersonation.

And there are the usual motion pictures.

"Madam Xcuse Me," a burlesque of Bisson famous drama is the offering at the Grand Opera House this week, and in it the Armstrong Follies Company made a decided hit last night when it was presented for the first time. Comedy is introduced at all times, and there is no suggestion of the tearful personage who holds the boards so often in "Madam X."

The title role of the burlesque is in the hands of Ethel Davis. Will Armstrong appears as an express-man, one of his favorite roles.

Seven exceptionally tuneful song numbers are rendered by the various members of the company. Frances White and Clara Howard taking first honors. Hazel Wilson singing "Music With My Meals" creates a mild sensation. The Baby Dolls are seen to advantage in a dozen brand new dance steps. In fact "Madam Xcuse Me" may be called the best offering of the Armstrong season.

The Jolly Shriners, as full of fun as its jolly name, filled with delightful music and dances, captivated every one on the first night and surprised the numerous resident and visiting patrons of the Adolphus showhouse, with a rousing success.

This new piece has enough "catchy" numbers to supply two ordinary shows of its class; it also has more of an interesting plot than is generally found in that class musical entertainment.

Miss Winnie Baldwin in her song "Cairo" proved one of the real hits of the evening, while Eveling Whaling and dainty Gladys Vaughn also responded to repeated encores on their respective songs.

AFFRE, TENOR AT PANTAGES.

EXEMPLIFIES ART OF FRENCH LYRIC STAGE.

Mme. Richardson, Handsome Young American, Assists Him. Other Numbers on the Cariwalker Bill of Entertainment Fare—Vaudeville in Other Houses.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

Affre, the French tenor, brings unusual tone and dignity into the Pantages vaudeville this week, and, with Mme. Marthe Richardson, is heard in an extensive scene from Meyerbeer's "L'Africaine."

The extravagant billing denominates Affre "the French Caruso," a title which is deceiving to all parties and probably especially displeasing to Affre himself, for he bears no more resemblance to the mighty-voiced Italian than does a rose to a carnation.

Affre is one of the best dramatic tenors the French operatic stage has ever sent this country—perhaps the very best ever heard in the West. His tones—true—have no longer the limitless splendor of youth, but they are tones vibrant, powerful, dramatic and beautiful because of their faultless delivery. As an exponent of the dramatic music written by composers of the older school Affre has no superiors, and those who think that they are familiar with ancient greatness through the ravings and sawings of a few cheap, brass-throated upstarts should see the elegant delivery, the poise, the reserve, the subtle scene-building as well as artistic phrasing of this gentleman of the French stage.

As to the adaptability of "L'Africaine" to the average hurry-in and rush-out bargain day audience, there is much less to be said. GLENDORA, May 7.—At an inquest held at 10 p.m. today by a deputy Coroner, the jury declared that C. H. Converse's death was caused by a fracture of the skull, sustained when struck by the Santa Fe railroad's west-bound train at 5:30 p.m. May 4, while endeavoring to cross the railroad track in his automobile. From the evidence adduced, it would appear that the train was running at a speed of seventy miles an hour to make up lost time, as is often done after leaving the curve that negotiates the San Jose Hills; that the engineer, W. A. Baldwin, whistled for the crossing where the fatal accident occurred, and that he gave the usual danger signals.

An eyewitness to the sad tragedy, standing not more than 100 feet distant, testified that the automobile did not come to a full stop, though moving slowly in crossing the track.

After the inquest was held, the body was moved from the private office of Mr. Converse, where it had rested awaiting the inquest, to the private residence on Sierra Madre avenue. The funeral will be held at 2 p.m., Thursday, from the residence. Interment will be in Oakdale Cemetery.

BANQUETS THE COMMISSION.

Porterville Residents Entertain State Officials With an Elaborate Dinner and a Few Speeches.

PORTERVILLE, May 7.—Members of the Railroad Commission, including John H. Eshlman, H. D. Loveland and Alex Gordon, with Max Thielen, the attorney of the commission, and Charles D. Detrick, the secretary, were the guests of the Chamber of Commerce directors at a banquet which was served at a Main-street cafe this evening, following the first formal hearing of the commission, at which a permit to issue stocks and bonds was given to the Central California Gas Company, with principal place of business in this city.

Three hearings were held by the commission today, as the corporation is to operate in three different cities of the valley, viz., Exeter, Lindsay and Porterville. This forenoon the hearings were held in the two former cities, and this afternoon in this city. The transactions of the board were purely formal and consisted in learning the public sentiment toward the new company and complete particulars of the organization and financing of the corporation.

Among the distinguished guests at the dinner held this evening were F. C. Milliard, one of the staff of Bion J Arnold, the public-service-corporation expert of Chicago; H. W. Burkart, a consulting engineer of Los Angeles; F. E. Miller of Los Angeles, a former chief engineer of the Southern Counties Gas Company; J. H. Gillispie, consulting engineer of San Francisco, and Senator Beater G. Burnett, general counsel for the Central California Gas Company and the author of the public-service law under which the commission is working.

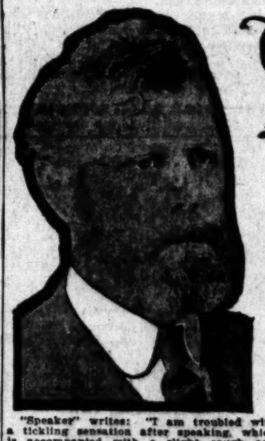
The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker



The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious names will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Speaker" writes: "I am troubled with a tickling sensation after speaking, which is accompanied with a slight cough and hoarseness. Can I get relief?"

Answer: You will not only be relieved, but you will be cured by using the following: Ask your druggist for a 1¼ oz. bottle of essence menthol-laxene. This can be taken pure or can be made into a full pint of cough syrup. Full directions are given on the bottle for making. This is very easily made at home and is perfectly safe, as it does not contain any harmful ingredients as do most of the so-called cough cures.

"Ida" writes: "I have suffered with stomach trouble and constipation for about two years, and I fear it will cause appendicitis if I cannot get some relief."

Answer: I recommend that you get tablets triopeptine and take a pink tablet after breakfast, a white tablet after dinner and a blue tablet after supper. This is a very excellent treatment and is widely prescribed for its gradual curative action. Continue this treatment for several weeks and I am sure you will be cured.

"Doctor: Several years ago I took a tonic which you prescribed for me, but it has been so long that I have forgotten the ingredients. It was the best nerve and system tonic that I ever took. Will you kindly publish the ingredients again?"

Answer: The tonic I always prescribe for people in your condition is: Syrup of hypophosphites comp., 5 ozs.; tincture cadomene comp., 1 oz. Shake well and take a teaspoonful before meals. This is the best nerve and system tonic that I know of.

"Miss Jane" says: "I am very unhappy and very uncomfortable on account of my excessive weight. Please tell me of a quick and safe remedy."

Answer: Your excessive weight need not cause you any unhappiness because you can be quickly relieved. A reduction of a pound a day is not unusual after taking the medicine for a week or two. I advise you to get these two medicines separately to avoid substitution, mix and shake well and take a teaspoonful for three days after meals and thereafter take two teaspoonfuls. Get 5 ozs. of aromatic elixir and 1 oz. of glycol arbelene. Mix. Continue several weeks or months as your case may require.

"Tom" writes: "I have very poor health on account of long standing constipation. I take medicine all the time, but would like to get something that would cure me."

Answer: Mere illness is caused by constipation than by any other ailment. You can get plenty of medicines that will relieve, but if you want something that will cure you I would advise the use of three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur tablets.) They can be bought at any drug store in sealed tubes with full directions for using. I have found them the most reliable and gradually curative.

"A. L. U."—I advise you to get the following ingredients and mix at home to cure your child of bedwetting: Tincture cubeba, 1 dram; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; and timeture rhus aromatic, 2 drams. Mix in water and give 10 to 15 drops one hour before meals.

"Maud" writes: "I should be very grateful for a remedy that would whiten the teeth and remove tartar. I have tried many pastes and powders with no success."

Answer: To whiten the teeth and remove all tartar use the following which you can mix at home and which I am sure will prove successful. Purchase separately 1 ounces precipitated chalk, 1 ounce powdered soap, 2 ounces powder sugar or sugar of milk and 2 ounces antiseptic vilane powder. Mix all together and use twice a day with brush. This will last a family a long time and is equal to two or three dollars worth of ready prepared tooth powders.

"Mildred K." says: "Please advise what I can use for a good hair tonic. My hair and scalp are in a very bad condition and nothing seems to help."

Answer: The best hairtonic on the market is sold in 4 oz. jars and is called plain yellow minyol. Any up-to-date druggist will have it. This is superior to anything known for the treatment of the diseases of the hair and scalp. Two or three applications have been known to cure, while it makes the hair soft, fluffy and makes it keep its natural color.

"Jane" writes: "My nerves are in a dreadful condition, my appetite is very poor and I am extremely thin. My face is so thin that it makes me very unhappy. I should like you to tell me a true remedy."

Answer: If you wish to become stouter, improve your appetite and your nervous system, I heartily recommend the use of three grain hypo-nuclane tablets, which you will find in any well-stocked drug store, in sealed cartons with full directions for taking. Hypo-nuclane tablets improve the nutrition, add red corpuscles to the blood, strengthen the nervous system and improve the general health. Many people report that they have gained from 10 to 20 pounds in two months.

"Harry" writes: "Both my wife and myself suffer with rheumatism. We would appreciate a reply telling us what to take."

Answer: Mix the following at home or have the druggist mix for you: 3 drams of iodide of potassium; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwork, 1 oz.; and syrup sarsaparilla comp. 5 ozs. Take a teaspoonful at meal time and bed time. Always shake well before using.

Large Acreage Deal.

GREAT PAUMA RANCH SOLD TO BE CUT UP.

THE Pauma ranch of 12,000 acres, along the San Luis Rey River, in the northern part of San Diego county, was sold yesterday by the San Luis Rey Land Company to a syndicate of Texas capitalists who propose to at once subdivide the great holding for the market. The sale, which was consummated through the agencies of the James R. H. Wagner Company, W. I. Hollingsworth & Co. and Robert Marsh & Co., all of this city, involved a reported consideration of $400,000.

The property lies north of Escondido about thirteen miles and is eighteen miles from the ocean. Water is supplied to the ranch by the San Luis Rey River, which runs through the tract for a distance of five miles and by Pauma Creek, which comes into the holding from the north, emptying into the river. The creek rises in the mountains only a mile and a half above the ranch, and it is the intention of the new owners not only to utilize the stream for irrigation, but to develop power from the fall.

Some of the earliest English walnuts and Spanish lemons known to Southern California are to be found in the center of the tract where they were planted by the mission fathers of San Luis Rey in 1832, and where they still thrive and bear abundantly. The buying syndicate expects to profit by the early development of transportation facilities in the district.

PLACES SCHOOL ABOVE ALL.

Little Boy Who Is Severely Injured by Being Struck by Wagon Makes Strong Plea—Promises.

Albert Bottaro, an 11-year-old schoolboy who lives at No. 1026 Bartlett street, was treated at the Receiving Hospital yesterday for a possible fracture of the skull. He was knocked down by an express wagon driven by J. E. Comstock, No. 1636 Maple avenue. The accident occured at Arcadia and North Main streets.

The boy said he was on his way to school, and when the police patrol arrived, he begged with tears rolling down his face to be permitted to go to school.

"I haven't any mamma, and that other woman will scold me," the lad sobbed.

At the Receiving Hospital, when Dr. Kidder found it advisable to place the boy in a cot in the surgical ward, he almost had an attack of hysteria.

"Oh, mister, please don't let papa see me with these on my head (the bandages) for he will give me a whipping," he pleaded.

After considerable coaxing Albert finally consented to try and go to sleep, the promise being held out to him that a note would be written to his school teacher, explaining why he didn't attend his classes yesterday afternoon, and that a patrolman would intercede for him.

BELIEVES HE'S WICKED.

Laboring under the hallucination that after years of wickedness he had committed a great crime, and that some repentance was demanded of him, Isaac Laras, who had been making the Sonora Union Gospel Mission, No. 608 North Main street, his home, attempted to commit suicide at No. 1423 Mitchell place, yesterday afternoon, by stabbing himself twice in the left breast with a pocket knife. The blade was sufficiently long to penetrate the sack surrounding the lung. When taken to the Receiving Hospital the young man was weak from an internal hemorrhage. David Linn, a cousin, peeping through a key hole, saw Laras stab himself. L. H. Jamison, superintendent of the mission, said Laras has been in ill health and despondent for some time. Laras seriously injured himself.

NEW PLEASURE PIER PLANNED

Ventura Business Men Contribute to Build a Wharf for Business and Other Purposes—News Briefs.

VENTURA, May 7.—This city is to have a new wharf, to be built for business and pleasure. The money for the construction has been subscribed and plans drawn and work will be commenced just as soon as a contract for the building can be let. The wharf is to have its shore end on the beach tract and near the Pierpont Inn. The structure will have a total length of 1792 feet, with a depth of water, of twenty-one feet at low tide at the sea end. For a distance of 1408 feet it will have a width of thirty-four feet and the end of the structure, for 304 feet, will be eighty feet wide.

The shore connection will be eighty feet in length and wide enough to accommodate warehouses. The wharf will have a sixteen-foot driveway, and a track line twelve feet wide. There will be four-foot pleasure walks on the sides railed on both sides leading out to gangways providing for the safe docking of small craft. The estimated cost of the structure is $80,000. The men and money behind the enterprise are largely local.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Saloons have been opened in this city for nearly all of April, or about a month. During that time Recorder Knox reports seven cases in his court, five of which have been for drunkenness. He says he has been in office a year and a half, and that during the whole time previously he has had but four cases for drunkenness.

The funeral of Mrs. Ida M. Walker of this city took place from her late residence at Oak and Palm streets at 10:30 this morning. It was conducted by the Christian Scientists, of which church she was a member. The remains were taken to Los Angeles for cremation.

At the regular monthly meeting of the City Trustees last night, Trustee Kellogg called up for consideration the petition of the drys of the city for an election for an expression on the adoption of a dry ordinance. He made a motion that the petition be received and that an election be called as a matter of fair play to the petitioners. His motion received no second and the matter was shelved. The drys will immediately appeal to the courts for redress. The petition contained the names of 535 voters, about half the voting strength of the city.

At the last meeting of the Shakespeare Club of this city new officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. W. H. Francis; vice-president, Mrs. C. B. Donell; secretary-treasurer, Miss Orpha Foster.

MAY INVALIDATE THE LAW.

District Attorney of San Bernardino Propounds Query Which May Knock Out Act of Legislature.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Atty.-Gen. Webb was today asked by Dist.-Atty. Goodcell for an opinion on the constitutionality of the Assembly apportionment bill adopted by the special session of the Legislature, as an error in describing the two districts into which this county is divided, the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth, seems to have involved the whole apportionment bill, and Dist.-Atty. Goodcell is of the opinion that if the Assembly bill is knocked out the Senatorial and Congressional bills will fall also.

The error appears in embracing in one of the districts territory which is not contiguous. The error was caused through the efforts of the "progressives" to so gerrymander the districts. Attorneys who have studied the tangle are of the opinion that the error will cause the collapse of the present political subdivisions of the State, as made under all three bills mentioned.

JUSTICE BALL IS STRICKEN.

BANNING OFFICIAL OPPRESSED BY KNOWLEDGE OF PETITION.

Refused to Hold as Criminals Three Youngsters Who Eloped, to Be Married and Brings on Himself the Wrath of a Faction. Court Reporter Honored in Death.

RIVERSIDE, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Harassed by a knowledge of a recall petition being circulated against him because of opposition to his dismissal of proceedings in an elopment and kidnaping case, Justice J. H. Ball lies at the point of death at his Banning home. He is stricken with paralysis and has not regained consciousness.

A few weeks ago three young men, Fred Waugh, Ross Asbill and Clarence Dagherty, conspired to promote the plans of Dagherty to marry Miss Myrtle Kolb. Securing an automobile, the four started for Ocean Park where the couple hoped to have the nuptial knot tied. The father of the young lady, learning of the plot, was able to have the party intercepted at San Bernardino. The young men were placed under arrest and a charge of kidnaping filed against them. On hearing the evidence, Justice Ball decided that criminal intent was not proven and dismissed the case.

This incurred the enmity of a certain faction in the community, and recall petitions were circulated. When this reached the ears of the Justice, who was already in a delicate condition of health, he lapsed into unconsciousness and his life is despaired of.

DEAD EMPLOYEE HONORED.

The Superior Court was adjourned this afternoon during the hour of the funeral of Sidney J. Felton, who for thirteen years was in the service of the county as Court Reporter. In the Superior Court room this morning Judge F. E. Densmore, presiding, resolutions of sympathy and of respect prepared by the Riverside County Bar Association were read and adopted and ordered inscribed on the records of the Court.

Judge Densmore paid the deceased an eloquent tribute, referring to him as a court reporter who had few equals and no superiors, and a friend who was constant and loyal to the last ditch. Attorneys A. A. Adair and H. L. Carnahan and Justice Holton Webb also paid brief tributes to the deceased.

SUNDAY CLOSING.

The City Council has decided that the pool halls of Riverside shall be closed on Sundays, or from 11 o'clock Saturday night until 5 o'clock Monday morning. This action was taken rather than to put the matter before the voters at a special election, which would involve considerable expense. The petitions calling for this action contained about 2600 names, the number having its influence without doubt. It was urged by the councilmen that the matter could be brought before the people on a referendum, if the opposition was strong enough to secure the small petition necessary to bring such a proceeding. In that case, the election could be held along with any general or municipal election, and at a small expense.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

That the proposed Federal building to be erected at the corner of Seventh and Orange streets will soon be under construction, is indicated in advices received from Washington this afternoon. The contract has been awarded to the Southwestern Construction Company of Los Angeles on its bid of $90,394. This calls for marble trim, for the company's bid for sandstone was $84,844.

The contract was let a few days ago for a structure in the same block, fronting on Seventh, which will cost $84,500 to erect. This is the proposed First Congregational Church building, which, with the postoffice, Glenwood Mission Inn, Carnegie Library and proposed City Hall, will be part of an imposing civic center.

SAGE'S HEART MELTED.

Frank A. Miller, master of the Glenwood Mission Inn, at last has hopes of reforming his friend, Elbert Hubbard. Miller likes the Philistine and other things that Fra Elbertus does, particularly things Mission-Roycroftie.

A day or two ago Hubbard sat listening to a recital by Organist J. J. McClellan of Salt Lake City in the cloister music room of the hotel. "That is divine," declared the Fra, after a particularly ravishing crescendo had dwindled away into a faint echo.

"Delighted," Miller exclaimed: "I didn't think you believed in the divinity of things, and all that."

"I believe more than you think I do," owned up the sage from East Aurora.

Miller all but lost hope of Hubbard when this saying found its way to the back page of the Philistine, boxed up in a border of red: "There are too many men going about the world with a sprig of mistletoe pinned to their coat-tails."

The maitre d'hotel is a good Congregationalist, and has never been quite able to forgive the sage for that outbreak

BEACH TOWN PROTESTS.

Plan to Dump Garbage Into Ocean Meets With Opposition from Many Quarters.

The Long Beach Chamber of Commerce is the latest to add its protest against dumping this city's garbage into the ocean. This organization states that such practices on the Atlantic Coast have proved injurious to numerous beach resorts.

Dist.-Atty. Fredericks yesterday sent a communication to the Board of Public Works, in which he acknowledged the receipt of a copy of a protest made by the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce. "I sincerely hope," says Fredericks, "that you will be able to dispose of your garbage in some way satisfactory to the people of all sections. I recognize this as one of your very difficult problems. However, my duty is plain. It is the enforcement of a law legally passed and properly in existence."

CREDIT CANCELLED

Big Clothing Merchants are Pushed for Cash by Loss of Lease

The Monroe-Davis-Herington Co., the big clothing merchants at the northeast corner of Sixth and Spring streets, is facing a very serious problem at the present time.

Last fall when they purchased the stock at this store, they secured a lease on the building and expected to remain there indefinitely.

On the strength of this lease they were able to secure almost unlimited credit from Eastern firms with whom they were dealing.

Just as everything was running along smoothly and several carloads of Spring stock placed on the shelves and racks, a notice appeared in the newspapers to the effect that the building at the northeast corner of Sixth and Spring streets had been sold and the sale of the same approved by the court.

As the transfer of this property would invalidate the lease and cancel it without notice, it caused much alarm among Eastern creditors of this firm. They at once demanded proof of solvency and an immediate settlement.

To do so, the firm would have to raise about $23,000. Not having this amount of cash on hand they were up in the air. They had to raise it some way in order to save their credit, and the only thing left to do was to dispose of the large stock of fine clothing and furnishings on hand in short order. To do this it was necessary to offer inducements in the way of prices that were never before heard of in Los Angeles—mark everything so everlastingly low that no one could even think of passing them up whether or not they were in need.

This was done, and the prices put on every article of clothing and furnishing goods was so ridiculously low as to even astonish the large force of clerks.

We quote a few prices here to give you an idea, but the goods themselves must be seen to be appreciated. So come early today to get a choice of these tremendous bargains.

As to colors, I do not believe we would dare to adopt many of them; and yet they are beautiful. You begin to see that I am right in wishing that men wore satins and velvets in glorious colors, for it will be difficult to come down to seeing plain clothes after this.

I wonder if we could ever tire of it! "There is John in that same old scarlet velvet coat and green satin bloomers. I do wish he would join some other colored brigade!"

I heard a woman say, during the parade, that she would bet money that within a few years women would be wearing costumes similar to those of the Shriners. I would not object—would you? They would certainly be more comfortable than our present ones, and avoirdupois would surely come into vogue. Think how many people would be made happy by that. Think, too, how many pockets could be hidden away in those voluminous bloomers! And some one has wisely said that women would never be truly emancipated until they had plentiful pockets. If I had the courage and enough women would join me, I believe I would be for the adoption of Shriner clothes. Especially those adorable shoes with the impudent upturned toes. I think the most timid girl could safely go anywhere when wearing a pair of those—they look so brigandish, so self-defending and "Itsnone-o'-your-business" like.

I hope the men on parade did not guess the smallest fraction of the nice things that the girls were saying about them, for goodness knows, men are vain enough anyhow, without knowing what we think of them.

In each of its "fifty-seven varieties" of windows stand the figures of ladies, telling into telephones their store wants. In a central window, sits the Prima of the Switch, and the switch is shown, as are also the telepoles and wires. One lady wants sent up immediately two of those ready-to-wear suits, for she means to join the dress parade on Broadway. Another is sending in her order for a hat, describing exactly what she wants. It is household goods that another is "wiring" about. And so on through the entire gamut of goods carried by this great house. With white pique revers—yes—send that—and groups of white pearl buttons outlining the seams of the jacket? Capital. Just the very thing I was reading about in 'Styles' yesterday. Whose make? That's good, they always fit." The point of it all is—not only to make an original display, but to hint that if for any reason, you can't come to the store, you are perfectly safe in telephoning and will receive the same trained service which is at your disposal when you are there in person.

"Never did I buy anything at a bargain — for one dollar, say, but the same thing for next week I saw what next day or next week I saw the same thing for 98 cents. That's the kind of luck I have. And if I paid 98 cents, it would be sure to go on sale somewhere for 89 cents." DAILY BEAUTY HINT: There is something more in a facial treatment than mere complexion improvement, although that is a consideration not by any means to be despised. The masseuse who understands her business will treat not only the face but the muscles of the back and those at the base of the brain. There center some very important nerves, and a massage when properly given will truly rejuvenate the whole being. Every woman who can afford the decencies of life for herself should take such treatments from a really skillful masseuse, at least once a week.

In looking at the grand parade of Shriners in costume, I wonder how many of you thought as I did—what a lot of fine millinery suggestion in the headdresses of those Imperial Potentates, or whatever their titles may have been. They all looked Imperial and all looked like Potentates, I thought.

"A Native Son."

"One of our native sons" is the legend attached to a huge beef which attracts much attention in a Broadway market.

The creature is a high potentate of his kind. He weighs 1106 pounds; and bears the colors of the Shrine—the red of blood, the yellow of rinds of fat. To many who gaze, he suggests large and juicy steaks, some of them smothered in onions; to others, the roast beef of old England with Yorkshire pudding.

Red, Yellow and Purple.

Another window which displays the colors of the Shrine, is that filled with imported leather goods. This is an especially fine line carried exclusively by one of the high-class men's clothing houses on Broadway. The scarlet of leather linings in work boxes, automobile cases and hampers, and traveling cases, combined with the basketry of work baskets and fancy cases of all sorts, together with the hint of purple in leather covers and finishings, gives quite a Shriner air to this handsome line of goods.

All the Emblems.

One of the high-class ready-to-wear stores for men has the emblem of every Shrine in its windows. A gay array it makes; and there are interspersed articles which in quality and price should tempt almost any man, whether he be a Shriner or just a plain business clothes man.

Milans for Men.

Fine gray Milan straws for men are shown in one of the exclusive Broadway stores; and I call them extremely chic. With a gray suit and gray hose and possibly gray suede shoes, what could be more seasonable?

Smoke?

And that reminds me of the sign in a Spring street store. Against a large card is shown a real cigar, the ash quite heavy at the end and the smoke curling upward, making a question mark as it ascends. "Smoke?" is the only printing on the card.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Russian Folk Songs.

The lecture-recital to be given by Jaroslaw de Zielinski, a Russian nobleman, living in this city, before the Friday Morning Club Friday afternoon at 2:30 p.m., promises to be one of the most interesting programmes of the season. Mr. Zielinski is known as an authority upon music, especially the wonderful music of his native land. He possesses one of the finest musical libraries in the West. His talk on the Russian folk songs will be illustrated by Mercedes Ciesielska, in costume. The regular luncheon will be served on Friday at 1 o'clock, instead of 12, in order to give members of the club an opportunity to witness the morning parade.

Twentieth Century Club.

The Twentieth Century Club of Eagle Rock announces the postponement of the programme to have been given before it by the Woman's Press Club on Wednesday afternoon, because of the Mission parade on that afternoon. Date of the programme will be announced later.

DENTAL CONVENTION.

Work of Southern California Association Pursued With Enthusiasm Yesterday—Election Today.

The Southern California Dental Association continued its sessions yesterday, at the College of Dentistry of University of Southern California, the attendance being large and the interest enthusiastic.

The morning was taken up with papers, and discussions on anaesthetics, and a report of the censors on the efficacy of medicines used in clinics, and of the latest appliances and inventions. On the latter subject there were a vast number of papers and short talks, involving also the treatment of complicated cases. The same subjects continued into the afternoon, when there were demonstrations of extracting by A. A. Shaw and I. A. Freeman, and a clinic on the administration of nitrous oxide gas by A. J. Stevens. Roy Spencer demonstrated the administration of anaesthetics by the new Clark apparatus.

This morning "The Business Side of Dentistry," will be presented in a paper by A. H. Gilbert of San Diego; "The Care of Children's Teeth" will be discussed by Leland D. Jones of the same city, from the standpoint of what is being done in other countries in that direction. Preceding the noon luncheon, a business session will be held, and officers elected. In the afternoon the discussion of porcelain in dentistry will be taken up, followed by demonstrations of silicate cement work. The latter part of the afternoon, and the closing hours of the convention, will be devoted largely to the discussion of gold and its various uses in the profession.

NEW PRESIDING JUSTICE.

Beginning about the 22nd inst. Justice Reeve will preside in the Township Court in place of Justice Young, who has served for the past year. T. W. Bromley, chief clerk, is to be superseded by E. R. Parmalee, at present clerk in Young's court. Arthur W. Green, now a deputy in Constable Woodbury's office will probably take Parmalee's place. These arrangements were agreed upon at a meeting of the four justices of Los Angeles township.

Spring in Yosemite Valley.

Beginning at noon today the Los Angeles Camera Club will keep open house for such of the city's visitors as will care to see artistic amateur work in photography. Afternoons from 12 to 4 o'clock and evenings from 5:30 to 10 o'clock the clubrooms at No. 321 South Hill street, second floor, will be open and an attendant in charge. Several hundred pictures have been submitted by forty members of the club. Admission is free.

BANQUET AT REDONDO.

Wives of the Delegates to the Imperial Shrine Meeting Are Given Dinner at Coast.

REDONDO BEACH, May 7.—The wives of the delegates to the Imperial Council of the Shriners were entertained today with a banquet at Hepburn and Terry's by the Los Angeles Shriners. About 275 of the visiting Shriners' wives were in the party that came here at noon in special cars of the Pacific Electric. They were received by committees of the Order of Eastern Star and other lodges of the city. After the feast the women visited the plunge and later went to Venice for the remainder of the day.

WILD WEST SHOW.

Great preparations are being made for Saturday, Redondo Beach's Shrine day. A wild west show will be given in the afternoon for the entertainment of the visitors under the management of Hosea Steelman. The city will be decorated Thursday by the merchants, members of the Chamber of Commerce and citizens in the Shrine colors for the Saturday show. A committee of C. W. Grasse, J. C. Gillespie, W. M. McKnight, J. P. Luxford and F. Langer is in charge of the day's arrangements. The programme for the show will include a stage holdup, trick riding, broncho riding and other stunts.

ALHAMBRA.

ALHAMBRA, May 7.—The afternoon of Friday, May 10, is to be made a gala day for Alhambra when the famous Lu Lu Temple Shriners from Philadelphia will be entertained by the city. The Shriners will be conveyed to Alhambra in one hundred automobiles, where their patrol will be seen in an exhibition drill and the famous Lu Lu band of seventy-two pieces will give a concert. Before the drill they will be taken to the orange orchard of A. E. Wilbur at San Gabriel where Mr. Wilbur has saved in anticipation of their coming, some especially fine navel orange trees with the luscious golden fruit still on them, where the visitors will be invited to help themselves. The schools and business houses have declared a half holiday for the occasion.

COVINA.

COVINA, May 7.—The Taft campaign in the San Gabriel Valley will be closed Saturday night with a rally from all the towns at Covina. The speakers will be Senator Frank P. Flint, Capt. J. D. Fredericks, C. C. Chapman and Mrs. Ella L. Westland. The entire valley is billed and there is every indication that it will be the greatest rally of the campaign. The citrus interests are at last thoroughly aroused to the gravity of the situation.

NEW MAIL CLERKS.

WASHINGTON (D. C.) May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles L. Clark, Ralph G. Blaisdell, Pasadena, John A. Greene, Highland, F. L. Pitcher, Gardena, Paul A. Winkler, Los Angeles, F. A. Edmund, Modesto, have been appointed railway mail clerks.

CONTRACT LET.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Treasury Department today awarded the contract for the postoffice building at Riverside to the Southwestern Construction Company of Los Angeles at $90,394. On approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, the contract will be executed.

MAY RECALL THE TRUSTEES.

Huntington Beach Citizens Enraged Over the Action of Its New Officials May Retire Them.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 7.—E. L. Vincent, who two years ago received only thirty-one out of 186 votes cast for City Marshal, was last night appointed to that office by the City Trustees in the face of violent opposition, receiving three votes as against two for the present incumbent.

Much feeling has centered around the fight for this office, now an appointive one under the new State law, and the naming of Vincent last night has caused strong talk of a recall of the Trustees who voted for him. When the vote showing his appointment was announced by the City Clerk, all the other municipal officers who were slated for appointment declined to accept office while Vincent is Marshal. The City Recorder, City Attorney, Engineer and Street Superintendent refused point blank to serve. Today the appointment of Vincent is being discussed by knots of people on the streets.

COLLEGE PLAN.

There is a strong probability that the Redemptist Fathers, a branch of the Catholic church, will establish a college here in the near future. They want a location on the southern coast of California and Catholics of this city feel sanguine of obtaining its location here.

CORONA.

CORONA, May 7.—At the mass meeting held in the Opera house Saturday evening for the purpose of considering the request of the Pacific Electric for right of way through Corona it was decided to deed Third street for that purpose. A meeting with the Pacific Electric officials will be held this week.

Prof. H. I. Priestly, the efficient supervising principal of Corona schools for the past two years, has accepted a position as first assistant in the Bancroft Library in the University at Berkeley. His assistance will be valuable in translation of early historical documents and editorial work. Prof. Priestly's work has been very successful here and his place will be hard to fill.

At the last meeting of the City Council the following appointments by ballot were made: City Attorney, G. R. Freeman, salary $75 per month; City Marshal, G. C. Alexander, salary $110 and poll tax fees; City Recorder, O. P. Hull; City Health Officer, W. H. Chapman, salary $18 per month; Plumbing and Building Inspector, B. E. Savery; night watchman, Frank Ewing, salary $75.

A successful entertainment by the ladies of the Congregational Church was given last Friday evening. Music, readings and an old-fashioned spelling contest were features of the evening's entertainment.

Edwin and Lorraine Freeman are entertaining as house guest their friend Douglas McClellan from Salt Lake City. Mr. McClellan's father enjoys the distinction of being one of the foremost players on the pipe organ, he being organist at the Mormon Temple at Salt Lake City.

Corona is to have a street carnival in the near future, the contract and preliminaries having been arranged.

VALIDITY QUESTIONED.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 7.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The validity of the assembly apportionment bill passed at the special session of the Legislature last December is involved in a question submitted to Atty.-Gen. Webb today by Dist.-Atty. Goodcell. San Bernardino county was given two districts, the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth, but the territory included in the former is not contiguous. The Constitution of the State requires territory of assembly districts to be contiguous. The question, according to the District Attorney, is one which might involve the constitutionality of the entire apportionment bill, as the Senatorial and Congressional redistricting also may be jeopardized, should the assembly apportionment be declared invalid.

TERRA BELLA.

TERRA BELLA, May 7.—That Terra Bella will soon be coming to the front as an olive-producing district is shown by the activity in planting of olive trees over this district, estimates of the amount of land being prepared for these trees showing that in the coming season upward of 400 acres will be set out to the larger varieties. L. E. Emery is preparing to plant forty acres immediately; the ground is being prepared on the Salladay place for 300 acres of the trees, and F. E. Ensign is also preparing forty acres for the same sort of trees. Experiments which have been conducted in all portions of this district show that the trees are immune from all kinds of scale pests, which means that a crop will be harvested every year instead of each alternate year in districts where scale is prevalent.

MAY IRWIN WANTS TO FLY. BUT--- SHE IS TOO HEAVY

IN ORDER TO LEARN SHE HAS PLANNED TO REDUCE HER WEIGHT—NEW WAY.

May Irwin, comedienne, fancy farmer, sportswoman and famous shot, is for the first time in her life dissatisfied with her bulk. Miss Irwin has always prided herself on the fact that she has been superior to her weight. It has been the butt of her jokes, the plot of her comedies and the inspiration of her song writers. She has rejoiced in it because it was typical of May Irwin—the only comedienne not afraid of her corset-maker. Now it is all changed and May Irwin reads the fat-reducing ads. She practices banting, she studies diets and refuses to laugh that big, hearty laugh of hers, because, forsooth, laughing makes adipose.

So far all her efforts have been in vain, and she admits that she is ashamed to look a scale in the face. The secret is that Miss Irwin has the aviating bug. It has bit her so hard that she is willing to forego almost anything for the sake of ridding herself of the all too solid flesh that makes her efforts at aviation impossible. She has written to friends in Denver to call on Marjorie Hamilton, the famous "Fat Vanishes a Pound a Day" specialist, and offers Miss Hamilton a prize bonus if she can rid Miss Irwin of a good, big slice of her surplus flesh. "I will give a prize to Miss Hamilton if she shows me how to take off fifty pounds," Miss Irwin is said to have written to her friend here, "and, as I have heard of the marvelous reductions made by Miss Hamilton, I want you to see her and find out if there is any hope for me."

Miss Hamilton, from her office, 2004A, in the Central Bank building, Denver, Colo., is ready to take up Miss Irwin's challenge. "I can reduce Miss Irwin weight fifty pounds or one hundred and fifty pounds if she will use my treatment," declared the famous little Calendar Girl today. "I don't want any prize for it, either. I feel I owe Miss Irwin a great deal. I have enjoyed more good laughs at her comedy than I ever had in my life anywhere else, and if she will allow me to show her how to reduce I shall consider it an honor to show her just how I do it."

Miss Hamilton has written to Miss Irwin, making her such an offer, and is awaiting a reply to her letter. The friends of the little Calendar Girl are making a book on the proposition. The odds are all in favor of her success.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

QUARTER OF A MILLION.

and men seated themselves in so dense a mass, that it was with difficulty that tenants of the buildings could pass by. On the roofs of stores all along Broadway, Spring and Main streets, men and boys stood and leaned far out, at the risk of their lives, apparently, but no one seemed to care. They had to see that parade and peril that ordinarily would have held them back, was forgotten. The huge pilars of the unfinished Times building were scaled by active youngsters and ladders were let down for less adventurous elders to mount. Scaffoldings everywhere were utilized to get an advantageous position, and all the shop windows that could be secured were jammed with on lookers.

After the parade started, to cross a street was a physical impossibility, not because the street was not clear, but because there was absolutely no way of breaking through the dense mass of people that lined the curb. There were police passes, of course, but what good was a police pass when the holder could not reach a policeman to show it to him? Even women who aksed: "Please, may I pass?" were laughed at. Those in the front ranks were there to see the parade and they did not propose to give way to any of the belated ones in the rear.

COSMOPOLITAN THRONG.

In that press of humanity were people from Maine and from Florida and every State between, from the Atlantic to the Pacific were men and women who were there to cheer for the temples from their home commonwealths. And how they did cheer! "What's the matter with Missouri? She's all right—every time!" roared out again and again. All the sisterhood of the Union came out last night and wherever the cheer arose there were persons in the immediate crowd to take it up with a will.

And the surrounding cities and towns—they were all there. From the coast towns great delegations of spectators began to arrive in the early afternoon and stayed until the last marcher had passed. The Pacific Electric headquarters were thronged all night with a good-natured, happy multitude of travelers. The car lines stopped long before the parade began to move but that made no difference to the street car passengers. They simply stepped off wherever the cars stopped and went on the double-quick to the nearest street through which the Shriners were to pass.

It rained a bit before the procession reached Broadway, but that did not affect the crush in the slightest. Some fore-handed men and women raised the umbrellas they had brought with them but for the most part, the waving plumes in the women's hats will take a trip to the revampers this morning and there will be a call for new straw hats in the men's stores. Yet it did not rain enough to worry anyone—just enough to freshen the atmosphere and make everybody happy.

GIRLS, GIRLS, GIRLS.

And it was a crowd of girls. There they were everywhere—girls, girls, girls, young and old, and all bent on having as merry a time of it as the proprieties would permit. Introductions were overlooked and women in costly tailored gowns chatted familiarly with their sisters whose dress showed the marks of being home-made—and not always well made, at that. Fashions were forgotten on the great occasion and standing in society was not inquired into. It was enough that they were women and all interested in the gorgeous spectacle offered by the multi-hued uniforms, the electric lights, the electric floats, the marching men in silks and satins. They laughed on the slightest opportunity and when the opportunity was not offered they made it for themselves. The costumes of the patrols were commented upon freely, with giggles and pealing laughter.

The music of the bands was a source of continual enjoyment to the throngs, and the favorite tunes were whistled and hummed by women as well as by men and boys. From the City Hall steps, that were packed with such a mob that no sardine company would ever send out a box that would stand comparison with it, there was a riot of noise and noise cries, screams, laughter, shouts, howls, shrieks, to which was speedily added the piercing horns of carnival times, the imitation pipes and even the real things in bugles. It was anything to make a loud din, and sometimes from packed fire-escapes a united company of youths would make such a clang with cowbells and tin pans that the bands passing in the street below would fairly thunder in despair of being heard. But, on the whole, the presence of so many bands as were in last night's parade was appreciated and, when the clatter of the bystanders became too much in evidence, there would be a movement in the mob toward the spot and the obstreperous crew would stop short, not to begin again until the lesson was forgotten.

ALL CARNIVAL.

Noise was not the only carnival feature of the occasion. The ticklers, the hat-smasher and the boy with the pin found their way into the crowds, but one of this set on Broadway near Sixth met with disaster. A woman screamed and her escort of two husky men grabbed the offenders and thrashed them soundly while the surrounding crowd cheered to the echo.

There was no confetti thrown, but all the easy and happy spirit of Mardi Gras prevailed. Passing along the lines in the street the hum that arose from the conclave was that of jollity. Care had been forgotten and the spirit of good-fellowship, characteristic of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine itself, pervaded the throng of onlookers.

As the procession passed and the different patrols went through their drills of fancy figures, it was obvious that some of the marching companies had already made themselves partisans among the spectators. Arabic names were pronounced in every conceivable way till it took a good guess to find out which ones were meant.

"That's the best yet," one would say. "Oh, she's not so much. You's oughter see Pyramid," another would reply, and then there would be a short, sharp debate on the respective merits of the two until another marching patrol would catch the eye and another discussion would be started. But the Philadelphia patrol and its band proved that it had literally the largest following. It was first in the line and it was followed on the sidewalks by men and women and boys and girls, who crowded their way through the mobs, managing in some manner to keep abreast of the band. The Indian band of the Phoenix temple seemed also to take the fancy of the crowd and a similar following filled the narrow open lane on the sidewalks, keeping up with it.

As the parade passed through one street and turned to go to another, the crowd, instead of dispersing, merely pressed close in and jammed the street below. The effect on Main street was literally breathless. It was such a squeze as those who were in it will always remember. At some places it was actually impossible to move. When an alarm called out the Emergency Hospital automobile, it took six policemen on each side to clear a lane through the human walls and hold those walls back for the machine to pass.

"It's a good thing and we can't see too much of it or see it too often," a woman said on Spring street, as she made her way toward the front of the sidewalk on Spring, just after coming from Broadway. Up on Hill street the crowds were thinnest at first, but they made up for it at the close, for they gathered in all the people who had not seen enough on Broadway, Spring and Main streets—and it was astonishing to note how many had not seen enough. But the home-going cars were by this time packed and the rest found their way to homes or to hotels, thoroughly happy, even if they did have to foot it.

FIVE MILE LANE.

patrols seemed to march as through a gloriously-colored tunnel, was a setting for a marching and counter-marching of Arab patrols that could not be realized outside of fairyland, or in Shrinedom.

The brilliant uniforms of the Zouave patrols gave an oriental coloring to the scene, shot through with gleaming white uniforms, spotless as the snow. Followed them fresh splashes of color when other patrols, clad in red, green, yellow and white, came marching by.

DEFIES DESCRIPTION.

To attempt to describe the scene would be useless. Color and light can only be seen to be appreciated. So kaleidoscopic was the scene that those who watched it were dazzled with the changing, flashing colors of marching men. They awakened only when they suddenly recognized some familiar patrol and then awoke to frenzy that found its outlet in prolonged cheering.

THE ELECTRIC PAGEANT.

Superb as was the colorful scene when the patrols came swinging by, it dimmed into nothingness when a tremendous burst of light announced the advent of the electrical pageant.

A million lights of a hundred colors blazing on gauzy backgrounds and on beautiful girls, came slowly and majestically into view of the thousands. There was a hush almost as of awe as the full beauty of the scene was revealed.

The great throng did not feel like cheering. The sight was too gorgeously beautiful.

Allegorical subjects as light in their fancy as a thistledown came bliding by, presenting a scene that Aladdin or Solomon never dreamed of in their wildest fancies.

One float followed the other in a perfect stream of beauty. The first would hold spellbound the throng until the next one burst into view. The crowd became bewildered with the beauty. There were great "Love Bugs" with a burden of human beauty that set the crowd wild with sheer enthusiasm. There were gauzy, colored things that can not be described. The gorgeous floats followed one upon another so rapidly that the wide streets were a riot of color for a dozen blocks.

There was a Busy Bee, there were Butterflies with moving wings wonderfully alight, reproducing familiar creatures with a fidelity of detail that was remarkable.

BIRDS AND BEASTS.

Then came the Big Fish—balloon. A giant monster of scaly brilliancy lighted the street as brilliantly as day. Its great, red mouth gaped and yawned as the head swung back and forth and houris threw flowers and souvenirs to the crowd. Then came the Eagle, a huge yellow bird with wide-spread wings and burnished feathers which reflected the street illumination as it passed. Cloely to this came the Stork, a giant thing, whose float was laden with pretty little tots who waved their hands to the crowd in answer to the cheers. The long bespectacled head of the Stork swung back and forth so comically that it brought shrieks of laughter from the throng.

In rivalry to the Stork was the Comet, a long, arching, brilliant affair that from time to time flashed brilliantly and then went dark, giving the effect of the Comet rising from a base to where a great red star shone brilliantly.

Word of the wonderful pageant of strange subjects that was following them reached the Shrine patrols, whose parade had advanced to Spring street. Hundreds of the marchers deserted their line and fought their way back through the crowds to see the spectacle themselves.

They organized impromptu escorts to certain floats that appealed to them and followed along the street, adding still another touch of color with their uniforms.

SLIGHT DELAYS.

The parade was a little late in starting from Grand and Pico, but once under way there was little delay in forming the various divisions, both in the electrical parade and in the patrols.

The route of the Shrine patrols was up Grand to Eighth, over Eighth to Hill, down Hill to Ninth and over Ninth to Broadway. It continued up Broadway to First, thence to Spring, down Spring to Eighth and up Main street.

While the tail end of the patrols was passing Third street on Broadway the electrical pageant had started to move up Grand avenue to Ninth. At Third street it halted until the last of the patrols had passed. Then it came slowly along Third to Main, down Main to Ninth, over Ninth to Spring, up Spring to Second, over Second to Broadway and down Broadway to Ninth; where it disbanded.

A detailed description of the patrols in last night's parade would be almost a repetition of that of the morning parade, described elsewhere, when the Imperial Council was escorted to its first session. A signal exception was the turnout of Al Malaikah Temple, which last night made the greatest showing in its career. There were fully 2200 members of the temple in line, together with five bands.

Leading Al Malaikah was their famous band of forty-five pieces dressed in Zouave uniforms. Closely following came perhaps the most perfect spectacle of the entire parade, the white patrol of the temple. In high white hats and gleaming uniforms they made a magnificent appearance. Their line was as perfect as though they were a single man and their evolutions were as faultless as the pendulum's swing.

Al Malaikah's division was split into three sub-divisions of a little over 700 each. Following the white patrol came the long line of red and white Zouaves who swung along with heads erect and scimitars drawn. They were headed and followed by brass bands. The entire division of Al Malaikah was interspersed with so many bands that the music was confusing to everyone but the members of the patrol.

Next in the division were eight members carrying a great wide American flag by its corners. The flag flat reached almost from curb to curb.

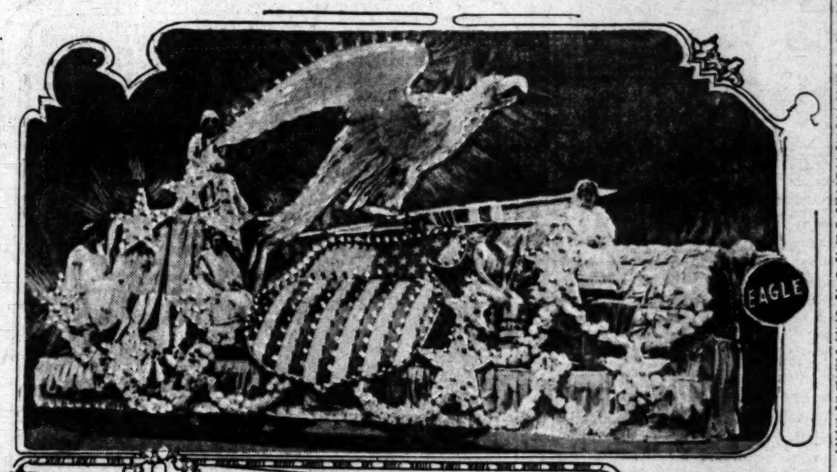
SAN DIEGO BABY.

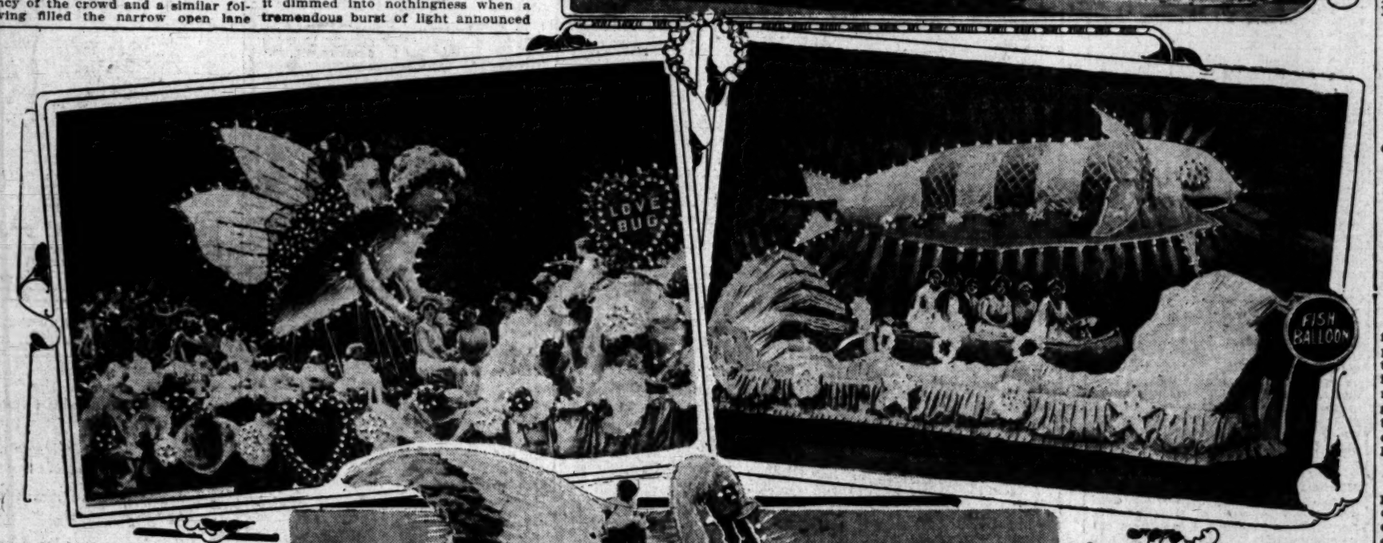
In the middle of Al Malaikah's division came a small auto truck carrying a big baby crib in which lay a Shriner with a nurse feeding him from a bottle. This was to represent the baby temple just born in San Diego.

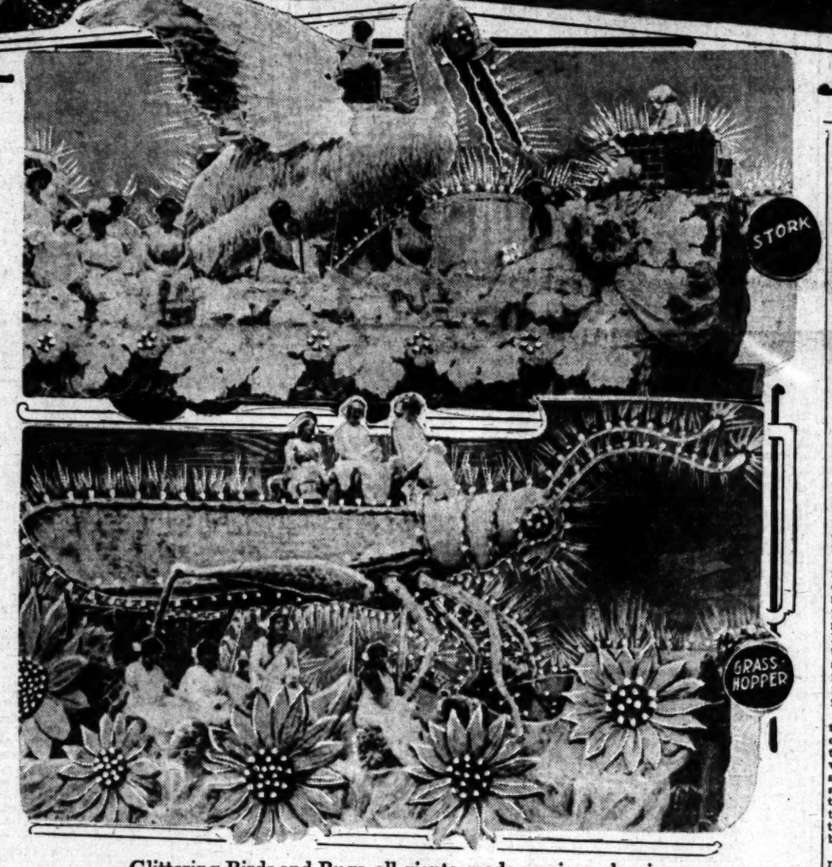
A division was carrying brilliantly-colored umbrellas with little electric lights at their points, which gleamed fitfully as fire-flies. Close to these came the last division of Al Malaikah, which was dressed in fatigue uniforms of olive or drab color, and this was the end of the Shrine parade.

The patrols in the parade and the order in which they came, follow:

Lu Lu Temple, Philadelphia; Aladdin Temple, Columbus, O.; Hella Temple, Dallas; Cyprus Temple, Albany; Damascus Temple, Rochester; Ismail Temple, Buffalo; Pyramid Temple, Bridgeport; Ararat Temple, Kansas City; Moolah Temple, St. Louis; Al Ben Adhem, Springfield, Mo.; Midian Temple, Wichita; Mirza Temple, Pittsburg, Kan.; El Mina Temple, Galveston; Tangier Temple, Omaha; El Zagal Temple, Fargo, N. D.; Zurah Temple, Minneapolis; Abu Bekr Temple, Sioux City; El Kahir Temple, Cedar Rapids; El Kaab Temple, Davenport; Islam Temple, San Francisco; Aloha Temple, Honolulu; Kosair Temple, Louisville; Aahmes Temple, Oakland; Acca Temple, Richmond; Alee Temple, Savannah; Medinah Temple, Chicago; Murat Temple, Indianapolis; Moslem Temple, Detroit; Indra Temple, Oklahoma City; El Kalah Temple, Salt Lake City; El Jebel Temple, Denvetz Koreis Temple, Rollins, Wyo.; Mizpah Temple, Ft. Wayne; Ballut Abyad Temple, Albuquerque; El Zaribah Temple, Phoenix; Bagdad Temple, Butte; Ahmed Temple, Helena; Al Kadar Temple, Portland; El Katif Temple, Spokane; Nile Temple, Seattle, and then Al Malaikah.







Glittering Birds and Bugs, all giants, made a unique showing.

Moolah Temple Guests of Adolphus Busch at Elaborate Banquet of Dainties and Anheuser Zem Zem.

Moolah Temple in its entirety sat at the festive banquet board at the Alexandria yesterday, the guests of Adolphus Busch and his secretary, J. Mathie. The Anheuser zem zem flowed freely all through the dinner, and was interspersed with effervescent songs from the El Koran Chanters, who rendered particularly well the classic ballad entitled "Under the Anheuser Bush."

There were eighty-five at the table, which was a mass of American Beauty roses from the Busch gardens in Pasadena. Toasts, roasts and things to eat were plentiful, and St. Louis was lauded to the skies, being as all speakers agreed, next to Los Angeles, the finest place in the country to reside in.

The singing of the big chorus was of a character to draw many to the Franco-Italian dining-room of the hotel to see whether Herr Reichl had not imported a new operatic troupe from Vienna. Mathie acted as toastmaster.

In Detail.

WISE SHEIKS, PRETTY MAIDS

COMET, AEROPLANE AND ROCKET IN RIVAL SPLENDOR.

The Beast, the Bird and the Fish There All Glorified by Dazzling Light and Color Decorations With Charming Accompaniment of Bevies of Pretty Maidens.

Following are descriptions of the floats. The designing and actual supervision of most of them were in the hands of Fawcett Robinson, who is widely known in Southern California for his success in depicting allegorical subjects. The young ladies on the floats were under the supervision of Mrs. Francis J. Wallis, who had had many of them as her students.

ARAB EMBLEM.

One of the stately floats in the pageant was the Arab. It showed an old Arabic temple with a kneeling camel facing the shrine, while back of the camel were two palm trees and between the temple and the palm trees was a miniature desert. The Sheiks with flowing white robes were in the position of having just dismounted from the camel after a long trip over the hot sands.

The walls of the Arabic shrine were covered with written characters as if to tell of the camels' milk that was awaiting the noble Sheiks after the long trek across the desert sands.

The Emblem float contained the Sheiks of the desert who in point are Messrs. Cantor, Whellan, Frick and Pickering.

KITE.

A flimsy white glistening thing which seemingly no supports but the atmosphere came shimmering along. It was The Kite, and it carried a precious freight of young ladies who were seated in a big square box contrivance suspended from the wing plane of The Kite. The big wing plane of The Kite dominated every other portion of the float and was the groundwork of the structure. As beautiful in its glistening white color it was scarcely noticeable in the throng and the center of the plane was held by the single white jet and its basket laden with young ladies.

The Kite float contained Miss Ruth Jamgochan, Miss Vera Clipper, Miss Kathleen Tyrrell, Miss Margaret Clark, Miss Olive and Miss Edna Broom.

COMET.

Like a flashing, brilliant, meteoric streak came the Comet float. The idea of the comet was carried out with great fidelity to detail. It showed a mass of brilliant red, white and blue rising from end of the float and arching toward the other end. The tail was broad and luminous and gradually increasing in density as it came to a brilliant head which was a great glowing mass in the shape of a star. Seated immediately at the end as though steering sat a charming young lady who was mighty interested in the impression her float was making. The young ladies on the float were: Miss Matthews, Miss Gelp, Miss Lester Roberts, Miss White, Miss Elsie Gleason, Miss Helen Pierce, Miss Rebecca Stanfield, Miss Nancy Sayers, Miss Josephine Sayers, Miss Rotha Chapman and Miss Shelt.

BUSY BEE.

A superb blaze of color with the gigantic blue and white bee hovering over the center heralded the approach of the Busy Bee float. Along the sides were arranged immense golden poppies at least three feet across. From each end and side ranged long ropes of roses leading to the top of the gigantic bee which was seated more of these charming young ladies. The big figure of bee glowed with a thousand electric lights and with its transparent wings and shadowy flimsy structure, made a brilliant part of this wonderfully superb allegorical parade.

The daintily-gowned bees in the Busy Bee float were Miss Grace Thompson, Miss Gladys Ashley, Miss Helen Kemp, Miss Maude Kemp, Miss Louise Walker, Miss Loa Reynolds, Miss Irene Lipp, Miss Ella Evans, Miss Florence Williston and Miss Anna Gehris.

BUTTERFLIES.

The Butterfly float with its gorgeously beautiful pink, white and gold color scheme was a veritable riot of color. There were flimsy butterflies arranged along each side of the float and between them were seated young ladies in costumes that harmonized with the color scheme of the float.

The float was occupied by Miss Lenore Turman, Miss Lou Harvey, Miss Helen Moore, Miss Beulah Keethler, Miss Helen Keethler, Miss Marie LaMar, Miss Elsie Massonave, Miss Hazel Hendricks, Miss Mary Hampton.

THE LOVE BUG.

A big float with a tremendous "Love Bug" in the center and wearing the head of a beautiful blonde woman with the arms clasping a basket of flowers came silently by. In the center of the big figure was seated Miss Judith Tyrrell, of the Wallis Dramatic School. There were red roses set forth with electric light, green leaves and even green roses supported by great red hearts fully five feet across, that ranged along the sides of the float.

The maidens riding in the Love Bug were: Miss Mildred Cousins, Miss Ada Mann, Miss Helen Mann, Miss Carrie Blake, Miss Cecile Richardson, Miss Rita Broom, Miss Wright, Miss Golding, Miss Blanch Rank, Miss Lillian Blake, Miss Kerchoffer, Miss Higbsmith, Miss Nellie Popham, Miss May Wolfe, Miss Inez Park, Miss Philletta Radcliffe, Miss Aida S. Carleton, Miss Jean Sloane, Miss Florence and Miss Bertha Ashley, and Miss Elsie Rees.

GRASSHOPPER.

A mystical thing that looked as though it had stepped out of some fairy tale was a gigantic grasshopper of green and silver. It seemingly crouched over the big float with its spidery legs sprawled to the four corners. Along the sides of the float were enormous black and yellow tables, which looked like pin-wheels of color, as the electric lights played on their sides. The contrast of the white and green and black and yellow, while startling, was delightful. Over the entire float was thrown a light, flimsy veil, back of which were seated four or five beautiful young ladies.

In the Grasshopper float were Miss Elizabeth Miller, Miss Julia Weber, Miss Voellenger, Miss Hunrath, Miss Margaret Barnum, Miss Powell, Miss Conover, Miss Rita Seavey, Miss Ina Lipers and Miss Agnes Weber.

FISH BALLOON.

A glistening blue and white fish extending fully twenty feet from head to tail and supported by gold and red flimy contrivances, was the general appearance of the Fish Balloon. The lower part of the float was deep blue with white stars attached to the four corners and scattered about beneath the balloon were a dozen or so pretty young ladies from the Francis J. Wallis dramatic school. From time to time the big head swung majestically to the right and then to the left, as though acknowledging the plaudits of the crowded streets. There were masses of electric lights of various colors, which outlined perfectly the magnificent conception.

The young ladies in the Fish Balloon were Miss Cecelia Gillespie, Miss Edna Riley, Miss Eleanor Barry, Miss Judith Tyrrell, Miss Cleone Throat, and Miss Mary White.

THE EAGLE.

Then came the Eagle, a giant yellow and gold bird with wide-spread pinions that looked for all the world like a sublimated conception of the old gray eagle that has watched from the tower of the old Times building and kept its guard over Broadway and its throngs for so many years. There were banners and gorgeous silk flags draped on the sides of the float and directly in front of the great eagle was seated "Miss Columbia." Miss Goldie Colwell, a charming young lady with a wealth of golden-brown hair. With Miss Colwell were Miss Elizabeth Haynes, Miss Hazel Sanders, Miss Frances Fletcher, Miss Lester Roberts, Miss Viola Delgal, Miss Helen Boyd, Miss Madge Schalk and Miss Lucille Wayne.

FIREFLIES.

A scintillating burst of red lights with glowing brilliants and pretty girls seated demurely beneath the many fireflies with their gauzy wings was the first impression of this float. A dozen or more huge fireflies with skin red wings were ranged on each side. There was one big firefly in the center and the groundwork was of the same brilliant red color with garlands of flashing brilliants and electric lights to carry out the idea of fireflies at night. In each of the fireflies was seated a beautiful maiden, who was enjoying the spectacle and her own position fully as much as the spectators in the streets. The dainty bundle of fireflies seated in this float were Misses Edna Thomas, Martha Brammwart, Sylvia Raynes,

There were masses of electric lights of various colors, which outlined perfectly the magnificent conception.

THE EAGLE.

Then came the Eagle, a giant yellow and gold bird with wide-spread wings that looked for all the world like a sublimated conception of the old gray eagle that has watched from the tower of the old Times building and kept its guard over Broadway and its throngs for so many years. FIREFLIES.

A scintillating burst of red lights with glowing brilliants and pretty girls seated demurely beneath the flimsy fireflies with their gauzy wings was the first impression of this float. A dozen or more huge fireflies with big red wings were ranged on each side. The dainty bundle of fireflies seated in this float were Misses Edna Thomas, Martha Brammwart, Sylvia Raynes, Emma Gerz, Alta Conover, Leola Buell, Savier Crouch and Irene Spangler.

THE STORK.

Then came the Stork, a great white, wise-looking bird that swung its bespectacled head back and forth and shook the time-honored cherub from a long sling or loop of white. The body of the stork was fully twenty feet in length and it stood erect on giant legs, that brought its long head close to the trolley wires. Directly in front of the head of the stork was a miniature chimney, from which peeped a rosy-cheeked little tot. Scattered about the floor of the float were a dozen little tots in charge of several charming young ladies, who bashfully endeavored to appear matronly and hold the little children in the proper and accepted manner. The color scheme of the float was white and blue, and thousands of brilliant-colored lights glistened from every line of the giant figure.

In the stork float were seated Miss Frick, Miss Opal Comer, Miss Florence Becker, Miss Fort, Miss Ada Parker, Miss Munn, Mrs. Griffing and Mrs. Van Haltren.

FLYING FISH.

A blue and white and gold burst of color came moving slowly by and displayed a big flying fish of the size of a whale that was in the act of leaping from one end of the float to the other. It was sparkling with electric lights and radiant with brilliants that made its sides glisten like a mirror. Beneath the great leaping figure were seated a score of young ladies, who in their appropriate gowns fitted perfectly into the picture.

The float contained Miss Page, Miss England, Miss Rice, Miss Mary Green, Miss Ruth Heinz, Miss Eleanor Heinz, Miss Henderson, Miss Moss and Miss Margaret Stick.

CASTLE IN THE AIR.

One of the dainty allegorical parts of the pageant was the Castle in the Air. It was nothing at all in particular, but was white and glistening and had in the center a big canopy with the four corners supported by white posts that reminded one of a classic shrine in an ancient garden. Everything was mystical and ephemeral and only the delightful young ladies who were occupying the fragment of the castle that was shown looked real and natural. They glowed and beamed from behind a big strip of veiling that hung from the top of the castle to the sides.

The ladies were Miss Imogene Burns, Mrs. Bissett, Miss Elizabeth Nochols, Miss Mildred Hobart, Miss Eva L. Cornell, Miss Louise Baur and Miss Olive Greenwand.

ROCKET.

The Rocket was a great uprising mass of red lights that gave the effect of leaping straight into the air. It was a crimson burst of color. The float was in three parts, with the one uprising piece in the center and two smaller pieces of the same construction at either end. It resembled more truly the conception of a volcano in eruption as there were red and carmine both in the structure and in the lights and all had the effect of rushing upward.

In the Rocket float were seated Miss Dorothy White, Miss Blondie Parker, Miss Ethel Decker, Miss Minnie Subke, Miss Cora Carlson, Miss Grace Hawkins, Miss Edna Hobart, Miss Hannah Zacker, Miss Lillian Roberts, Miss Blanch Riley, Miss Ida Schlinger, Miss Wolcott, Miss Ora Brooks and Miss Edna McCue.

MONOPLANE.

One of the most pleasing of the sixteen floats in the big pageant was the Monoplane, with its white outspread wings riding on a foundation of pure white. In the driver's or aviator's seat was a charming young lady, who handled the mechanical end so that it turned back and forth first to one side and then to the other side of the street, giving the effect of actual flying as the float moved smoothly along the street.

The monoplane float was occupied by Miss Olive Kletting, Miss Lucy Parkhurst, Miss Gladys Taylor, Miss Theresa Ellvers and Mrs. Belle Alexander.

OVER A MILE OF WONDER PAGEANT

IMPERIAL COUNCIL ESCORT A MARVEL OF BEAUTY.

Forty-five Arab Patrols, Forty Bands, Elephants, Camels, Snow White Horses and Marching Men Combine to Make Brilliant Shrine Week's First Parade.

A Bedouin host of gorgeously costumed Shriners, led by brilliantly caparisoned bands playing stirring music, moved majestically through the business streets of Los Angeles yesterday morning escorting the Imperial officers and representatives to the Scottish Rite Cathedral, where the Imperial Council meeting was formally opened.

It was a wonderful spectacle and perhaps the greatest day pageant ever witnessed here. The downtown streets presented a most beautiful appearance. The brilliance of the street decorations was rivaled by the splendor of the effulgent costuming of forty-five Arab patrols and forty bands.

One hundred thousand spectators pressed against the wire stretched along the streets and gazed in amazed wonder at more than a mile of glittering pageantry. The marchers, decked in all colors of the rainbow, made the streets a veritable kaleidoscope of color.

The parade was one moving picture after another of gay colors, strange oriental costumes and inspiring music. The touch took the spectators from the streets of the Angel City to faraway Cairo, as though by some magic in the swinging chords from a thousand instruments.

With all its beauty and splendor it was unique. Real camels bred in Missouri walked in the parade with elephants, "houn' dawgs," snow-white horses, soldiers, mounted policemen and Shriners.

STRIKING PICTURE.

The patrols, averaging twenty-seven men each, and bands, gathered at Sixth and Spring at 9 o'clock. The Imperial officers and representatives entered automobiles at the Alexandria Hotel, where they waited for the pageant to pass.

Promptly at 9:15 o'clock the procession started up Spring street from Sixth, headed by Gen. Wankowski, marshal of the parade. Al Malaikah's Arab patrol in oriental raiment was followed by Al Malaikah Legion of Honor in bright new uniforms. A squad of mounted police on fractious steeds preceded Gen. Wankowski and cleared the streets of over-eager spectators.

When El Zagal Temple of Fargo, N. D., the last in line, reached the Alexandria, the automobile bearing Imperial Potentate John F. Treat, Mayor Alexander and Illustrious Potentate Flint, chairman of the Executive Committee, took its place in line. El Zagal is the Imperial Potentate's temple, and, although last in line, really held the position of honor.

The procession moved up Spring street to Second, thence to Broadway, south to Eighth, west to Grand, south to Eleventh, west to Hope street and north to the Cathedral, the Imperial Council meeting place.

MULTITUDE CHEERS.

There was unending applause from the thousands along the route as the pageant passed. No favoritism was shown. Every patrol and band came in for its share of plaudits. The different patrols vied with each other in the magnificence of the costuming and in intricate military and patrol formations en route.

When Hope street was reached, the patrols massed on either side between Ninth and Tenth streets and saluted the Imperial Potentate and other Nobles as they passed. As the officers and representatives alighted from automobiles and ascended the white steps to the Cathedral the bands played martial airs and the marchers cheered vociferously.

ORDER OF MARCH.

The patrols marched in the following order: Al Malaikah, Los Angeles; Kaaba, Davenport, Iowa; Pyramid, Bridgeport, Ct.; Moslem, Detroit; Medinah, Chicago; Islam, San Francisco; Lu Lu, Philadelphia; Murat, Indianapolis; Kosair, Louisville; Tripoli, Milwaukee; Zuhrah, Minneapolis; El Kahir, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Moolah, St. Louis; Saladin, Grand Rapids, Mich; Acca, Richmond; Hella, Dallas; El Mina, Galveston; El Katif, Spokane; Tangier, Omaha, El Jebel, Denver; Moila, St. Joseph; Ararat, Kansas City; Al Kader, Portland, Or.; India, Oklahoma City; Aladdin, Columbus; Mizpah, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Alee, Savannah; Za-Ga-Zig, Des Moines; Zamora, Birmingham; Aloha, Honolulu; Abou Ben Adhem, Springfield, Mo.; Abu Bekr, Sioux City; Aahmes, Oakland; Nile, Seattle; Midian, Wichita, Kan.; Bagdad, Butte, Mont.; El Kahir, Salt Lake City; Al Malaikah, San Diego; Aad, Duluth; El Zagal, Fargo, N. D.

DECLINE TO BE CHAPERONES.

Faculty of Santa Ana Schools Vote Unanimously to Avoid Serving in Role of Protector of Youth.

SANTA ANA, May 7.—The men and women of the Santa Ana High School faculty have firmly declined to be responsible for the chaperonage of the High School picnic scheduled for Laguna Beach next Saturday. The faculty held a meeting last night, discussed the matter, and expressed the declination in the following statement:

"To parents and patrons of the High School: For several years past it has been the custom to have an annual High School picnic under the sanction and approval of the faculty, and consequently under their chaperonage and responsibility. This year, however, owing to the increased growth of the school and the consequent difficulties attendant upon the supervision of so large a number of young people at a public resort, the faculty has, by unanimous action, voted not to assume the responsibility of the proposed picnic at Laguna Beach on next Saturday, May 11, but instead to place it upon those who attend and upon their parents."

ORANGE GROWERS WIN.

Thirty-two orange growers won a decisive victory in the Superior Court today when Judge West decided that the Edmund Peycke Company of Los Angeles was a partner of E. L. Gilman of Orange in the purchase of $8778 worth of oranges. Gilman became a bankrupt, and it looked as though the growers would lose their money. A copy of Gilman's contract with the Los Angeles company was secured, showing that it was to share the profits with Gilman. The judge's decision puts the responsibility of payment on Edmund Peycke Company.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The City Trustees last night revoked the poolroom license of I. Iwahake, a Japanese. Testimony of officers showed that a lodging-house run in connection with the poolroom was disorderly and unsanitary, and on that testimony the license was revoked.

The Trustees received a petition from 260 citizens asking for an election for a board of freeholders to frame a city charter for Santa Ana. City Clerk Burke certified that the petition was sufficient under the law, and the election will be held within two months.

Marriage licenses: William B. Morton, 31, Yucaipa, and Evelyn A. Jumper, 29, Newport Beach; Scott A. Newsom, 27, and Hattie A. HOME COMPANY TURNS TRICK.

Orange is Invaded By a Corporation Which Desires to Do Business With the Public.

ORANGE, May 7.—After years of dickering in the hope of getting into Orange, the Home Telephone Company ceased dickering and went in anyhow. At least, it is in Orange with one line and one telephone installed. Whether or not it can maintain that one line will come to a test within forty-eight hours, for the City Trustees have given the telephone company that length of time to get its two poles off the street. If the poles are not removed, the street superintendent has instructions to remove them forthwith.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company has been the only telephone service here. All the various schemes advanced by the Home people to get in failed. It felt that connection with Orange was material to the growth of the system at Santa Ana. A month ago a franchise was offered for sale, and it was thought the Home company would bid strong. When bids were opened, however, the Home bid but $100, and the franchise was sold to the Pacific for $1000.

The City Trustees thought that the Home had given up the fight. Such was not the fact, for quietly in the night time, the Home ran a line from Santa Ana to Orange, using Southern California Edison Electric Company poles inside the city limits with the exception of two poles, which were raised on North Olive street.

The telephone was established in the office of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company. The telephone was in and working before the city authorities found out what had happened. It was then found that the Street Superintendent had given no permission for the placing of telephone poles on North Olive street, and under the city ordinance his permission must be secured before a pole can be set. Armed with this ordinance, the City Trustees have issued the ultimatum. If the Home Company does not remove the poles, the city will.

PIPE LINE TO SAN PEDRO.

San Francisco Concern Announces That it Has Money Ready For an Elaborate Proposition.

SAN PEDRO, May 7.—A pipe line from the Midway oil fields to San Pedro is said to be assurred in an announcement made here by the Esperanza Oil Company, that it has just completed arrangements for financing a $4,000,000 bond issue.

The line will be of eight-inch steel pipe 170 miles long, and will run from Bakersfield through Elisabeth Lake, Tropico, Huntington Park and Wilmington, terminating at San Pedro.

In the Excitement.

FIRE ALARM, LOST CAT, FALL AND FAINTINGS.

DRAMATIC in the extreme was the dash of the fire department down Third street while the Shrine divisions of the pageant were passing on Broadway and Spring. From the east side of Main came an alarm. The heavy Hill-street three-horse ladder and the other vehicles clanged up hill, turned through the crowd at Hill and Third. Reaching Broadway at high speed, they found not a congested mass, but a wide passageway that had been cleared by Sergt. Tyler and a large squad of police. At Spring street Sergt. Heath had also cleared the way and the department tore along at an astonishing rate.

The shrill whistles of patrol commanders mingled with the hoarse utterance of the crowd as it was backed away before the fire gongs. Back, back, back they were forced, some in frenzy, but generally giving way readily and intelligently. In a few minutes the police patrol traversed the same route. It moved with the same speed and found the same passage clear. Returning again the fire department had no trouble.

Later in the night, when the last of the marching divisions had passed, and the electric parade was about to start through the business section of the city, the police showed excellent judgment and did speedy work. Before the mass had come to a realization of what was happening, the wires had been stretched across Broadway and the human stream checked.

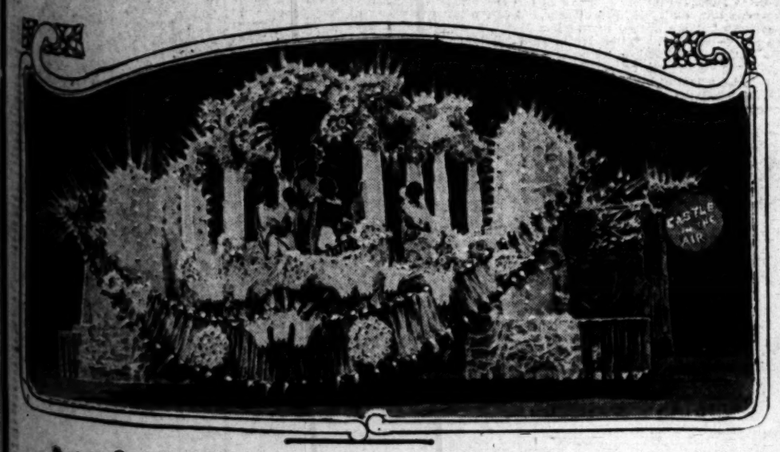
A number of slight accidents, fainting women and one falling man, created interesting situations at the new Bullock building on Broadway, near Seventh. A staging and a protecting board was used by a large number of persons as a sightseeing pavilion. They climbed up on ladders from the rear and when the jam was at its height a man slipped off the edge and fell upon the crowd below, creating a slight panic. The distance was about a dozen feet. The protecting cushion of human heads prevented serious consequences. The crush in the following excitement caused several women to faint. The police were right on the job, formed a hospital corps and carried the women out of the crowd and to medical aid.

A lost cat stirred up Broadway. The cheering and screeching at the poor animal was taken up and it dashed up and back from Mercantile place to Seventh street, with several patrolmen in hot pursuit. A hundred urchins joined the chase and for five minutes offered an amusing sidelight prelude to the parade. A lengthy cop finally managed to grab the frightened animal and it was passed back into the crowd and started down an alley off Sixth street.

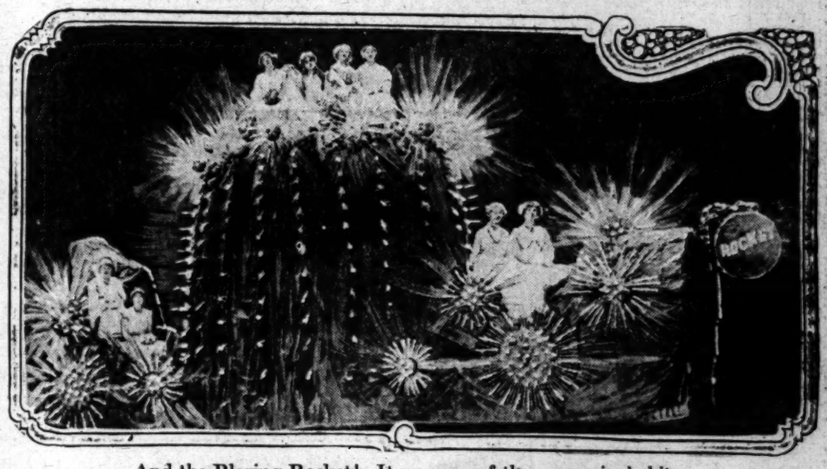
Walter Nelson on a unicycle was the cause of a chase down the street. He was riding a one-wheeled apparatus after everyone had been ordered off and managed to outride several officers who gave chase after he had slipped through the line and started a procession all his own. Luck was more than in his favor. He landed in front of a theatrical man and was offered a position at one of the leading playhouses.

A Weary Willie in ragged apparel, managed, intentionally or otherwise, to get the center of the car tracks, and for two blocks received salvoes as he ducked his bald head in appreciation of his real merit. At Fourth street he was pushed through the line.

There was little real disorder—merely a few squabbles in the good-natured crowds that packed the line of march.



One of the most charming floats—what so many of us build.



And the Blazing Rocket! It was one of the procession's hits.

Gay Doings Around Town Make Nobles Hustle to Keep Up With Programme

Doors Bolted.

MYSTERY VEILS COUNCIL WORK.

Public Admitted to a Brief Session, Then Goes.

Appreciation Expression by Noble Guests.

Banquet Refreshes Pilgrims from Everywhere.

'Mid scenes of pomp and splendor the first actual session of the officers and representatives to the Imperial Council meeting from North America was opened at Scottish Rite Cathedral yesterday afternoon shortly after 12 o'clock.

When Past Imperial Potentate Hines called the public session to order there were 450 of the 463 representatives in their seats and all of the thirteen Imperial officers with the exception of William J. Matthews, Imperial Outer Guard, who was unable to come to Los Angeles because of sickness in his family.

After the short session, to which the public was admitted, the Noble Guards closed the heavy oak doors, turned huge locks and dark secrecy held sway.

The most important business transacted at yesterday's two-hour session—as far as could be learned owing to the almost impenetrable wall of mystery thrown about the conclave hall—was the granting of temple charters to Muskogee, Okla., and Jackson, Miss. San Diego was granted a dispensation for a year, which means that the hustling Southern city will be given a charter next year.

Two thousand men and women crowded the galleries after the Imperial officers and representatives had seated themselves. The lower floor presented a beautiful picture with the hundreds of gorgeously-costumed representatives wearing red fezzes and turbans. The Imperial officers sat in a semi-circle on the platform draped with Shrine colors and fragrant California flowers.

Past Imperial Potentate Fred A. Hines of this city presided at the public meeting. He called the meeting to order and announced the programme for the open session.

MOOLAH'S SONGSTERS.

The exercises opened with a Shrine song by sixteen Nobles from Moolah Temple, St. Louis, in natty white raiment. They made a great hit and responded to an encore.

Rev. Baker P. Lee of Christ Episcopal Church delivered the invocation, after which the Zuhrah Temple Quartette, Minneapolis, sang two selections.

Mayor Alexander was introduced, and made a brief address of welcome. At the conclusion of his talk the Mayor presented Imperial Potentate Treat with a six-foot gold tinted key to the city of Los Angeles. The roof shook from dome to basement with applause when the Imperial Potentate arose and graciously accepted the gift.

"On behalf of the people of the Angel City I welcome each and everyone of you to this great and progressive city," said the Mayor.

"We hope you will have a bully good time and long remember your visit to Los Angeles. Los Angeles is a great convention city, and one of the most progressive in the world. Come again, fellow Nobles, the latch string is always hanging on the outside of the door."

Without any formal introduction, Motley H. Flint, illustrious Potentate of Al-Malaikah Temple, and chairman of the Executive Committee, moved to the front of the platform. He was given an ovation by the Nobles, who tossed their fezzes in the air and shouted, "What's the matter with Flint?"

Potentate Flint delivered a short but impressive address of welcome, in which he said that if any of the visitors have any complaint to register regarding the management of the Shrine week programme, they should file them with him, because he is responsible.

"When I told you at Rochester last year what Los Angeles would do if you came out here I spoke the truth. We have gone the limit to make your sojourn here pleasant and enjoyable, and have tried in every way to deliver the goods.

"On behalf of Al Malaikah, the city of Los Angeles, and the great State of California, I bid you hearty welcome—take the city—it belongs to you."

IT'S TREAT'S TREAT.

Imperial Potentate Treat followed Flint. He was given a rousing reception. He made a brief speech, thanking the citizens of Los Angeles for the royal manner in which they have entertained the visiting nobles and their ladies.

"We want you all to know that we have accepted your welcome," he said. "We are in Los Angeles to enjoy the brilliant and attractive programme you have provided for us. We are going away in a few days but you may rest assured that we're all coming back and again partake of your hospitality and good fellowship.

"We are all smiling these days—in fact Shriners always smile. Our tenets teach us the value of an honest smile. Shriners believe in good fellowship and good cheer. There is no place for the grouch or crab in Shrinedom. An iceberg is pure but it is mighty poor company."

The closing number of the programme proved a treat. A quartette from Aad Temple, Duluth, rendered several popular Shrine songs and a new one, entitled "Imperial Potentate Treat." The song was applauded and cheered and the singers repeated it several times.

EXIT THE PUBLIC.

Noble Hines then politely informed the public that the "public" session was over, requested that they leave the building, and the secret meeting was on.

At 2 o'clock the session was adjourned to the basement, where a sumptuous banquet was awaiting. Everything good to eat and drink was spread out before the hungry potentates and nobles. Real California black bear meat was served. The bear was killed some time ago in the San Jacinto Mountains and weighed 248 pounds, dressed.

The banquet hall was decorated with sweet peas, roses, carnations and other flowers. Shriner emblems and insignias were hung about the hall lively music. It was a happy affair and voted the most enjoyable traditional banquet ever held by the Mystic Shrine. There were no speeches. L. J. Christopher had personal charge. The menu follows:

Sessions will be held this morning and afternoon. The officers for the ensuing year will be elected this afternoon. William J. Cunningham, Imperial Deputy Potentate, will be named Imperial Potentate. Only one Imperial Council officer is to be elected, that of outer guard. There are several candidates, but Ernest Cutts, Potentate of Alee Temple, Savannah, is almost certain to win.

Atlantic City is making a strong bid for next year's conclave, and looks like a sure winner. Milwaukee and Denver would like to have it, but apparently stand little show.

Outriders Wanted.

The Playground Commission will have a float in the floral parade on Friday and asks any one who has a pony and who can serve as an outrider, to telephone to the park department, Main 9060, today.

SHRINERDOM HITOGRAMS.

He's Married Many.

Noble Herman Beyer of Mecca Temple, New York, is no hand to worry. He says that the joy he has had keeps him from it.

"I have got the marriage record in New York," said he.

"What, you have got Nat Goodwin's record beaten?" inquired an incredulous bystander.

"Nat Goodwin's record beaten?" said Noble Beyer, with an airy wave of the hand, "Well, I should say I have. I have married 2900 couples in two years."

"Heavens and earth, that makes 5800 persons, surely, you have not married more wives than Solomon?" gasped the listener.

"No, I just married that many couples in the course of my tenure as superintendent of the County Clerk's office," chuckled Beyer. "I was empowered to marry couples who had taken out a license and I think that I have broken a world's record for the number of couples I have united."

Newspaper Troubles.

Charles F. Powers decided that all the news, all the time, on the Grand Rapids special should be doled out for the benefit of Saladin's Temple. Therefore he organized himself a stock company and inveigled L. A. Cornelius, W. E. Elliott, Guy Johnston, Edward M. Metheany and Neil De Young into putting some real money into the enterprise.

Next he went after steady advertisers and bluffed the temple officers, members of the patrol, representatives of the Imperial Council and a bunch of amateur authors, who wanted to see their names in print, into paying for the privilege of the front page. The back page he filled with personal encomiums, according to his friends and knocks for the bunch who managed to hold him up and take as much as $10 away from him at once.

The stockholders will endeavor to reorganize the staff on the return.

All Up in the Air.

Three giants, whose stature would have made Peter the Great immediately enlist them in the service of his guards, stood in the lobby of the Alexandria yesterday afternoon.

They towered so far above the common herd as to attract universal attention. Upon their fezzes was the single word, "Mecca."

"Where are you gentlemen from?" inquired a bystander. "We are from New York," answered the trio simultaneously, and in voices so basso profundo that they seemed to make the very pillars in the lobby shake.

Each one of them is 6 feet, 4 inches tall. They are L. B. McMurty, L. B. Hoeppner and Herman W. Beyer.

McMurty and Hoeppner are partners in the oil business in San Francisco. They came to California in 1906, but still maintain their old affiliations with Mecca Lodge, of New York City.

Bond Dealer.

Not the kind of bonds you are thinking of. They are the kind some folks consider a necessity, judging from the excellent figure discernible around the hotels. This Shriner, who is also a power in the "Knights of the Garter," a particular little club within the Pyramid Temple, is George S. Hill, interested in one of the greatest corset factories in the country. His home is Bridgeport and he is one of the Police Commissioners of that city. Friends say Hill knows more about figures than any man in the country and this is one of the incentives for the garter idea. He is passing the rubbers around to all of the visiting lady Shriners. On the train out, he engineered an initiation into his own little order and, to get even, the ladies submerged him with a scarf pin that he wouldn't trade for a rabbit's foot or an automobile. Hill is so many things in Masonry that it takes half a card to print them all.

Quarles Quarrels Not.

Even if they accused him of tearing away from his own people to join the Mormons, J. T. Quarles would not quarrel over the matter for a minute. It all happened when Quarles arrived in Salt Lake City. Being one of the most highly rated organists in the country, his immediate obsession on reaching the Mormon Temple was to play the great pipe organ. His fingers just itched. When one of the brethren offered him an opportunity of running over the keyboard if he joined the church, it is even declared that he started out to sign the first papers, only to be stopped by his friends of the El Koran Chanters, the organization he has been leading and helped to make famous at all of the conclaves within the past ten years. He is a Moolah potentate and has an organ of real tone and quality in a St. Louis church to play with, but it doesn't compare with that of the Mormons. Of decidedly small stature, he is stately enough to offset mere size. Anyway, who would think of size after he started to play? He claims that he owes much to a few of his fellow officials and refuses to give himself credit for all of the melody. Some of it emanates from the throats of J. A. Laird, president of the Chanters, from O. G. Mueler, W. M. Thompson and others of the crowd.

Gun Fighter Abroad.

They claim that the most dangerous character at the convention is one Col. George H. Green of Dallas, one-time United States Marshal for the northern district of Texas and still holding on to the sh. His pocket cannon is known to have quelled many a minor insurrection and several insurrectos have now gone to—but that is in advance of the story. His friends allege that he held up the Imperial Divan a number of years ago and at the point of a gun captured the position of Imperial Potentate. Sufficient to say that there has been no man in the South since his time who succeeded as well. He carries his honors in notches on his pistol grip and the grip looks like a well-used meat block. Hella Temple would go almost anywhere for him, even to the mouth of its own name. Ask any member.

Shriner Shiner.

How to get rich shining Shriners may be the title of a book by one W. C. Bristol, potentate of Al Kader Temple, of Portland, who partly to alleviate his suffering corns and partly to get even with one jokesmith, took it out on the bunch on the train coming down from the North. Less than a day out, or rather a night out, his brogans disappeared. The United States Attorney for Oregon at once got out a search warrant, backed by Federal government, but the shoes were gone for good. He wore slippers into town, some that the colored porter usually used, but which he was willing to part with for a consideration. Bristol started bright and early to get even and became a shiner. He polished nearly all the shoes on the train. After getting one of a pair brilliantined he would demand four bits and unless this sum was forthcoming, declined to polish the other. The minute he arrived in Los Angeles he hunted up a shoe store and fitted his feet. Then he purchased a new suit of clothes and hat and when last seen he was trying to decide between an automobile and a city block for the rest of what he had accumulated.

Governor's Life Saved.

Aboard the U.S.S. Bulgaria, on the fleet of the Pyramid Temple train, the S.O.S. signal broke across the air. Searchers for the man in distress were at once called out and they located a marooned warrior in one of the ships ahead. He proved to be ex-Gov. C. White of Parkersburg, W. Va., who in his own Pullman found liquids to the right of him and to the left, in front of him and to the rear, but never a one held out to him. Wandering through the Bulgaria, he found a life belt and stayed with it until rescue was offered by arrival at Los Angeles. They say Gov. White is swimming after a new temple for Parkersburg. He has managed to prove to many of the Imperial representatives that he, with a large number of Shriners, are marooned on the Parkersburg oasis and that they deserve self-government. It is generally conceded that he will get what he is going after.

Bing-Bang, a Cowboy.

Just because "Mike" Freeman changed his chaps for camel driver's clothes is no indication that he doesn't expect to return to the ranch. His father left him so many acres, horses, cows and other things that he really couldn't think of leaving the neighborhood of Dallas. He has wealth by the basket and no one to share it with him. Consequently his business in Los Angeles is not all Shrine business. A portion of it is devoted to looking for an active partner. When Hella Temple pulled into Goodnight's ranch, the place where they have one of the few surviving herds of buffalo in this country, he started to hunt one of the animals for a souvenir, a buffalo to take the place of the goat mascot that last year was pushed off a steamer by a rude wave while the temple was on its way home from New York. The engineer tooted the whistle before Mike had a chance to put his brand on one of the bisons, but he did manage to rope a little white Spitz dog and ride away on one of the Goodnight ponies, catching the train on the fly. He is now teaching the Spitz Shriner pass words in order to make him eligible for the next conclave. His guardian on the present trip is Sam P. Cochran, the only Thirty-third Degree Mason in Texas and a live wire insurance and lightning rod agent, so they say.

Kidnaped and Found.

This is the first young lady that has come into the columns of strong hits. She deserves a niche for the season that she was kidnaped bodily when the train of Al Kader Temple pulled out of the Portland station. Clara Messinger had come to the depot to say a fond farewell to one or two who knew her best. It turned out that many aboard knew her well and the result was a kidnaping party. Friends enticed her on the train, then locked her in a compartment while she bewailed the fact that her only baggage was her silver purse, too small even to carry a Salome costume. In order to allay the fears of her parents on her disappearance a message from Salem informed them fully as to what happened and yesterday Miss Messinger was able to don a clean handkerchief with the arrival of several trunks from home.

Ten Thousand Shriners Take Beaches By Storm.

Finny Folk Smile From Gill to Gill; All Theirs.

If any one of the 3000 or more Shriners who went to the Santa Monica Bay cities yesterday did not have the time of his life it was not the fault of the entertainment committees of Venice and Santa Monica or of the people of the seaside generally. There was something doing every second. The various attractions of the beach cities were thoroughly enjoyed by the visitors through most of the morning and the afternoon.

The coupon books issued to men with the fezzes called for an automobile ride, a lunch, and a dip in the ocean or the plunges. But the Shriners found that these three things were the least part of the entertainment provided for them. Practically every one of the big Coney-like concessions were free to the visitors. The keys of Venice and Santa Monica were handed over with a knowing wrinkle and they were told to go as far as they liked.

Venice and Santa Monica were gorgeous in holiday attire as the first Shriners stepped off an electric car at Venice and with a whoop started for the pier. A committee of members of the Ocean Park Masonic lodge, headed by W. E. Hall of Al Malaikah, showed the visitors the way to enjoyment of a holiday.

J. H. Mooser, Col. M. E. Thum, Dr. C. C. Shipman, F. H. Ogden, C. Koontz, C. H. Mellus, G. K. Hazard and James Chalmers of Santa Monica were on hand to welcome every Shriner or his consort had a single dull moment. They were shown all the attractions of Windward Avenue, the pier, the various whirling devices and shooting rides. Dancing in Venice hall was free all day to the Shriners, and hunddreds took advantage of this form of amusement. Almost Mr. Shriner met Miss Santa Monica Bay and each highly approved the other.

BEACH LUNCH.

Mrs. Charles Sibley and a number of other handsome matrons had provided 3000 boxes of lunch for the Nobles and friends. In half an hour after the first box was handed out there was nothing left. Boxes of lunches, dainty and appetizing, failed even the fearsome appetites of the visitors to the last degree. Others, who came later, found excellent provision for the inner man in the cafes.

The committee from Santa Monica, A. R. Fraser, F. E. Royston, H. Wagner and S. H. Kingery, a member of Za-Ga-Zig Temple, most patiently when a Venice Shriner spieler assured the Shriners that they arrived at Venice the "This is Santa Monica Bay, not here," but they gently whispered those aboard that there was no beach above. So many were enveyed to Ocean Park and Santa Monica instead of getting off at Venice. Those who visited the latter resort Abbot Kinney first finally went in the northern cities, so that all the visitors saw all that was to be seen in the three places.

AT OCEAN PARK.

At Ocean Park the Shriners were given as hearty a welcome and fine entertainment as at Venice. They roller skated, heard Gamperelli's band and amused themselves to the limit on the pier and front.

Beautiful Santa Monica was appreciated to the full by the thousands of Shriners. They motored to Palisades, Santa Monica Canyon, to the bluff and park and were enthusiastic in their admiration of the scene and the city. They were royally received by the Santa Monica Lodge, F. & A. M., and showed the way to a good time in that part of the beach city.

A concert was given by the band from the cruiser Maryland, and orchestra chored off Santa Monica Canyon for a crack rowing crew of the navy gave an exhibition spin from the Venice pier to the Fraser pier. During the afternoon the Indian patrol gave exhibition drills on the ocean front. Everywhere there was a guarantee of a cordial welcome and the best there was in beach cities.

VISITED THE MARYLAND.

Boats were sent to the ships at frequent intervals for the accommodation of the Shriners and their ladies. The big cruiser was in holiday array, and, in hours of visitors the boat was illuminated at night. The officers on board were the fez-wearing visitors every courtesy and attention.

The patrol from Aloha Temple, typifying the Hawaiian spirit of enjoying to the fullest every moment of a holiday, seemed to be in the three beaches at once. Up and down avenue the sidewalks were reserved for them, and out on the Venice pier they swung, jolly, laughing crowd in white flannels, infecting everyone with their merriment. At the Venice Park amusement promenade they were the center of merriment. At Santa Monica they made the welkin ring with their shouts and songs. Capt. Johnson and his men thoroughly enjoyed Santa Monica and helped everyone else enjoy it too.

Members of Medinah patrol, who were in the middle of the crowd. And where was there a better crowd than the Za-Ga-Zig patrol? Potentate Earl C. Millis rested on the beach for a short time from the Imperial Council meeting, to be one of merriment personified.

Alee patrol was there and in the midst of the fun. The Ismailia patrol members found time to look for themselves and others a good point. The Zurah patrol, not to be lacking their quarter, were everything and helped make it memorable. Tripoli patrol was in force and so were a host of others. Those sending only small delegations appeared to have selected the representatives with an eye especially for being amused. Rivalry in cheering cimeeven the

San Francisco Patrol Has Novel Advertisement of the Fair.

One of the most striking features of the great parade was supplied by the patrol of Islam Temple. Each member of the patrol carried a letter or a figure in his fez, done in tiny incandescent lamps and fed by a pocket battery. They marched in such an order that, in full line from curb to curb, their fezzes spelt out in letters of fire "World's Exposition, San Francisco, 1915." In the double-line formation the front line spelled the last half of the inscription and the rear the first.

This is only one of the stunts which the hustling Bay City boosters have pulled off here for their beloved city's aggrandizement and it is hinted that they have still more up the capacious sleeves of their flowing zouave jackets. hese are being jealously guarded until the time to spring them with greatest effectiveness. Not a noble in all Islam's 700-strong delegation, except the members of the patrol themselves, knew in advance of the fez-illumination feature.

EMPIRE MAKER SEEKS HEALTH.

Studied Strategy on Lawn of Westlake Park

Gen. Homer Lea of Los Angeles, whose name has been closely interwoven with the movement that has resulted in the establishment of the new republic of China, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning on the Lark, coming direct from China.

Gen. Lee is in frail health and is accompanied by a nurse. He was unable to walk when leaving the train and had to be assisted in a rolling chair to his automobile.

The story of Gen. Lea's connection with the great Chinese movement is of tremendous dramatic interest.

He first became interested in the turmoil in China during the Boxer rebellion. President Jordan of Stanford University, from which Lea graduated, was traveling in China on official business. While near Pekin he saw a body of Boxers march up and halt close by and he is sure he saw at their head Homer Lea.

Shortly after the Boxer rebellion Lea returned to Los Angeles supplied with what seemed to be unlimited funds and bearing several souvenirs which were said to have been presented to him by the Boxers or by the Chinese government. For seven years after this Lea studied strategy on the lawn of Westlake Park and perfected himself to such a degree that he is considered an authority.

A PRINCE HIS CHUM.

The first intimation of Lea's connection with the gradually growing revolutionary spirit in China was when Prince Liang Kui Chew of the royal family of China, who had been banished, arrived in Los Angeles and immediately sought out Homer Lea. Shortly after this there arrived another distinguished but banished Chinese, Kang Yui Wei, former Premier of China. There followed the establishment of what seemed to be a minature Chinese court at Lea's home on West Seventh street. For months Lea and his two distinguished Chinese friends were bosom chums.

When Kang Yui Wei left for Washington to visit President Roosevelt, Lea accompanied him and when the Premier continued to Europe Lea was still his closest friend and adviser.

In the trail of the visit of the Chinese Premier to Los Angeles and other American cities, companies of Chinese militia sprang up and were drilled and trained in military tactics for months. Within a week every member of these companies had melted away and Lea has often told friends that every one of them are leading troops in the Chinese revolutionary party which established the new republic.

One of the most dramatic episodes in Lea's life in China was when, during the Boxer rebellion, he and two Chinese determined upon the startling idea of kidnaping the Empress as she was fleeing with scanty escort from the Pink City to the summer palace. The attempt was made, but by the interference of their own men who did not understand the move and who could not be trusted with the tremendous secret the plan failed.

HIS REMARKABLE BOOK.

Gen. Lea's greatest book was the "Valor of Ignorance," which in its knowledge of strategy and military tactics awakened the military heads of the United States, England and Germany. It was adopted by the United States War College as one of the first books officers should read after completing all other courses in West Point. It was taken up by Great Britain and has been included in the curriculum of Sandhurst. The Kaiser has had the book translated into German and it is being used as a text book in the Fatherland.

While Lea was in England he was asked to assist the British government in the establishment of a new plan of national defense. While he was resting at Weisbaden the revolution in China broke out in all its fury and Gen. Lea dropped his work and sailed immediately for China, where he remained until the state of his health made a longer stay impossible.

An incident in Lea's life in this city prior to the outbreak of the Chinese rebellion shows how close he has been to the new republic. About two years ago he called a friend on the telephone and asked him to take luncheon with him at the Alexandria grill. The friend accepted and found himself in the presence of a rather short Chinese gentleman who was introduced as Dr. Sun Yat Sen of China. There was no significance in the name of Sun Yat Sen at that time, but Lea confidentially told his friend to make a note of the Chinese gentleman's name on his cuff and to not send the cuff to the laundry.

"What is his especial importance?" queried the friend.

"If he raises his finger, 50,000,000 loyal Chinese subjects will respond and offer him their lives, and some day he will be the first President of China."

READY FOR GREAT MEETING.

Secretary of State Knox to Speak for Taft in Los Angeles Tomorrow Night.

Arrangements are practically completed for the great Taft meeting tomorrow (Thursday) night, to be addressed by Secretary of State Knox. The distinguished speaker will arrive from the North at 7:30 in the evening and will go directly to the Solomon dancing pavilion, No. 920 South Grand avenue, where the meeting will be held.

ALL THE FISHES IN RED FEZZES.

Cities of Santa Monica Bay Caravan's Mecca.

Finny Folk Smile From Gill to Gill; All Theirs.

If any one of the $000 or more Shriners who went to the Santa Monica Bay cities yesterday did not have the time of his life it was not the fault of the entertainment committees of Venice and Santa Monica or of the people of the seaside generally. There was something doing every second. The various attractions of the beach cities were thoroughly enjoyed by the visitors through most of the morning and all the afternoon.

The coupon books issued to them with the fezzes called for an automobile ride, a lunch, and a bath in the ocean or the plunges. But the Shriners found that these three things were the least part of the entertainment provided for them. Practically every one of the big Coney-like concessions were free to the visitors. The keys of Venice and Santa Monica were handed over with a joyous shakie and they were told to go as they liked.

Venice and Santa Monica were gorgeous in holiday attire as the Shriners stepped off an electric car at Venice and with a whoop started for the pier. A committee of members of the Ocean Park lodge, headed by W. E. Chase, Al Malaikah, showed the visitors the way to enjoyment of a high order.

H. Mooser, Col. M. H. Tague, C. C. Shipman, F. H. Officer, Koontz, C. H. Mellen, G. M. Jones, James Chalmers of Santa Monica were on hand to see that their guests or his consort had a single moment. They were shown the attractions of Windward avenue, the pier, the various whirling, dizzy shooting rides. Dancing in the pavilion hall was free all day to the visitors, and hunddreds took advantage of this form of amusement. Every Shriner met Miss Santa Monica Bay and each highly appreciated the other.

BEACH LUNCH.

Mrs. Charles Sibley and a committee of other handsome matrons had provided 3000 boxes of lunch for the Shriners and friends. In half an hour after the first box was handed out there was nothing left. But the lunches, dainty and appetizing, satisfied even the fearsome appetites of the visitors to the last package, who came later, found a bountiful provision for the inner man in the cafes. The committee from Santa Monica was Mrs. Fraser, F. E. Royston, M. Turner and S. H. Kingery, a member of Za-Ga-Zig Temple, smiled proudly when a Venice megaphone man assured the Shriners who had arrived at Venice that the best is Santa Monica Bay, got off the cars but they gently whispered "Venice" aboard that there was no need for above. So many just happened to Ocean Park and Santa Monica instead of getting off at Venice, who visited the bailiwick of Abbot Kinney first finally wound up in the northern cities, so that all the visitors saw all that was to be seen in the three places.

AT OCEAN PARK.

Ocean Park the Shriners were met as hearty a welcome and entertainment as at Venice. Many roller skated, heard Chadwick's band and amused themselves to the limit on the pier and concessions.

Beautiful Santa Monica was given to the full by the throngs of Shriners. They saw the cities, Santa Monica Canyon, went stuff and park and were enthusiastic in their admiration of the pier and the city. They were received by the Santa Monica F. & A. M., and showed them a good time in that part of each city.

A concert was given by the band on the cruiser Maryland, which lay off Santa Monica, and the rowing crew of the warship gave an exhibition spin from the pier to the Fraser pier. The afternoon the India Temple gave exhibition drills on the front. Everywhere the guarantee of a cordial welcome and the best there was in the cities.

ENTERTAINED THE MARYLAND.

Shriners were sent to the Maryland at intervals for the sending of the Shriners and their The big cruiser was in battle array, and, in honor of the boat was illuminated by the officers on board showed wearing visitors every attention.

A patrol from Aloha Temple, the Hawaiian spirit of to the fullest every Friday, seemed to be in aches at once. Up Windward the sidewalks were too and out on the Venice ing, jolly, laughing fannels. Infecting merriment. At the amusement promenades the center of merry Monica they made their their shouts and Johnson and his men enjoyed Santa Monica everyone else enjoyed

Studied Strategy on Lawn of Westlake Park

Gen. Homer Lea of Los Angeles, whose name has been closely interwoven with the movement that has resulted in the establishment of the new republic of China, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning on the Lark, coming direct from China. Gen. Lee is in frail health and is accompanied by a nurse. He was unable to walk when leaving the train and had to be assisted in a rolling chair to his automobile.

The story of Gen. Lea's connection with the great Chinese movement is of tremendous dramatic interest.

He first became interested in the turmoil in China during the Boxer rebellion. President Jordan of Stanford University, from which Lea graduated, was traveling in China on official business. While near Pekin he saw a body of Boxers march up and halt close by and he is sure he saw at their head Homer Lea.

Shortly after the Boxer rebellion Lea returned to Los Angeles supplied with what seemed to be unlimited funds and bearing sevgral souvenirs which were said to have been presented to him by the Boxers or by the Chinese government. For seven years after this Lea studied strategy on the lawn of Westlake Park and perfected himself to such a degree that he is considered an authority.

A PRINCE HIS CHUM.

The first intimation of Lea's connection with the gradually growing revolutionary spirit in China was when Prince Liang Kui Chew of the royal family of China, who had been banished, arrived in Los Angeles and immediately sought out Homer Lea. Shortly after this there arrived another distinguished but banished Chinese, Kang Yui Wei, former Premier of China. There followed the establishment of what seemed to be a miniature Chinese court at Lea's home on West Seventh street. For months Lea and his two distinguished Chinese friends were bosom chums.

When Kang Yui Wei left for Washington to visit President Roosevelt, Lea accompanied him and when the Premier continued to Europe Lea was still his closest friend and adviser.

In the trail of the visit of the Chinese Premier to Los Angeles and other American cities, companies of Chinese militia sprang up and were drilled and trained in military tactics for months. Within a week every member of these companies had melted away and Lea has often told friends that every one of them are leading troops in the Chinese revolutionary party which established the new republic.

One of the most dramatic episodes in Lea's life in China was when, during the Boxer rebellion, he and two Chinese, determined upon the startling idea of kidnaping the Empress as she was fleeing with scanty escort from the Pink City to the summer palace. The attempt was made, but by the interference of their own men who did not understand the move and who could not be trusted with the tremendous secret the plan failed.

HIS REMARKABLE BOOK.

Gen. Lea's greatest book was the "Valor of Ignorance," which in its knowledge of strategy and military tactics awakened the military heads of the United States, England and Germany. It was adopted by the United States War College as one of the first books officers should read after completing all other courses in West Point. It was taken up by Great Britain and has been included in the curriculum of Sandhurst. The Kaiser has had the book translated into German and it is being used as a text book in the Fatherland.

While Lea was in England he was asked to assist the British government in the establishment of a new plan of national defense. While he was resting at Weisbaden the revolution in China broke out in all its fury and Gen. Lea dropped his work and sailed immediately for China, where he remained until the state of his health made a longer stay impossible.

An incident in Lea's life in this city prior to the outbreak of the Chinese rebellion shows how close he has been to the new republic. About two years ago he called a friend on the telephone and asked him to take luncheon with him at the Alexandria hotel. The friend accepted and found himself in the presence of a rather quaint Chinese gentleman who was introduced as Dr. Sun Yat Sen of China. There was no significance in the name of Sun Yat Sen at that time, but Lea confidentially told his friend to make a note of the Chinese gentleman's name on his cuff and to not send the cuff to the laundry.

"What is his especial importance?" queried the friend.

"If he raises his finger, 60,000,000 loyal Chinese subjects will respond and offer him their lives, and some day he will be the first President of China."

booked to make her debut in Department Seven yesterday as defendant with Oliver Morosco in a suit brought by Frank Simmonds on a promissory note for $500 given November 11, last, and due at the Bank of Southern California.

This case was in the hands of the late Judge Dillon, and owing to his death and the fact that his son, who now represents Miss Rambeau, has not had time to prepare it, the matter was continued until June 27 by consent of Attorneys Stephens and Shelton, counsel for Simmonds. The note was given in a building operation, and the defense is that no advantage was taken of it.

SALE CONFIRMED.

BROKERS BUY BIG ACREAGE.

There were no bids to dispute the possession of 1000 acres in the Rancho La Puente, which J. H. Adams & Co. bought of the Baldwin estate for $430,000, and Judge Rives yesterday confirmed the sale at those figures. The commission is $17,000, which was also allowed by the court.

This sale was held up by Judge Rives because, being familiar with that section of the country and the rapid increase in values, he felt a better price might be obtained. The Baldwin heirs, however, accepted the bid, which was the only one received.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

HIS ANSWER. Attorney Milton K. Young filed Al Levy's answer to the complaint of Robert Schultz, a waiter at Levy's Cafe, who asks $2000 damages for having been assaulted by Levy on March 3, last. Levy alleges that a patron of the cafe complained that Schultz had stolen $1 from him. Levy required Schultz to return the money and ordered him to leave the cafe. When Schultz tarried the answer states, Levy grabbed him by the nape of the neck and the seat of his trousers and accelerated his removal, and in doing so, he says, he "may have encountered the physiognomy of the plaintiff."

WATER WAGON VICTIM. J. H. Barrett, in the employ of the Metropolitan Contracting Company as a street sprinkler, was run over by a sprinkler November 26, last, and brought suit yesterday against the company for $25,580 personal damages. He alleges the horses attempted to run away and while trying to restrain them by the reins, the wagon ran over his legs, breaking them.

SAYS TAXES ILLEGAL. The Santa Fe has filed a suit against the city of Los Angeles seeking judgment for $413.66, the amount of taxes paid under protest for the fiscal year on personal property. The company alleges these taxes are illegal, the assessment being in violation of the provisions of section 14, article 13, of the Constitution.

INCORPORATIONS. Central California Realty and Mortgage Company, incorporators, Charles H. Bingham, W. G. Palmer, L. E. Bingham, John C. Stick, A. F. Almond; capital stock, $100,000; subscribed, $50. High-Grade Mining Company, incorporators, R. X. Dawson, L. E. H. DeSallier, J. D. Kerker, J. W. Mowell, S. E. Vermilyea; capital stock, $1,000,000; subscribed, $5000.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

I. W. W. Jawsmith Forgets Drunken Threats When He Faces Judge—Begs and Becomes Abusive.

"I'm an I. W. W. and proud of it, and I'm going to help lick the blue coats when I get to San Diego," was the boast of Louis Schloss when arrested in a drunken condition Monday night and taken to the Central Police Station.

He was arraigned before Police Judge Rose yesterday morning and had a different tale to tell. He didn't boast of being an I. W. W. As for the advance upon and capture of the San Diego police force, Schloss evidently had no recollection of intention of such an act.

Schloss was charged by Patrolman Conley with having begged and been abusive when drinks or money were denied him.

"I'm a consumptive," he pleaded. "Being in a weakened physical condition, when I take a drink or two, it goes to my head. I need plenty of fresh air, too," further argued the man.

"Well, you need to show a little more judgment and common sense," commented the court. "I think a fine of $50 or fifty days in the City Jail will do you about as much good as a lot of fresh air."

Not having any money, Schloss went to jail.

Repeaters Punished.

C. Wilson, John Mackin, Ed. Lyman and J. Howard were before Police Judge Rose on drunk charges.

"They are all repeaters, your honor," reported Bailiff Hubbard.

"I see," mused the court, looking at them.

"I only had three drinks, and—" began Macklin.

"Five dollars or five days," interrupted the court; 'you can't get drunk twice in the same week and be excused by this court."

Blocks Patrol Wagon.

W. H. Bolger, a driver for the Atlantic Express Company, was fined $5 by Police Judge Rose for blocking the police patrol as it was rushing through the Third street tunnel Monday afternoon with Miss Howard, who was suffering from a fractured skull.

The man pleaded guilty, but said he did his best to stop his horses, which had become frightened at the gong.

"If I thought you deliberately blocked the way of that patrol," said the Justice, "I'd send you to jail."

Not Drunk, But—

William White broke several dollars' worth of dishes throwing them at S. Takayama, proprietor of an East First street restaurant, because he was asked to pay for a meal.

"I'll not pay for it," roared White, "and there isn't any son of the Mikado who can make me, either."

White threw a platter at Takayama, who dodged it.

Then Takayama received a handful of mashed potatoes in the face. He summoned Sergt. Ferris.

"I don't know anything about it," pleaded White in court. "I wasn't drunk, for I'd only had three drinks."

"Some times two drinks have the same effect," replied the court. White was sent to jail for thirty days.

His Vain Appeal.

Justice Rose's Police Court was thrown into an uproar of laughter yesterday when William Smith, No. 2427 Porter street, a colored man, fined $5 for disturbing the peace, turned to his wife, who had testified against him, and asked:

"Hon, will you all lend me $5 to pay my fine?"

"Listen here, man," replied the woman, "how'se I going to loan you any money when you never gives me a cent?"

Mrs. Smith walked out of the courtroom and her husband resumed his seat in the dock.

Shoot Up Gallery.

F. C. Knickerbocker permitted a number of colored men to "shoot up" his shooting gallery at No. 101 Wilmington street, Monday night, with the result that he was fined $50 or fifty days by Police Judge Rose yesterday.

It was testified that Knickerbocker permitted the use of weapons of a larger caliber than 22, and Monday night revolvers were used. Patrolman Perry remonstrated with Knickerbocker at the gallery. He says Knickerbocker threatened to use him as a targ

FINANCIAL NEWS SUMMARY.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, May 7.—Government crop report today will give condition of winter wheat.

Sale of $65,000,000 New York City bonds today.

International Harvester Company earns 14.45 per cent. on common stock in 1911, against 14.85 in 1910.

President Elliott of the Northern Pacific optimistic on crop outlook in northwest.

American stocks in London irregular.

United States Rubber Company earns 6.3 per cent. on common stock in 1911, compared with 3.3 previous year.

Employer's Liability and Workmen's Compensation Bill passes Senate.

Canadian Pacific declared regular dividend of 2½ per cent. on common stock.

Twelve industrials declined 1.18 per cent.

Twenty active rails declined .70 per cent.

The stock market held remarkably well in face of a continuance of heavy selling for both long and short account, especially in steel, which for a time, lacked aggressive support. There was in evidence quite a little pressure by what might be termed the eleventh hour bear element and in addition there was what has been lacking during the past few days, namely, buying of an influential nature. The list backed and filled within a relatively narrow margin until after the publication of the government crop report and although the latter with regard to the condition of winter wheat was not such as to warrant extreme enthusiasm still the condition revealed in the far northwestern States was reflected by some rather good buying of the roads traversing that territory.

The report, on the whole, appeared to confirm the private advices which we have been receiving from the central and southwestern States, but, of course, a period of favorable growing weather is likely to do much towards altering the aspect.

The street was interested in the report as to the hay crop, owing to the shrinkage same as last year, and as far as the abandoned acreage is concerned it is anticipated that from the standpoint of railroad tonnage replanting of cereals other than wheat on a basis of averages will compensate.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

There was an unusual demand for all fruit in the Los Angeles market yesterday. Cherries and berries were all taken early in the morning and the storage stock of apples was on the market in larger supply than usual. Oranges were quick sellers. The increased demand for fruit is attributed to the large number of visitors in the city for Shriners' week.

Cherries were in large receipt yesterday in view of the fact that they have been in market only a few days. They declined to 15 and 17½ cents a pound, the range in ten pound boxes being 11 and $1.80.

Sweet potatoes declined to $1 a hundred. Other potatoes were steady, receipts being only sixty-one sacks. The lack of receipts the past several days has caused the market to become greatly strengthened. The receipts of sweet potatoes yesterday were thirteen sacks.

Daisy cheese declined a cent a pound to 20 cents. The general tone in cheese was weak. Receipts were large yesterday and the demand is not equal to normal.

The poultry market yesterday showed signs of breaking. This condition was especially noticeable in hens. There were plenty of fish in the market to supply a heavy demand, the chief varieties being halibut and salmon.

Receipts were light. They were: Eggs, 704 cases; butter, 57,000 pounds; cheese, 1020 pounds; potatoes, sixty-one sacks; sweet potatoes, thirteen sacks.

SANTA MONICA ROAD RACE MAY NEVER BE HELD AGAIN---LOS ANGELES GRAND PRIZE NEXT.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

THERE is every reason to believe that the last Santa Monica Road Race has been held. In spite of the fact that 150,000 spectators saw Teddy Tetzlaff, in the Fiat, establish a new world record, on the fastest course on earth, conditions are such that another road race on the 8.417 miles of Santa Monica roads seems out of the question. At least $25,000 in prizes and possibly $50,000 must be raised for the next big speed battle. The remote chance of breaking the record set by the Fiat, makes another race a poor commercial proposition for factories and drivers. The average of 78.5 miles an hour for the long grind makes the drivers look askance at a proposition of changing the new mark.

This great road race barely paid expenses. Tetzlaff won $3500 for risking his life and thrilling the largest throng that ever witnessed a road race in the West. The question the drivers asked themselves yesterday was, "Is such a race worth the price?" David Bruce Brown, Ralph de Palma and Bert Dingley, men who rank as the greatest motor car drivers in the world, held a conference yesterday just before leaving on the train for Indianapolis. The consensus of opinion was that not one of these men will drive in a Santa Monica Road Race again unless the prize is at least $25,000. On the eve of their departure for a race where the price is $50,000, it was hard to think of returning to race for a paltry $5000. Starter Fred Wagner, who is to send the cars away in the big $50,000 speed battle, also agreed with the racing pilots that the prize must be at least five times as large in another Santa Monica Road Race.

Though Manager A. M. Young conducted the race, he will be lucky if he pays the expenses of the contest. The prizes alone were $7000. The entrance fees did not pay for more than half this amount. Bills which reach nearly $5000 are already in sight. The total expense of pulling off the Santa Monica Road Race will reach almost $15,000, according to Young, who says he is willing to show his books and receipts. Money was taken in at the grand stands. The city officials of Santa Monica refused to allow Manager Young to take money anywhere else. The officials declared the race must not be a money-maker, but Young faced the ugly possibility of losing $10,000. He admitted yesterday that the race will probably pay for itself. He says he is satisfied to come out of the speed battle with all his bills paid. The fact that this race could not be made to clear itself if the prize money had been set at a proper figure, makes the holding of another Santa Monica Road Race a joke for the drivers. This is also true of the factories and private owners of cars.

Had it not been for two business men of this city the big race would probably never have been held. These men purchased cars and entered them at their own expense. Dr. Edwin Janss, of the Janss Investment Company, of this city, purchased the "Owensmouth Baby," the big Fiat which Teddy Tetzlaff drove into a world record, and entered the car in the Santa Monica Road Race. He paid all the expenses and helped to make the big race an immense success. Eddie Maier, of the Maier Brewing Company, purchased the "Select Kid," the big Fiat Barney Oldfield drove, and made it possible for the former world's speed king to be a drawing card for the big road battle. Maier paid all the expenses of the car, and that was quite a bill, and sent Oldfield out to win. This fight between these two business men was one of the features of the big road race. The management did not pay a cent toward the expenses of either car. Manager Young states that Dr. Edwin Janss and Eddie Maier both paid entrance fees and paid all the expenses of the two cars. Attorney Eugene E. Hewlett, the Fiat agent, sold the cars to Dr. Janss and to Eddie Maier. The crowd knows how great a figure these two speed marvels cut in the great fight. Without the "Owensmouth Baby" and the "Select Kid," the big race would not have been such a great success

If we, in Southern California, do not want this world-famous race well enough to put up a real prize instead of the price of a haircut and a shave, there are other cities that do. The day before the Santa Monica Road Race was held a delegation of prominent citizens from Alameda called on the racing Manager Young and offered a large bonus for the race in the northern city. This offer was refused. Another offer was made from representative citizens in Tacoma. This was also turned town.

This race should be held in Los Angeles. It is too great for any city smaller than the City of the Angels. The next big contest should be a Los Angeles Grand Prize race for a cup, equal, if not better than the Vanderbilt trophy. There is an ideal course close to Los Angeles on which the race can be held. A prize worth fighting for should be raised and the entire expense of the contest should be guaranteed before a car is started.

A Sad Story.

TIGERS WALLOP STAR TWIRLER.

MALARKEY IS EASY AND HOGAN MEN TRIM OAKS.

Thirteen Hits Are Made off New Yorker—Raleigh Is a Tough Proposition for Oakland Players. Kane Hits the Ball Four Times. A Lop-sided Score.

BY GREY OLIVER.

Vernon, 9; Oakland, 2.

It does not seem to hurt the Tigers much to travel on Pullman cars for 2000 miles, for they went out to the ball park yesterday afternoon in the rain and clawed the life out of Mister Malarkey, the New York American club heaver.

Now, if this bird has much, he didn't use it yesterday, for the Tigers had no trouble in walloping him for thirteen swats, including two triples and three doubles. In addition to this pounding he made a balk, a wild pitch and gave two passes, so it is easy to guess that he was bad.

Raleigh, for the Tigers, was cracked for ten hits himself, but the Tigers gave him good support and he managed to scatter the drives around so they did not hurt much.

There were two Oakland bungles to assist in the gaiety of nations, but Vernon made enough runs on the square by slugging the ball.

As a matter of fact, in four different innings they made as many as the Oaks got in the entire game and the contest was a procession from start to finish.

VERNON BUSY EARLY.

Malarkey has been touted as a good heaver, but the Tigers began to slam him in the first inning, when Kane beat out an infield hit and scored when Ham Patterson rapped his first double to left. After that Malarkey was continually in trouble.

In the second inning he began by walking Carlisle, and Kane followed with a single. Then, after Patterson and Brashear went out, Bayless banged a single to left and Carlisle and Kane scored. Pretty soft.

There was some more easy money in the fifth, when Kane tripled against the center fence and scored on Patterson's double to right. Pat got to third on a balk and easily scored on Brashear's long sacrifice fly to center. Bayless followed with a triple to right, but could not reach the plate.

A pass, a single, a wild throw by Bud Sharpe to third, and a passed ball scored two more easy ones in

CONLEY TRAINS IN LONLELINESS.

NO MANAGER AND NO TRAINING PARTNERS THERE.

Frankie Looked Pretty Well but Seemed Gloomy and Went at His Work With Savage Intensity—Mrs. Gilmore and Mrs. Conley Both Have a Hunch as to Outcome.

BY OWEN R BIRD.

Like a forlorn little school boy, kept after hours, Frankie Conley worked yesterday afternoon for his coming fight with Jack White on Friday next. It was a dark and drizzly day out at Vernon and little Frank had to do almost all his work alone. A few of the faithful were on hand to see how the little man was coming along, but could not get a line on his work to any marked degree, owing to the fact that there was no sparring partners on hand to be walloped. Tom Jones is in the Bay City and Conley is going it by himself, with the result that McVey, who was to work the last two days, failed to show up and Conley had to be content with whaling his little brother all over the ring for three rounds.

After this Abdul the Turk was

Star Motor Pilots Refuse to Battle Again for Paltry Sum—Leave for Indianapolis Where Purse of Fifty Thousand Is Offered for Speed Carnival Which May Not Equal the Record Set at Santa Monica.

THE Vanderbilt Cup race is to be held in Milwaukee. The citizens of Milwaukee realize what a great thing this race will be for their city. The manager of this big race is to receive a large bonus, and the prize money will be as great as that at Indianapolis. The course will be fenced off and spectators will be charged to see the cars whiz around the course. The Vanderbilt Cup race will not and cannot be as great a contest as the last Santa Monica road race, which proved the greatest advertisement that Santa Monica has ever been given.

From 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon until 5:30 the immense crowd was thrilled. There was not a dull moment in the big race and not a tiresome second in the smaller races.

There was also not a second in either race that the men did not take a risk greater than that of any aeroplanist who has essayed to do the spiral dip. Tetzlaff took a chance that few men would take. He drove turns with his car almost wide open. He flew around Dead Man's Turn and narrowly escaped death when his car skidded and struck the iron railing. He did all this for $3500.

With the smoke of the speed battle cleared away he looks at the contest with a clearer vision. When his wife kissed him at the end of the race he realized that he had caused that plucky little woman hours of agony while he was winning a world record. The honor might have been worth all he risked his life for. In another race, however, the chances of breaking his own record would be so remote that Tetzlaff would hesitate before starting.

GREAT RACE—GREAT PRIZE.

When the cars snort away in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis the prize will be worth getting. The man who wins will be independently rich. He will have risked his life, but he will have earned something worth while. He has only about one chance in one hundred to break the world record established by Tetzlaff and the Fiat.

In this race will be Tetzlaff, Bruce Brown, Bert Dingley, Caley Bragg and others. These men were the stars of the Santa Monica road race. They enter the Indianapolis race willingly, but they will not enter another Santa Monica road race unless they can be assured of a prize that is worth winning. They realize how hard it will be to establish a new world record on any course.

Not a man had any fault to find with the management of the race. Not a driver raised an objection as to the details of the big contest. The course was thoroughly patrolled. The roads were cleared of pedestrians. There was

KERSCHER PASSES OUT AS OLDFIELD MEETS DEFEAT.

BEN KERSCHER is dead. The nervy "Flying Dutchman," once the team-mate of Barney Oldfield, was buried yesterday by his brother Masons. Ben died with his wife and baby girl holding the limp hands which once had driven the fast Darraeq into a world record.

The famous racing driver's finish was sad and yet was fitting. While Barney Oldfield, the man he worshiped, was facing certain defeat on the Santa Monica road race course, Ben entered the Great Beyond. While the Shriners were marching through the streets in full regalia Ben was laid to rest.

The man who defeated Oldfield in the palmiest days of the former speed king's triumphs, came to Los Angeles to watch Barney win the Santa Monica road race. Ben was certain Barney would be the victor. His fluttering heart was denied the pang that would have come had Ben seen Oldfield beaten by mere striplings who were in knee breeches when Barney was king.

Two weeks before the great road race Ben reached Los Angeles with his hollow eyes aglow with the fire of a speed contest in which he was sure a world record would be smashed. He was accompanied by his plucky wife and pretty baby. The pallid hands of the Great White Plague specter reached out for Ben and a week before the Santa Monica road race he was obliged to seek his bed. Even then he hoped to be carried to Santa Monica to watch Barney win.

While Teddy Tetzlaff was racing into a world record, far ahead of Oldfield, poor Ben passed out, firm in the belief that Barney was still the greatest motor driver on earth. As the Shriners marched by in a blaze of glory, Ben's body was lowered to its last resting place. His two last wishes had been denied. He did not see Barney win and death robbed him of the chance to enjoy Shriners' week.

Barney Oldfield is raising money to help the wife and child of the man who once gave him the greatest race of his life

BERGER WAS THE BIG SHOW OF NORTHERN GAME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] San Francisco missed at least four if not five chances to beat the Angels in the opener of the series today.

And then, with these chances gone, Roy Corhan, whose fielding had been the marvel of the league, dropped a throw from McCorry, and Berger scooted home with the winning run in a 3 to 2 game. It was a tough one for McCorry to lose. Nicely over his two-run bit of trouble in the first inning, thanks to Chick Hartley's drive that sent in two runs and tied the score, McCorry was pitching good ball and had all the better of the argument until that eighth inning, when the run came to hand that looked as big as a lightship.

Frank Dillon used Chech and while he was hit hard, for nine bingles all told, he had the luck of the game, with fielding that cut off runs. Hartley was robbed of a hit and the Seals of a tally in the seventh inning because Lober made a running catch when no one figured he could reach the ball and on the other occasions it was simply a case of failing to hit the ball in the pinches with men on the bases.

CHECH SETTLES DOWN.

Even so, there was enough of the uncertainty with always a possibility of the Seals breaking over the traces, until the last of the ninth, when Chech settled down to his task and took the first three men who faced him. McCorry didn't allow bunched hits after that painful first inning, when he allowed three, and as a matter of fact, the enemy got but three more during the afternoon, mostly widely scattered.

From the way McCorry was hit in inning number one it began to look as if he was due for a beating. Howard fanned, as he did twice again in the afternoon, but Berger rapped a sharp one to left, Daley's swat struck the fence in right and Core came along with a single past third and into foul territory in left that not an accident to mar the race. A sensational world record was established and not a spectator knew who would win until Tetzlaff drove the Fiat over the tape at the end of the last lap.

This race was conducted as never before. Chief of Police Randall of Santa Monica covered himself with glory in that he kept the course clear of pedestrians. Capt. Murray of Los Angeles handled his men like a general. The crowd saw the great race without risking the lives of a man, woman or child. This is a record in itself.

It would be hard to give Chief Randall of Santa Monica enough praise for his prompt and efficient service. The cars were raced down avenues of excited pedestrians, but not one was injured. A world record was broken by cars that skidded around the dangerous turns, but the crowds were kept out of harm's way.

Capt. Murray took charge of the local squad of khaki-uniformed men. Each of these patrolmen worked for at least twelve hours keeping the crowds within bounds. There was not a complaint, and though Capt. Murray was tired and worried, he deserved all the credit given him by those who had watched his work.

To Roy P. Hillman, who refereed the race, praise is due for his quick decisions. He has one tangle to straighten, but he is equal to the task. With Attorney Edward G. Kuster of the contest board of the A.A.A. to help him all questions concerning the big race are being settled.

The men who acted as judges did so willingly. Jacob Jepsen, who presented the trophy for the medium-car race, was one of the Trojans who was on the job every second. Walter Chanslor of Chanslor & Lyon made a trip from Tacoma, Wash., especially to officiate in the big race. Ralph Hamlin, the third judge, was also one of the hard workers.

Jepsen, Chanslor and Hamlin did their work without compensation. It was fortunate they were big enough for this. They are sports who have taken a keen interest in the contest. The Jepsen trophy was won by Ralph de Palma and the Chanslor & Lyon Cup by George Jooerman in the Maxwell.

Cars were entered in the race at great expense. Only a few were able to capture prize money. For the rest the publicity of the race was the only compensation. This in several instances was small.

Arrangements were made by Manager Young to collect 50 cents from each spectator who witnessed the race. This would have meant receipts at least three times as great as the total for the big race and might have meant a snug bonus for Manager Young of at least $5000 after all expenses were paid.

Summary action on the part of the City Council at Santa Monica changed all the plans for collecting money. Barricades, which had been erected, were torn down. Signs were posted announcing that no charge should be made spectators who wished to see the race.

CHAMPION SCHADER.

This came after an action had been taken to prevent certain lot owners in Santa Monica from collecting from $5 to $10 for parking spaces for automobiles. This was an outrageous proposition and was checkmated by Carl F. Schader, one of the representative citizens of Santa Monica. Schader, in a statement made to representatives of the press the day before the race, outlined his position and showed himself to be one of the biggest boosters for the big contest.

"This race is to be a great advertisement for Santa Monica," said Schader. "This city should pay for the race. I am opposed, however, to private individuals collecting money for parking space. I do think the man who manages this race should be well paid for his services."

Following Schader's statement an article was printed in The Times stating that all parking spaces on the day of the race would be entirely free. This was a bombshell thrown into the camp and excited a number of the avaricious ones.

Action was taken at once to prevent Young from collecting money for the race. As a matter of fact, money should not have been collected, but Young should have been paid for his services and he should have at least been assured that the prize money and all expenses of the big contest should be paid.

BOOST FOR CITY.

VERNON-OAKLAND.

the seventh and a double, two singles, an out and a bad throw to the plate by A. Patterson scored the final two in the eighth.

RALEIGH HAS CLOSE CALL.

Raleigh was always a hard proposition for the Oaks, although he escaped from a bad hole in the first inning, while a double play helped him in the second. He made them look easy in the third, but in the fourth they grabbed their first run on Coy's pass, the outs of a fast double play, and Hetling's bouncing single.

Raleigh gave Coy a pass in the sixth inning and he finally scored on Zacher's infield single and two first-base outs.

There was nothing else doing after that in the remaining three innings for Raleigh was too strong. Leard got a single in the seventh, Zacher a pass in the eighth, and Cook a double in the ninth, but none of these helped any.

KANE MAKES GOOD.

The fine hitting of Kane was the big feature of the day, for he made four swats in four times at bat for three singles and a triple. The little fellow has been on the sick list for several weeks, but he didn't show anything like that yesterday.

He was applauded when he went to the plate the first time and, contrary to precedent, made good with all kinds of hits. He had no chances in the fielding line, but what he did at bat was enough to make any pitcher sick. He should buy several more Charley-horses, just for luck, and with such a team he should be able to drive any heaver to the asylum.

The game was not intensely interesting, for the score was always lopsided, and the fans could not work themselves into a fever, for the day was a dreary one and a light rain fell for ten minutes in the second and third innings.

Burrell made a beautiful assist to first on Cook's sacrifice in the fifth inning and Cook showed two pretty assists. These things were the best in the fielding line.

FANS LIKE HITTING GAME.

The Tigers appeared in their new sweaters and looked fine and dandy. These clothes are black with a wide orange border around the bottom. Hogan and Parkin created some amusement with several joshing duels in the third-base line, but Parkin curled up when the Tigers began to murder Malarkey's fence ball.

It was a very good contest all the way, and must have pleased those fans who like to see the ball killed. Some of the Oaks must have thought slow ball pitchers were good after all, when they looked at Raleigh, for that's what a few of them call him.

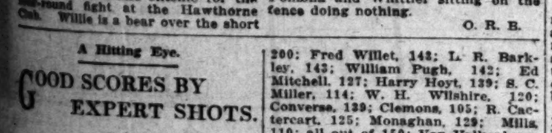
Mr. Wad Discovers That There is Too Much Chili in Spanish Beans to Suit a Boob from Boston.



Here is a rich one, and Tom Jones is the goat. Pete McVey came strolling into the office yesterday afternoon, when he should have been out boxing with Conley, by the way, and said he was ready to be interviewed.

We told him that he was looking for and tried to find out where he came from, and who he had ever fought and knocked dead. He said that he had been mixed in thirty affairs around Seattle, and had not lost one of them. Well, the next thing naturally to be asked was who and when are you going to fight next? To this Young Mr. McVey pulled an awful one. "You will have to see my manager, Ad Wolgast, on all matters concerning this."

Now what do you think of that? Ad Wolgast a manager, and pulling it right under the nose of Tom Jones. If Wolgast is as good a manager as he is a fighter, there will be some snake in the near future. I wonder if Jones and Wolgast will ever cross wires over a match? If they do it should be good, as both know all the other fellow's business, and it would be a case of put up, or forever after hold the peace.

This fight game is not all gravy, as so many of the fans think, who go out to Vernon on a Saturday afternoon and see two men struggle for an hour for $1000 or $5000.

The hard stuff comes in the training quarters, when, with nobody around to cheer, the fighter must train for hours at a time, to get speed and wind for the coming battle, and then this same battle itself, is a great jumble. Maybe, after weeks of toil the fighter must go home after it is all over, bruised and beaten, with the short end of the purse in his pocket and a whole string of trainers to be paid off. Yes, boys, I think you earn the money.

Joe Rivers is getting the first chance of his young life to grab off some easy money in these trips around the Middle West at the theaters, but Joey must remember that Joe is not the boy to be trusted too far in the glare of the big white lights yet a while. Watch him.

If he should win the belt the first time out, the row would have something to talk about for the next ten years.

Friday, Wolgast is going up against a hard boy in Willie Ritchie for the four-round fight at the Hawthorne Club. Willie is a bear over the short stuff, and knowing that Ad is out for the first time after a long rest, will likely have a great deal more confidence than otherwise, and it would behoove Ad to take the best of care during all the affair.

Frankie Conley said that after the coming fight with Jack White, he was going out for some of this easy money himself and that he had had enough of the hard twenty-round stuff to last him for a lifetime.

"The other fellows are getting it," said Frank yesterday, "and take it from me, I am going out after this fight." If he does he will have to get a better boxing style than at present, for Frank is not the mustard over six and ten rounds that he is over twenty.

Many of the tennis followers in the south have been wondering where we are going to get players when the present crop of Brownes, Sinsabaughs and Dawsons get too old for active work. Well, if Les Henry starts a few more of these high school and grammar school tournaments, the question is answered. These meets should receive the hearty support of the tennis world, for it means future material.

This was an off year for sprinters of college rank in Southern California and from being a hotbed of speed, the South has nothing better to offer than ten-one or ten-two now. Throop is not what he was two years ago, and Pomona and Oxy have not had fast men for several years. In the old days the southern colleges worked their stars to death and kept them from making good time, and now that there are enough men to go around, we can't get the class. It is a cruel world.

The football situation in the South this fall will be a serious one. Occidental, Pomona and Whittier are the only teams in the South now left with the old game, as U.S.C. and all the high schools have taken up Rugby. It means that to keep in line, the three mentioned above will have to take up the game, or all the high school students athletically inclined will go to U.S.C., Stanford or Berkeley and, therefore, the others will be left out and in the course of time will develop into mere nothing as red-blooded institutions.

This season is the time, as to wait another year means just so much lost ground, and we would hate to see such game fellows as come from Oxy, Pomona and Whittier sitting on the fence doing nothing.

AROUND THE BASES.

"I like the looks of the Vernon team more than ever," said Hap Hogan yesterday just after his hurried return from Portland. "I've seen all the teams and I think the Tigers will win the pennant."

This is what Hap has to say about his team after playing the circuit, and the Vernon fans are willing to let it go at that. The Tigers certainly looked good yesterday.

Martinke, the former Vernon player, and Hugo Garrity, a well-known local amateur, are to play in the Tulare club of the San Joaquin Valley League, which is to open its season next Sunday.

A six-club Boys' League has been formed, and the scheme is to have play begin next Sunday.

CONLEY TRAINING.

pressed into service and had to heave the medicine ball with Frank for twenty minutes till the old boy was yelling for breath.

After the workout Conley looked good but a slight bit over condition and had better take matters easy for the next few days. If Conley does not make a good showing this time out, he will have a legitimate kick coming, as his training campaign has not been all that it should have been. Sunday and Monday he had some fast work with Ad Wolgast and several others, but during the times that the work was needed the most there was nothing but a lot of rubbers in the camp. For a man like Conley, the best thing in the world is plenty of hard ring work and not this fancy stuff in the gym. Conley does not work like a vaudeville man with the bag or the pulleys, so for this reason gets best results out of actual fighting, and he has not had enough of it this time, one or two days being only a drop in the bucket.

CONLEY ON EDGE.

An during the work yesterday Frankie seemed to be having a first-class grouch and worked with a savage energy, which if carried into the ring bodes ill for the other fellow. There was one interested spectator yesterday in the person of Mrs. Frank, who sat at the ringside and urged her boy to his best speed. She says that Frank can take anything in the world and still go in fighting, and right along side of this statement we have one from Mrs. Harry Gilmore, who says that Conley is the gamest boy in the ring today and further stated that he is a pocket edition of the fighting fireman, Jim Flynn.

"He never knows when to stop," says she, "and if White comes home a victor, as I think he will, he will know that he has been in a real boxing contest. Conley had trouble with Harry, but at that is a great boy."

Say, it is getting the real thing nowadays to have the ladies give their opinion and I guess this boxing stuff goes with the rest of "the woman's rights."

There is one thing about this fight that is sure and that is if White doesn't wear himself out on Conley's defense, he will win and should turn the trick by a wide margin of points, but we can never tell just what Conley will do, once he gets into the ring. Again if White can knock Conley out, as Harry Gilmore is confident that he can, he will have done something nobody else has been able to do for many moons. Will Conley last is the question. Will White break himself up on the little man's iron jaws? is the other. Well, Father Time will tell the story. The whole situation can be summed up this way White is coming at the present time and Conley is standing still.

WHITE SPEEDING.

White went through four hard rounds with Kid Dalton yesterday and will finish his boxing this afternoon when he and the Kid mix for six bad ones. The little fellow by the sea looks great and if he is not over weight will be ready for the battle of his life.

He looks heavier now than 123 at 11 a.m., but Gilmore says "no," and Harry and Fred are supposed to know what they are talking about. In his present shape if White has to take off any weight at all it will weaken him a great deal for he is right on the peak now.

WARD A "VET."

Jack Ward, who is slated for Jimmy Austin as the semi windup Friday, is likely to give the fans a surprise, as he is a veteran of the ring and the popular little Jimmy has his work cut out to win from Ward. Ward has fought some of the best boys around Denver and once got by with a creditable eight-round no-decision affair with Johnny Coulon, and is now looking for a knockout, with Austin on the battery end, but knowing Jimmy, we will have to be shown.

All Venice is worked up over White and ten of the leading citizens have made a pool of one thousand joy producers to have at the ringside on Friday afternoon looking for the Conley people.

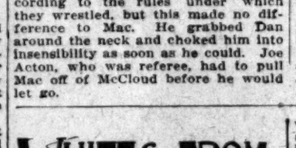
WESTERLUND AGAIN.

Olympic Club Runner Returns to San Francisco and Captures Another Marathon.

Paul Westerlund of the Olympic Club of San Francisco won the Santa Rosa Modified Marathon the day after he arrived in the northern city. The distance of 7 3-10 miles was covered in 38 minutes.

Only four days before, Westerlund had won the Sierra Madre-Mt. Wilson hill climb, setting up a new record in the event and the trip to San Francisco had interrupted his training, but the boy was there and won the race with ease.

This is the third distance race that Westerlund has won in the last two months, and he finished second in The Times Marathon during that time also. Many claim that the phenomenal runner is the Pacific Coast candidate for the Marathon event at the Olympic games, but nothing definite will be done till after the meeting of the selection committee on June 10, in New York City.



DE WITT VAN COURT'S COLUMN.

Dan McCloud, the cleverest wrestler in the world for his size, is in town on a visit to his old friend, Al Treloar, physical culture and wrestling instructor of the L.A.A.C.

I have not seen Dan for fifteen years, and he looks as young today as he did then. Dan was as full of the old-time talk of his experiences as he ever was, and that is going some. He is a modest fellow, but when he gets with some of the old-timers he can spin yarns as fast and as interesting as any of them.

Dan told me of his first wrestling match. The had, at the old Olympic Club, some twenty years ago. He was an amateur at the time, and was matched to wrestle Billy Kennelly, who, at that time, was one of our cleverest boxers, but was kidded to take up wrestling by Jim Corbett, the boxing instructor of the club.

JIM A GREAT JOKER.

Corbett was always a great practical joker and a friend of Kennelly. He first went to McCloud and told him that Kennelly was a fighter and a good wrestler, and to be careful, or Billy would break his neck. He then went to Dan and told him the same thing. Dan had more experience than Billy, but at that he had Dan's goat.

Shortly before they entered the mat to wrestle Kennelly came to Dan and said: "I am a married man, and I don't want you to break my neck."

TRIED TO BREAK HIS NECK.

Billy stuttered badly, and McCloud did not think he was on the level about what he said, and thought he was in for a tough match. He soon discovered that Billy was telling the truth, and did not know much about wrestling, and got two straight falls in a short time.

When they started Dan got a neck hold on Billy, and there was nothing to it.

But when the match was over they met in the dressing-room, and the first thing Billy said to Dan was: "You tried to break my neck, all the same."

M'ANERY NEARLY KILLED.

Shortly after this match Dan turned professional, and was matched to wrestle Tom McAnery, one of Parson Davies's stable of wrestlers that he brought to San Francisco. Strangler Lewis was one of his bunch, and advised McAnery that the only chance he had to throw McCloud was to get a strangle hold on Dan as soon as he could.

Strangle holds were barred, according to the rules under which they wrestled, but this made no difference to Mac. He grabbed Dan around the neck and choked him into insensibility as soon as he could. Joe Acton, who was referee, had to pull Mac off of McCloud before he would let go.

Dan was insensible for seventeen minutes and bled at the mouth, ears and nose. But he came back and nearly killed McAnery before he finished him, and won the match. This was one of the toughest and gamest matches I have ever seen.

A COMICAL PRELIMINARY.

A comical incident happened in the preliminary to this match. The preliminary was between a fellow called the Terrible Swede and a Frenchman.

Before the match started Jim Corbett went into the Frenchman's dressing-room and told him that the Swede was a dangerous fellow, and would kill him before he would quit. He then walked over to the Swede's room and told him that the Frenchman was a tough fellow, and the only thing to do was to hit him in the jaw as soon as they shook hands and go to it, or he would surely get beaten

JOKE ON A SWEDE.

When they met in the center of the ring the Frenchman took a punch at the Swede, and then grabbed him around the neck. This was too much for the Swede, and he ran off the stage.

Parson Davies was wild and did everything to get the Swede back, but it was no use. He had enough. To Davies's dying day he did not know that Jim Corbett was the cause of all that trouble.

JIM GETS AHEAD AGAIN.

Corbett sprung another on Kennelly that was a corker. They were both raised in Hayes Valley, and went to school together. Kennelly was quite a sprinter, as well as a good boxer. Billy was always very proud of the medals he had won as an amateur runner.

There was a wake in the neighborhood one night, and all the young folks were on hand, about thirty in all. Kennelly was one of the first there.

Corbett came late, and as soon as he spied Billy he began to josh him about his ability as a runner. Jim was one of the quickest fellows with his tongue I ever saw. But on this particular occasion Billy got back at him fast enough to turn the laugh on Jim.

HAS LAUGH ON CORBETT.

This did not suit Jim, so he quickly picked up a sponge that was lying on the corpse's face, and threw it at Billy. It landed just where it was aimed.

This made Billy furious. He picked up the sponge and chased Jim around the corpse several times, until he got a good shot, then let it go, and it landed square on the back of Jim's neck. Corbett never joshed Billy from that day.

and heavy hitter in the bush, was in town yesterday and visited some of his old friends.

The tall boy has given up professional ball, after flirting around the county for three seasons, and is now located on an orange plantation where he is the man who signs the checks, but his success has not turned his head in the least and when there appears a chance to play a game of ball, Gus can be counted on to be in the line-up.

The American Olympic committee is disappointed at the slowness with which the entries are coming in. A special appeal has been issued to athletes.

The will of Gus Ruhlin heavyweight, was filed yesterday in Brooklyn. He leaves $40,000 to his wife, who is a prominent suffragette.

Johnny Coulon was matched yesterday for a ten round fight with Eddie Lennon of San Francisco. The bout will be in Springfield, Mo., May 17.

Nelson O. Maynaid who has been under suspension for, sixteen years without knowing it, was reinstated yesterday by the National Trotting Association. He was suspended in 1896 for driving a ringer in Claremont and Greenfield, Mass., but didn't understand what the decree meant and went on driving for fifteen years.

The Greatest Ever.

CRACK SHOTS OF COUNTRY AT BLUE ROCK TOURNEY.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

THE LOS ANGELES GUN CLUB'S first annual blue rock tournament, which is to be held at Venice May 10, 11 and 12, promises to be the greatest clay bird shoot ever held in the United States. The entry list, it is expected, will exceed 200 crack shots from every section of the country.

Every afternoon this week the contestants who are in this vicinity are to be seen on the club grounds shattering the mud birds and tuning up their pieces for the big contest.

Yesterday afternoon, W. A. Robertson, professional; E. C. Crossman, amateur; F. Fameshon, amateur; Lee Barkley, professional; M. Robinson, amateur; H. Brown, amateur, and many others were on the grounds peppering the made-to-order game. From the showing made by these stars of the trigger-pulling game the three days' shooting should prove attractive to the spectator as well as the contender for honors.

Entries may be filed at the club grounds Thursday afternoon and Friday morning. The local sporting goods houses will also take entries during the week and a number of the prindle stick artists have enrolled through these gun departments already.

COAST EXPERTS ENTERED.

The professionals who have entered are Lee Barkley of Seattle, Fred Willett of San Francisco, W. A. Robertson of San Francisco, Ed Mitchell of Los Angeles, Harry Hoyt of Los Angeles, Dick Reed of San Francisco, Russ Warner of Phoenix, Ariz., Walter Clemant of South Pasadena, A. W. Bruner of Los Angeles and Jim Lee of San Francisco.

Sacramento will be represented by Frank Newbert, Barney Worthen, Dave Rupstaller and A. D. Patterson. The quartette is expected to appear on the range today and put in some hard practice before the opening of fire.

BEST AMATEURS EXPECTED.

Amateurs from Atlanta, Chicago, Seattle, Portland, Augusta, San Francisco, Vancouver, Victoria, Kansas City, Phoenix, Indianapolis, Detroit, Milwaukee and Dallas have signified their intention of entering, and at present it looks as if there were to be fully 150 amateurs in the lists.

Guns of every description will be used by the contestants. Some will use the late automatics, others will use pump-guns, some will try their luck with the single-barrel trap-shooting pieces, and others will fire the old-time double-barrel hammer affair.

CONTESTANTS IN SQUADS.

The shoot will be run off with squads of five shooting together on five traps, making a total of twenty-five men shooting at one time. Four shots will be fired at each trap before moving to the next peg, a total of twenty shots on each round. At each peg the birds will be thrown from a different, unknown angle, eliminating all chance of a contestant picking an easy angle from which to shoot.

The shooters will stand sixteen yards from the trap houses and the birds will be thrown a distance of fifty-five yards, and it is expected that most of the clay figures will be wrecked at a distance of thirty-five or forty yards.

LUNCH ON GROUNDS.

During the tournament shells may be purchased on the club grounds and lunches will also be prepared for the contenders for honors, which will save them the time required to go into Venice.

The celebrated shots entered in the tourney will stay at the beach or in the city where they will be able to get out to the shooting grounds handily. It is expected that the total number of entrants will be on hand during the entire programme.

In order to make this shoot attractive to the amateur of ordinary ability as well as the expert, the gun club has raised the sum of $3500 to be offered in purses. To each event each day $100 will be given as a purse to be shot for at price of birds only, and to be divided into four monies under the "Equitable System."

SPCEIAL PRIZES OFFERED.

In addition to the $3000 so used, $500 will be given as a special purse, divided "Equitable System" to the twenty high score men of the entire programme. Entrance to compete, $6 per day, or price of birds only. In addition to these, there will be an optional entry pool of $2 per event, and all of which money will be divided monies, 40, 30, 20 and 10 per cent. class shooting.

The entry fee of $26 per day entitles competition for $100 purses and side pool, while $6 per day entitles competition for $100 only.

KID MOHLER HITS.

San Francisco did not respond until the third inning and then the runs came with a vengeance. With two out, Kid Mohler, who was in rare form, with three singles for the afternoon, lifted one over second to center. Raftery doubled to center and Hartley drove them both home as he singled to right. Boles muffed the ball on return to the plate, helping Hartley to second, and he reached third on a wild pitch. Jackson walked and stole, but Gedeon, who was easy for Chech, put one straight down to second for an out at the plate and the score was tied.

The Longites had two men on the sacks in the fifth with two out and once more Gedeon failed to help his team, lifting a foul that was captured by Metzger off third base.

All sorts of action came in the sixth. Roy Corhan opened with a single to center and Schmidt was out on a tall fly. There might have been a double, but Daley's wild throw advanced Corhan a base. McCorry hit to pitcher and Corhan was caught between the bases. Mundorff rapped one through second, but McCorry was hit by the ball and the team was automatically retired.

There was a bit of hard luck in the seventh. Kid Mohler plumped one up against the fence and Raftery sacrificed. Hartley took a poke at the first ball pitched and swung it to left. It did not seem possible for Lober to get the ball, but a spring put him under the falling sphere and he held it tight.

Metzger for the Angels was fanned in the sixth when there were two on bases and they didn't get a chance until the eighth. Howard struck out, but Berger, who was the "big show" of the day, doubled into left. Daley, attempting a bunt, hit one straight at McCorry and the latter tried to head off Berger at third. It would have been close, perhaps, but Corhan failed to hold the ball and as it bounded away from him, Berger was home. Then came flies to center and right and the Angels had one run to their credit.

Murder!

SLAUGHTERING WILD BIRDS.

Good Game Laws Would Save Millions.

Loss by Insects Enormous in Extent.

Costs More to Feed Bugs Than Children.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

NEW YORK, May 3.—Bills to provide Federal protection for migratory birds, which were introduced in the United States Senate by Senator McLean and in the House of Representatives by Congressman Weeks, have both been reported favorably out of committee. The former was considered by the Senate Committee on Forest Reservations and the Protection of Game, and the latter by the House Committee on Agriculture.

In urging the necessity of this legislation, the American Game and Protective and Propagation Association of No. 111 Broadway, New York City, says:

"Millions of dollars can annually be saved to the people of the United States by wise and conservative treatment of the enormous natural resources represented by our migrants. Under present conditions countless numbers of ducks, geese and shore birds are slaughtered at a time when every female killed means the destruction of a small flock. At all times the killing goes on at a rate that is out of all proportion to the natural increase.

"E. V. Visart, State Game Warden of Arkansas, reported in his indorsement of the Weeks bill that 90,600 birds were sent from Mississippi county in one shipment on October 16, 1911. According to the Game Warden of Louisiana, there were 4,265,585 ducks, geese and shore birds killed in that State during the winter of 1910-11.

"The favorable report on the McLean bill by the Senate Committee contains the following:

"'Game commissioners and other officials representing forty-three of the forty-eight States of the Union, together with some of the leading ornithologists of the country, appeared before your committee and their testimony, based upon years of experience and practical observation, was conclusive of the fact that State control of migratory birds must, from the very nature of the surrounding temptations and conditions, end in failure.'

"It is further pointed out in this report that the annual loss to the country through insect pests amounts to from $795,000,000 to $800,000,000. To bring home the significance of these figures, the report adds that: 'There are about 600 colleges in the United States today. Their buildings and endowments have been centuries in accumulation. The value of the college and university buildings is estimated at $260,000,000 and the endowments at $219,000,000. If they should be destroyed tomorrow—buildings and endowments—the insect tax of one year would replace them and leave a balance sufficient to endow thirty-two new universities in the sum of $10,000,000 each.

"'We have in this country today about 20,000,000 school children, and the cost of their education has become by far the heaviest tax laid upon the surplus of the country, yet it costs more by many millions to feed our insects than it does to educate our children. If there is any way in which this vast and destructive tax upon the national income can be prevented, or stayed, or resisted in any appreciable measure, it would seem to be the part of wisdom to act without delay.'

"In conclusion the report says: 'All of the foregoing evidence goes to demonstrate the existence of a natural economic relation between these three orders of life. (Vegetation, insects and birds.) There is a sort of interdependence, and the existence of each one is dependent upon the existence of the others. But for the vegetation the insects would perish, and but for the insects the birds would perish, and but for the birds the vegetation would be shortly destroyed by the unchecked increase of insect destroyers.

"'It is the earnest recommendation of your committee that the pending bill receive favorable consideration.'"

BEARS COMBINE AGAINST STEEL.

STOCK FEELS PRESSURE AND SHOWS A DECLINE.

Last Report and Dissolution Suit Are Contributing Factors—Other Issues Show Falling Off in Dealings—Grain Carriers Move Up Owing to Crop Report.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 7.—Interest in the stock market today continued to center largely around United States Steel. That stock was again subjected to severe pressure, declining to 64¾ in the middle of the day on large transactions. Much of today's selling of steel originated with the bear faction, which has shown its attitude with respect to that stock since the publication of the quarterly report a week ago. Further ammunition seems to have been furnished by the government's dissolution suit against the corporation. The rest of the market ranged from steady to strong, with dealings far below those of yesterday. Reading, Union Pacific, Lehigh Valley and New York Central shares more than held their own after the opening, which was weak all around, and some of the industrials, including American Can and American Smelting, bid equally well, but the session in the main was dull. All the grain carriers moved up immediately after the issuance of the crop report, with especial strength in Union Pacific, Atchison and the western and northwestern group. Bids for the $45,000,000 of New York 4½ per cent. bonds were opened late in the afternoon. The number of proposals aggregated 260, but bids were a shade under prevailing quotations for outstanding issues, averaging under 1.01. The coppers were under some restraint, presumably in connection with the April report of the copper producers, to come out tomorrow, which is expected to show an increase of production. Abundant money weakened discounts at London, thereby reviving hopes of a reduction in the bank rate on Thursday. The annual report of the International Harvester Company for 1911 shows a net loss of $583,000, due to poor crop results. The United States Rubber Company increased its net for the same year by $652,000. The Missouri Pacific road for March lost $126,000 net, and the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern reported only a slight net decrease, despite a large increase in operating expenses. Bonds were irregular with especially heavy dealings in Wabash refunding 4's, which rose over 3 points. Total sales, par value, $2,763,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

New York Curb Stocks.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Marconi was the active feature of today's trading on New York Curb, the new stock being up 2 points over yesterday's close. The copper shares, notably Giroux, were inclined to be weak.

The Boston coppers met with efficient support today. The buying looked particularly good and was well distributed. The market gives every indication of the liquidation being over. Important and favorable developments from Lake Superior every day should help the market materially.

THE COPPER INDUSTRY.

We are informed that the openings at the Baltic and Champion continue to make a very good showing, while the Trimountain twenty-fifth level is showing an excellent grade of rock. In the most southerly portion of the Champion at a depth of from 3090 to 3200 feet there is excellent showing, but as the overburden in this territory is deep, making shaft sinking necessarily expensive, it has been determined to handle this rock from the E shaft. The company has contracted for four electric locomotives, and will haul this ore a distance of 3900 feet, operating on four levels. Other developments are taking place which should aid in reducing costs. A 2000-horsepower turbine is being installed at the Baltic mill, which will be operated by exhaust steam from the stamps. The regrinding plants at the Baltic and Trimountain and later at the Champion will be electrically operated.

During the first quarter of 1912 Nevada Consolidated made an excellent showing, despite the fact that production for one month fell below 5,000,000 pounds. Net profits for the period in question reached $1,232,767, which is one of the largest in the history of the company. Copper production amounted to 17,578,450 pounds, which indicates the company produced during this quarter at the rate of 70,000,000 pounds of copper per annum, as against approximately 63,000,000 pounds per annum for the two preceding years. These earnings of $1,232,767, after allowing for depreciation and ore extinguishment, amount to $962,253 net available for dividends, or at the rate of $1.92 a share per annum after every deduction has been made. This amount is nearly 50 cents in excess of the company's present dividend requirement. The effect of the present metal market has not yet been reflected in the company's earnings, because from 100 to 120 days are required after production for the prices received for the metal to be shown in the company's cash balance. Based on a production of 70,000,000 pounds of copper per annum, its present cost of approximately 7 cents a pound, which allows for depreciation, assuming an ore extinguishment charge equal to that made for the last quarter, and that copper is sold at 16 cents a pound, Nevada Consolidated should be earning at the rate of $2.80 a share per annum, as against its present dividend of $1.40 per annum.

CONTROLS LARGE ACREAGE.

Hayden, Stone & Co. say: "We summarize from the annual report just issued as follows: The total acreage of all mineral acreage is 2642, and in connection with the mill site at Hurley, the company owns and controls 7156 acres. At the time of the last annual report, 208 drill holes had developed a little less than 19,000,000 tons of ore. Drilling was continued until about the first of October, 1911, at which time 467 holes, aggregating 182,000 feet of drilling, had been completed. Of these, 409 holes encountered ore of commercial value. The average depth of the holes was 385 feet, and the average thickness of the ore 107 feet. Total ore developed was 54,970,646 tons, of an average of 2.24 per cent. copper. Of this it is estimated that something over 32,000,000 tons can be mined by steam shovel, though probably the percentage of ore actually mined in this way will eventually be considerably greater. There are strong indications that further developments will result in the disclosure of large additional tonnages. The ore already developed, however, is sufficient to supply the mill for thirty years, so that the development of additional ore is suspended for the time being. A total of nearly 2,000,000 yards of material has been moved by steam shovel up to the end of 1911, of which 1,700,000 yards was waste—the remainder being ore of a more or less oxidized character. The average cost of steam shoveling for the period was 21.68 cents a yard, equivalent to a little over 13 cents a ton. At the present time the cost is about 26 cents a cubic yard. As has been previously explained, the ore so far sent to the mill—coming from near the surface—has been more or less oxidized, and the percentage of recovery has therefore not been very high, though expressed in pounds of copper per ton, the results have been satisfactory. By the middle of the year it is expected that ore of an average grade and quality can be sent to the mill.

Former United States Senator Flint has accepted the chairmanship of the big Knox meeting in the interest of President Taft to be held in Solomon's Dancing Academy Hall on South Grand avenue tomorrow night. The Taft Compaign Committee yesterday arranged the final details for the great gathering, which is expected to eclipse anything of the kind that has been held here during this campaign, despite the counter attractions offered by the visiting Shriners. Senator Flint will be introduced by former Speaker of the Assembly Stanton, head of the Taft Campaign Committee of Southern California. In addition to the principal speech of the evening, which will be delivered by the distinguished Secretary of State, Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, there will be a ten minutes' talk by Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, for many years leader in the finally successful movement for votes for women.

Chairman Black of the Taft county campaign committee has perfected the precinct organization for the primaries next Tuesday. The system is along the same lines as in the Citizens' Committee fight. Each precinct has a leader and assistants and already evidence has been given to headquarters that the work is being done in a thorough manner. Chairman Black is keeping in close touch with every part of the county.

Already there have been mailed from the Taft headquarters 189,000 envelopes containing addresses to voters in general, an address to women voters by Mrs. Seward Simons, a sample ballot and a return postal card, the latter to be mailed to headquarters as an acknowledgement of the receipt of the papers. "Thousands of these return postal cards have already come back to us, showing that the envelopes have reached the hands for which they were intended," said Chairman Black yesterday, "and we are assured that the matter sent out will do us much good."

On the great register there are the names of 189,000 Republicans, and the committee is sending to each of these names the matter that should reach them, as stated, but it is believed that at least 60,000 of these voters have registered twice—once last year and once this. Speculation on the total Republican vote runs everywhere from 70,000 to 100,000, the latter being the estimate at Roosevelt headquarters.

Taft standards of neat design to be borne in automobiles have been received at Taft headquarters in the Citizens' National Bank Building at the southwest corner of Main and Third streets. There are 2000 of them, and the committee will furnish the standards to all automobile owners who apply for them. It is desired to have Taft men show their colors loyally, and the committee hopes to have the streamers flying from automobiles everywhere in a few days.

SULLEN INDIAN BEFORE COURT.

OFFICIALS TO PROBE DEEPLY INTO MURDER CASE.

Death of Reservation Superintendent May Reveal Sinister Conspiracy in Which Accused Man Was Ringleader—Reputed to Be Wealthy and a Power in Tribe.

Ambrosia Apapas and Francisco Lubo, Cahuilla Indians, neither able to speak except in their native tongue, defiant, sullen and silent, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Owen yesterday, Apapas was up on the charge of killing William H. Stanley, superintendent of the Sobobo, Cahuilla, Santa Rosa and Santa Ynez Indian reservations; Lubo for shooting Celso Serrano, an Indian policeman with intent to kill. Apapas was held without bond and Lubo failed to furnish $20,000 bond, and both men were committed to the County Jail.

The investigation of the killing of Superintendent Stanley was taken up by the Federal grand jury yesterday afternoon. The list of witnesses include C. A. Pederson, scientific farmer on the Cahuilla reservation; John Largo, a policeman; Adolph Lugo, an Indian officer; Carl Stevens, teacher n the Soboba reservation, and his wife, housekeeper at the same place. The case will require but little time so far as relating to the slaying of Stanley, but the probe may take a much wider course than to fix the responsibility for the overt act. Frank A. Thackeray, Indian supervisor of California and Nevada, and M. L. Dorr, an Indian inspector, have charge of the investigation. They are assisted by Assistant United States District Attorney Robinson.

In the view of the government officers the circumstances point to a conspiracy in which Apapas and other unruly Indians wrecked their vengeance upon the unarmed officer without giving him a chance for his life. It is known that bad blood has existed between Stanley and factional spirits for some time, and the fact that he, with other officers, had been invited to attend the fiesta is pointed out as showing that the Indians had ulterior motives in offering the courtesies of the occasion to these men, as it had never been done before. Threats, more or less open have been made against Stanley for months.

The names of those who are believed to be in the conspiracy against Stanley will not be given out by the government, but it is declared that the men are known.

Apapas is one of the wealthiest Indians on the Cahuilla reservation. He has a wife and child and is about 45 years of age. It was in regard to the branding of some of his bulls that the frouble arose. Carl Stevens, the Indian schoolteacher, who narrowly escaped the fate of Stanley, is authority for the statement that Apapas is worth at least $10,000. He has for years been a power among the Indians.

It is understood that Senator Miguel Estudillo of Riverside will undertake the defense of Apapas, as they are said to be close friends.

If Apapas should be found guilty of murder in the first degree, with no recommendation of mercy, he will probably be hanged. In that case he will be the first Indian in the last quarter of century to suffer capital punishment as the result of a trial heard by the United States Court in this city.

FAVOR SEA DUMPING.

Officials of United States Coast and Geodetic Survey Say Garbage Would Not Wash Ashore.

The garbage situation remains unchanged as far as the District Attorney's office is concerned. Capt. Fredericks proposes to enforce the ordinance which makes it a misdemeanor to transport refuse from a city to any point in the county outside of an incorporated city. But he is perfectly willing to give the city authorities more time to devise ways and means of handling the garbage.

Dist.-Atty. Fredericks takes the position that as an executive officer it is not his place to suggest any plan, but at the same time the only practical suggestion for disposing of the garbage came from him. He believes that the method employed in Oakland of sending scows out to sea would settle the question if the plan were rightly followed. However, he does not wish to inject himself into the controversy now going on between some of the beach towns and the Board of Public Works.

Members of the United States Geodetic Survey say that the tides would not wash ashore any refuse dumped a distance of twenty miles from San Pedro. Practical men have stated that it is possible to transport the city's garbage by train to a point on the inner harbor where it could be transferred to scows and towed far out to sea. This method would eliminate the smell, would be comparatively inexpensive and probably in the end satisfactory. But at the present time the Board of Public Works does not seem to favor the plan.

When a commercial body of San Pedro sent a protest to the Board of Public Works, a copy was forwarded to Capt. Fredericks, as if he, too, were responsible for the disposal of the city's refuse. Capt. Fredericks replied to the communication, thanking the board for its courtesy in sending the letter and intimating that the non-enforcement of a law on the statute books might create as much of a stench in its way as the transportation of garbage and the bugbear of refuse being brought twenty miles to shore.

No opinion has yet been rendered as to the validity of the county ordinance by the City Attorney, but it is expected that the matter may be tested in the courts.

CLOSE ON LUITWEILER.

Insane Wife Slayer Who Escaped from Patton Will Probably be Recaptured Today, Say Officers.

Asst. Dist.-Atty. Ford yesterday said that George C. Luitweiler, who escaped from Patton, would probably be recaptured today. He would not indicate where it is thought that the insane man is in hiding. Luitweiler was sent to the insane asylum after having been adjudged mentally incompetent by a jury in the Superior Court, and a complaint charging him with the murder of his wife still is in abeyance.

Recently there has been a plan to take Luitweiler out of the State to some sanatorium, but his escape from the institution will probably work against this plan. Ford says that the man is criminally insane and a dangerous man to be at large. It is not probable that he will recommend Luitweiler's release under the conditions.

VICTORY FOR BONDHOLDERS.

Court Decides That Property Owners in Perris Irrigation District Must Pay Principal and Interest.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeal has affirmed the decision of Judge Wellborn in the case of Quinton et al against the Equitable Investment Company in favor of the holders of the securities issued by the Perris irrigation district. The effect is a complete victory for the bondholders and the property owners in the irrigation district will be compelled to pay.

The bond issue of the irrigation district amounted to nearly $500,000. It was to be used for the purpose of installing an irrigation plant. The interest on the bonds was paid until 1897, when the board of trustees refused to honor the interest and installment coupons attached to the bonds, alleging that the district had been illegally and improperly organized. The Equitable Investment Company and other bondholders, holding in the aggregate about $50,000 worth of bonds, brought suit for the amount due.

On the hearing of the case in the District Court the district as such failed to appear, but Quinton and others sought to prevent the prosecution of the bondholders' case by applying for an injunction restraining all proceedings. Judge Wellborn refused to grant this relief, and this decision has been affirmed by the higher court.

Arrows vs. Bullets.

GOES A-GUNNING FOR LOST BRIDE.

REJECTED ONE THIRSTS FOR GORE; IS JAILED.

Smitten Son of the Balkans Attends His Rival's Nuptials and Unlimbers His Smoke-wagon but Is Mowed Down by Groom's Friends Before the Undertakers Called.

Mike Muchich, the rejected suitor of Miss Marie Pvlovich, No. 215 West Ann street, and Antonio Panzich, an Italian of No. 903 East First street, who won the hand of the maiden, glared at each other across the courtroom of Justice Rose yesterday while fellowcountrymen related a tale of love, hatred and intrigue replete with emotion and thrilling incidents. At its conclusion the woes of Mike were increased by the court fining him $20. In default of this sum he was led away to the cells.

Between broken English, bits of Italian, much waving of hands and nodding of heads, the story was gleaned by Justice Rose. It appears that Mike and Antonio were in love with Marie. Antonio finally won her heart, hand and fortune, and the wedding day was set. Mike, defeated but not despairing, set about to prevent the wedding, get his rival out of the way, and win back the girl.

On the day of the wedding it was testified that he entered the church armed with a revolver and fully determined to shoot the groom down at the altar before he and Marie could be pronounced man and wife. But he was foiled. Friends of the bride and groom, divining the alleged plan, surrounded him and kept such a careful watch over the movements of the couple that no shooting was possible.

Later, however, Mike made an assault upon Antonio, and attempted to shoot him. John Cuitik, No. 833½ East First street, threw himself between Mike and Antonio, and again bloodshed was prevented. B. Vasilj, No. 636 North Broadway, a friend of Antonio, then appeared on the scene, and Mike fired two shots at him. They went wide of the mark. The gun used was produced as evidence.

Mike, as he stood in the dock, facing his rival and others, stoutly denied every statement made. The evidence, however, was considered conclusive.

FRISKS CRACK DETECTIVE.

United States Secret Service Agent Loses His Wallet by the Oldest Trick in the Dip Business.

Everybody's doin' it. Doin' what? Kidding C. C. Wall, United States Secret Service agent who has chased thieves, smugglers and get-rich-quick artists for the past twenty years and was himself mulcted for about $50 at the auto races last Saturday afternoon.

Wall, who has been resting at the Westonia Apartments for the past two months, decided to see the road races. When they were finished, he and Mrs. Wall boarded an incoming car.

The man in front of him stumbled, seemed to hurt himself and, half way up the aisle, grasped two seats for support. He completely blocked the passage and the crowd pushed Wall tight against him.

It all occupied less than a minute. Then the man, leaning down, rubbed his ankle, hobbled down to the end of the car and out the front. Arriving in Los Angeles, Wall thought of a necessary purchase and started to pull out his pocketbook. There was none. Further, several other articles were gone from both rear pockets. Then he realized that he had been frisked.

"The oldest game in the world," he remarked laughing ruefully as he told the story to a friend, "and to think that I didn't get wise to it." He thinks much less of the loss of his money than of that fact.

MOTORBOAT MEN WARNED.

Maritime Laws Must Be Enforced and Violators Will Be Penalized, Say Washington Instructions.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Labor Ben S. Cable has sent instructions to Collector C. W. Pendleton that with the opening of the motorboat season on the Pacific Coast there will be a change in the administration of the maritime laws.

Heretofore violators of these laws have been fined by Collector Pendleton and upon appeal to the Department at Washington have had the fines either reduced or remitted. Under the new rules the finding of the collector will be final and there will be no appeal to the "higher ups."

Under the law motor boats, whether equipped to carry passengers or not, are required to have a combination light forward and a white light aft, a whistle, bell and fog-horn, life preservers or life saving devices and means of extinguishing gasoline.

Wash your clothes with GOLD DUST

Good soap washes clothes well—if you use enough elbow grease; but Gold Dust washes them more thoroughly—and with little or no rubbing. Gold Dust saves half your time, and spares your poor back.

Another great advantage of Gold Dust—use any kind of water you like. Gold Dust softens the hardest water, and makes it soft as rain water.

Gold Dust is just a vegetable-oil soap in powdered form, with other cleansing ingredients added to make it work more thoroughly and quickly than soap ever can.

Just try Gold Dust next washday, and see how much time you save.

Do not use borax, soap, naphtha, soda, ammonia or benzine with GOLD DUST. GOLD DUST has all desirable cleansing qualities in a perfectly harmless and lasting form.

MEXICO CITY, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That President Madero believes his administration of the government of Mexico is near its end is no longer doubted by anyone here and is evidenced in the attitude of the President himself and every one connected with his administration. At the same time, no one doubts that Madero will hang on to the bitter end, for he is no coward and has plenty of the fighting spirit left.

Aside from the President's dogged determination to remain in the capital so long as he is safe, he is sur-

THE CITY. The Imperial Potentate-elect of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of North America received congratulations from hundreds of nobles last evening while sitting on a throne in his suite at the Alexandria, and declared Los Angeles has given the visitors such a splendid reception that they have to be asked to come again. Mrs. Robert Waukowski, assisted by a large number of social leaders, tendered a reception to the wives, sisters and daughters of the visiting Shriners at the Alexandria yesterday afternoon. About eighty-two hundred members of Shrine parties and bands were the guests of a Los Angeles Shriner at the Rancho Santa Susanna Ranch yesterday, and a genuine Spanish barbecued and athletic sports were enjoyed. The missions founded by the padres in the early days of California's history will be reproduced in miniature in this city tonight, and there will be floats depicting the cavalcade of May. On which several high school students will ride. The first political utterance of Secretary of State Knox since he left Washington will be made in this city tonight at Solomon's Hall, at a meeting of the Taft Republicans of California. The Harbor Committee of the City Council passed a resolution yesterday recommending the improvement of certain streets leading to the harbor, the cost to be defrayed by the harbor improvement bond funds. In the matter over certain real property, the title to which is clouded, is to be removed, in opinion by the District Court of Appeals yesterday. Sam Lois Obispo jeweler was sent to his brother for eighteen years yesterday; the latter for eighteen months in the County Jail, and a third man to the Fresno County Jail for eleven months, they having been convicted of counterfeiting operations. Developments in Tuesday's double tragedy at the Sheffield Apartments show that three men who were killed, and that the woman who was injured, are members of the same family. The young men riding in a stolen automobile collided with another machine on Vermont avenue last evening, and both cars were demolished.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. Heavy showers, accompanied by thunder and lightning, were the upper San Bernardino Valley and in the Redlands, a bolt struck a country-club house. The wind did some damage, which was counteracted by the good dose of growing crops. A thief broke into the locker room of the Pasadena Polo Club yesterday and stole money and jewelry valued at $700. No clew to the perpetrator was found by the police. The loot is being kept on in Santa Monica, for the officials yesterday refused to grant licenses to sale of liquor either to hotels, saloons or in restaurants. Two visiting Shriner wrecked their autos at Long Beach yesterday when autos in which they were riding were involved in a collision. One had a shoulder broken, and others have considerably cut up. Robbers blew a safe in Cucamonga early yesterday morning and aroused the entire
